LE SANSONNET PRUDENT.

UN sansonnet altéré trouva un flacon d'eau. Il essaya de boire ; mais l'eau arrivait à peine au col du flacon, et le bec de l'oiseau n'atteignait pas jusque-là.

Il se mit à becqueter le dehors du vase, afin d'y pratiquer un trou. Ce fut en vain, le verre était trop dur.

Alors il chercha à renverser le flacon. Cela ne lui réussit pas davantage : le vase était trop pesant.

Enfin le sansonnet s'avisa d'une idée qui lui réussit : il jeta dans le vase de petits cailloux qui firent hausser l'eau insensiblement jusqu'à la portée de son bec.

THE SEA-COMPASS.

"How is the wind, Jack?" asked the captain of a ship, addressing the steersman. "North-east-by-North, sir," was the instantaneous answer of the tar. A jocular monk, who was a passenger, drew near the sailor. "My son," said he to him, "I heard thee swear like a demon during the storm; dost thou know thy prayers as well as thy sea-compass?" "No," replied Jack, "for I can tell you, father, that I know my sea-compass a great deal better than even you know your prayers."—"Thou art joking, son."—"Quite in earnest, father."—Upon this, our tar began thus:—"North—north-west-by-North—North-north-west," and so on, till he had gone round and got to the North again. "Now, father," said Jack, "'tis your turn." The monk recited his pater noster in a very ready manner. "That is clever," observed the son of Neptune; "'tis mine now." Then he went on, "North—north-east-by-North—North-north-east, &c.," till he had come to the word again. "Well, father," said he, with a grin, "give us your prayer backwards.”—“Backwards ! I can’t, boy : I have never learnt it but in one way ; it is not necessary.” “Then,” observed the triumphant sailor, “I know my sea-compass better than you know your prayers, for I can tell it in a thousand ways.”

Jack has just told us how a language ought to be learnt and known.

P R E F A C E.

MY system of acquiring a living language is founded on the principle, that each question contains nearly the answer which one ought or which one wishes to make to it. The slight difference between the question and the answer is always explained before the question: so that the learner does not find it in the least difficult, either to answer it, or to make similar questions for himself. Again, the question being the same as the answer, as soon as the master pronounces it, it strikes the pupil's ear, and is therefore easily reproduced by his speaking organs. This principle is so evident, that it is impossible to open the book without being struck by it.

Neither the professor nor his pupils lose an instant of their time. When the professor reads the lesson, the pupil answers; when he examines the lesson written by the pupil he speaks again, and the pupil answers; also when he examines the exercise which the pupil has translated, he speaks and the pupil answers ; thus both are, as it were, continually kept in exercise.

The phrases are so arranged that, from the beginning to the end of the method, the pupil's curiosity is excited by the want of a word or an expression : this word or expression is always given in the following lesson, but in such a manner as to create a desire for others that render the phrase still more complete. Hence, from one end of the book to the other, the pupil's attention is continually kept alive, till at last he has acquired a thorough knowledge of the language which he studies.

The French language being much more cultivated in England than the German, there have been many more demands for this, the English and French part of my work, than for the English and German part. But I shall consider myself amply rewarded for the many years of labour that this work has cost me, if it should meet with as great a measure of approbation as the public have already expressed in favour of my former efforts.

67, RUE DE RICHELIEU, PARIS.

February 20, 1843.

EXPLANATION OF SOME SIGNS USED IN THIS BOOK.

Expressions which vary either in their construction or idiom from the English are marked thus : †.

¹ TO PROFESSORS.—Each lesson should be dictated to the pupils, who should pronounce each word as soon as dictated. The professor should also exercise his pupils by putting the questions to them in various ways. Each lesson includes three operations: the teacher, in the first place, looks over the exercises of the most attentive of his pupils, putting to them the questions contained in the printed exercises; he then dictates to them the next lesson; and, lastly, puts fresh questions to them on all the preceding lessons. The teacher may divide one lesson into two, or two into three, or even make two into one, according to the degree of intelligence of his pupils.

Obs. I means je; but the apostrophe ('), which in j'ai, I have, is substituted for the letter e, is always used when a vowel has been suppressed before another vowel, or before h mute.

My hat.	Mon chapeau.

² Pupils desirous of making rapid progress may compose a great many phrases, in addition to those we have given in the exercises; but they must pronounce them aloud, as they write them. They should also make separate lists of such substantives, adjectives, pronouns, and verbs, as they meet with in the course of the lessons, in order to be able to find those words more easily, when they require to refer to them in writing their lessons.

NINTH LESSON.

Neuvième Leçon.

DECLENSION OF THE DEFINITE ARTICLE IN THE PLURAL,

MASCULINE AND FEMININE,

BEFORE A CONSONANT, AS WELL AS BEFORE A VOWEL, OR AN h MUTE.

PLURAL.		PLURIEL.
		Masculin et Féminin.
Nom.	the.	Nom.	les.
Gen.	of or from the.	Gén.	des.
Dat.	to the.	Dat.	aux.
Acc.	the.	Acc.	les.

THE FORMATION OF THE PLURAL.

Rule. The plural number is formed by adding an s to the singular. But in French this rule is not only applicable to the nouns, but also to the article, the adjectives, and many of the pronouns. Ex.

The books.	Les livres.
The good books.	Les bons livres.
Of the books.	Des livres.
The sticks.	Les bâtons.
The good sticks.	Les bons bâtons.
Of the sticks.	Des bâtons.
The neighbours.	Les voisins.
The good neighbours.	Les bons voisins.
The friends.	Les amis.
The good friends.	Les bons amis.
Of the friends.	Des amis.
Of the neighbours.	Des voisins.

Obs. A. There are, however, some exceptions to this rule, viz.—

FIRST EXCEPTION.—Nouns ending in s, x, or z, admit of no variation in the plural: Ex.

The stockings.	Les bas.
The woods or forests.	Les bois.
The Frenchmen (the French).	Les Français.
The Englishman, the Englishmen (the English).	L'Anglais, les Anglais.
The nose, the noses.	Le nez, les nez.

SECOND EXCEPTION.—Nouns ending in au, eu, or ou, form their plural by adding x instead of *s*¹. Ex.

The hats.	Les chapeaux.
The birds.	Les oiseaux.
The place, the places.	Le lieu, les lieux.
The fire, the fires.	Le feu, les feux.
The jewel, the jewels.	Le bijou, les bijoux.

THIRD EXCEPTION.—Nouns ending in *al*² or *ail*³, change these terminations in the plural into aux. Ex.

The horses.	Les chevaux.
The work, the works.	Le travail, les travaux.

¹ Of the nouns ending in ou, the following only take x in the plural: le chou, the cabbage; le caillou, the pebble; le bijou, the jewel; le genou, the knee; le hibou, the owl; le joujou, the toy; le pou, the louse. All others that have this termination now follow the general rule, taking s in the plural; e. g. le clou, the nail, plur. les clous, the nails; le verrou, the bolt, plur. les verrous, the bolts, &c.

² Of the nouns ending in al, several follow the simple general rule, simply taking s in the plural, particularly the following: le bal, the ball; le cal, the callosity; le pal, the pale; le régal, the treat; le carnaval, the carnival; &c.

³ The nouns ending in ail, which make their plural in aux, are particularly the following: le bail, the lease; le sous-bail, the under-lease; le corail, the coral; l'émail, the enamel; le soupirail, the air-hole; le travail, the work; le vantail, the leaf of a folding-door; le ventail, the ventail. All others having this termination follow the general rule, i. e. take s in the plural; e. g. l'attirail, the train; le détail, particulars; l'éventail, the fan; le gouvernail, the rudder; le portail, the portal; le sérail, the seraglio; &c.

Obs. B. There are a few more exceptions in the formation of the plural of nouns and adjectives, which will be separately noted, as they will, by degrees, occur in the Method.

The ships. | Les bâtiments or bâtimens.

Obs. C. According to some grammarians, nouns of more than one syllable (polysyllables), ending in the singular in nt, drop t in the plural, but nouns of one syllable (monosyllables) having this ending never do.

The gloves. | Les gants.

My books.	Mes livres.
Your books.	Vos livres.
Have you my small knives?	Avez-vous mes petits couteaux?
I have not your small knives, but	Je n'ai pas vos petits couteaux,
I have your large knives.	mais j'ai vos grands couteaux.

	Singular Masculine.	Plural for both genders.
My.	Mon,	mes.
Your.	Votre,	vos.
His or her.	Son,	ses.
Our.	Notre,	nos.
Their.	Leur,	leurs.

His or her books.	Ses livres.
Our book, our books.	Notre livre, nos livres.
Their book, their books.	Leur livre, leurs livres.

Which books?	Quels livres?
Which ones?	Lesquels?

 dens ?
 I have not the trees of your gardens.
 Of my pretty gardens.
 Of my fine horses.
 Have you my leathern shoes ?
 I have not your leathern shoes,
 but I have your cloth coats.
 The bread, the loaves.

Les bœufs.
 Les ânes.
 De mes jardins.
 De vos bois.
 Avez-vous les arbres de mes jardins ?
 Je n'ai pas les arbres de vos jardins.
 De mes jolis jardins.
 De mes beaux chevaux.

TWENTY-FOURTH LESSON.

Vingt-quatrième Leçon.

THE PRESENT.

To find out the present tense of a verb, its present participle must be known, as it serves to form the three persons plural¹. It always ends in ant, and as all grammars and dictionaries give it, it is easily formed, and almost guessed at by learners².

The first, second, and third persons plural of the present tense are formed in changing the syllable ant of the present participle for the first person into ons, for the second into ez, and for the third into *ent*³.
Ex.

FIRST CONJUGATION.

Infinitive.	Present participle.	Infinitif.	Participe présent.
To speak,	speaking.	Parler,	parlant.

¹ The present of the indicative, participle, and infinitive, are primitive parts of the verb. The other primitives are the preterite definite and the participle past.

² The formation of the present tense from the infinitive presents too many exceptions, almost as numerous as the different terminations of the various infinitives, and is consequently too difficult for beginners.

³ In all the four conjugations the second person singular has an *s. In the first conjugation the third person singular is the same as the first person; in the second and third conjugations it has t. In the fourth conjugation it adds nothing to the root †.

* Except in the imperative of the first conjugation, and of some verbs of the second, where the s is dropped. Ex. Parle, speak (thou). When the imperative, however, is followed by one of the pronouns, en, y, the letter s is not dropped, as: donnes-en à ton frère, give some to thy brother: portes-y tes livres, take thy books thither.

† By root we understand that part of the verb which precedes the terminations er, ir, oir, re, of the infinitive; e. g. in the verb finir, to finish, fin, end, is the root.

PRESENT.

I speak, thou speakest, he speaks.	Je parle, tu parles, il parle.
We speak, you speak, they speak.	Nous parlons, vous parlez, ils parlent.

SECOND CONJUGATION.

To finish, finishing.	Finir, finissant.
I finish, thou finishest, he finishes.	Je finis, tu finis, il finit,
We finish, you finish, they finish.	Nous finissons, vous finissez, ils finissent.

THIRD CONJUGATION.

To receive, receiving.	Recevoir, recevant.
I receive, thou receivest, he receives.	Je reçois, tu reçois, il reçoit.
We receive, you receive, they receive.	Nous recevons, vous recevez, ils reçoivent ⁴ .

Obs. A. We have already seen in several words of the foregoing Lessons that a cedilla is placed under the letter c (ç) to give it the sound of s before the vowels a, o, u, as in garçon, boy; Français, Frenchman, &c. This is the case also in verbs whose roots end in c, which, to preserve the soft sound, receives a cedilla whenever it is followed by a, o, or u. Ex. Je reçois, tu reçois, il reçoit; forcer, to force; forçant, forcing; placer, to place; plaçant, placing; &c.

FOURTH CONJUGATION.

To sell, selling.	Vendre, vendant.
I sell, thou sellest, he sells.	Je vends, tu vends, il vend.
We sell, you sell, they sell.	Nous vendons, vous vendez, ils vendent.

Principal exceptions to this rule are :

To be, being.	Etre *, étant.
We are, you are, they are.	Nous sommes, vous êtes, ils sont.
To have, having.	Avoir *, ayant.
We have, you have, they have.	Nous avons, vous avez, ils ont.

⁴ The third person plural of the third conjugation presents, as may be observed, a little exception, as the present participle is here changed into reçoivent.

To know,	knowing.	Savoir *,	sachant.
We know, you know, they know.		Nous savons, vous savez, ils savent.
To do,	doing.	Faire *,	faisant.
You do, they do.		Vous faites, ils font.
To say,	saying.	Dire *,	disant.
You say.		Vous dites ⁵ .

Obs. B. There is no distinction in French between I love, do love, and am loving. All these present tenses are expressed by j'aime, I love.

To love, to like.		Aimer 1.
I { love. do love. am loving.	He { loves. does love. is loving.	J'aime, il aime.
Thou { lovest. dost love. art loving.	You { love. do love. are lov- ing.	Tu aimes, vous aimez.
We { love. do love. are loving.	They { love. do love. are lov- ing.	Nous aimons, ils aiment.

⁵ The remaining exceptions to this rule are the following :—

CONJ.

1st. Aller , to go ;	allant :	ils vont , they go.
2d. Venir , to come ;	venant :	ils viennent , they come.
Tenir , to keep ;	tenant :	ils tiennent , they keep.
Acquérir , to acquire ;	acquérant :	ils acquièrent , they acquire.
Mourir , to die (lose life) ;	mourant :	ils meurent , they die.
3d. Recevoir , to receive ;	recevant :	ils reçoivent , they receive *.
Devoir , to owe ;	devant :	ils doivent , they owe.
Mouvoir , to move ;	mouvant :	ils meuvent , they move.
Pouvoir , to be able (can) ;	pouvant :	ils peuvent , they are able.
Vouloir , to be willing ;	voulant :	ils veulent , they are willing.
4th. Boire , to drink ;	buvant :	ils boivent , they drink.
Prendre , to take ;	prenant :	ils prennent , they take.

* And all those in avoir, as apercevoir, to perceive ; concevoir, to conceive ; &c. (See Note 4, p. 104.)

To love, to like, to be fond of. | Aimer.
To arrange, to set in order. | Arranger, ranger 1.

Obs. C. In verbs where the ending er is preceded by g, the letter e is, for the softening of the sound, retained in all those tenses where g is followed by a or o. Ex. manger, to eat : mangeant, eating ; juger, to judge ; jugeant, judging ; négliger, to neglect ; négligeant, neglecting ; nous mangeons, we eat ; nous jugeons, we judge ; nous négligeons, we neglect.

Do you like him | L'aimez-vous ?

 Personal pronouns not standing in the nominative, take their place before the verb.

I do like him.	Je l'aime.
I do not like him.	Je ne l'aime pas.
Do you sell your horse ?	Vendez-vous votre cheval ?
I do sell it.	Je le vends.
Do you sell it ?	Le vendez-vous ?

Does he send you the note ?	Vous envoie-t-il le billet ?
He does send it me.	Il me l'envoie.

Obs. D. In verbs ending in ayer, oyer, uyer, the letter y is changed into i in all persons and tenses where it is followed by e mute. Ex.

I send, thou sendest, he sends, they send.	J'envoie, tu envoies, il envoie, ils envoient.
I sweep, thou sweepest, he sweeps, they sweep.	Je balaie, tu balaies, il balaie, ils balaient.

Does the servant sweep the floor ?	Le domestique balaie-t-il le plancher ?
He does sweep it.	Il le balaie.

Obs. E. As the rule which I gave above, on the formation of the plural of the present tense, is applicable to irregular as well as regular verbs, it remains now to point out only the present tense singular of those irregular verbs which we have already employed, to enable the learner to use them all in his exercises. They are the following.

To do, to make.
 I do, thou dost, he does.
 To drink, drinking.
 I drink, thou drinkest, he drinks.
 To come, coming.
 I come, thou comest, he comes.
 To write, writing.
 I write, thou writest, he writes.
 To see, seeing.
 I see, thou seest, he sees.
 To say, to tell.
 I say, thou sayest, he says.
 To go out, going out.
 I go out, thou goest out, he goes out.
 To read, reading.
 I read, thou readest, he reads.
 To know (to be acquainted with), knowing.
 I know, thou knowest, he knows.

Faire *.
 Je fais, tu fais, il fait.
 Boire *, buvant.
 Je bois, tu bois, il boit.
 Venir *, venant.
 Je viens, tu viens, il vient.
 Ecrire *, écrivant.
 J'écris, tu écris, il écrit.
 Voir *, voyant.
 Je vois, tu vois, il voit.
 Dire *.
 Je dis, tu dis, il dit.
 Sortir *, sortant.
 Je sors, tu sors, il sort.
 Lire *, lisant.
 Je lis, tu lis, il lit.
 Connaître *, connaissant.
 Je connais, tu connais, il connaît.

To open, opening.
 I open, thou openest, he opens.
 Do you open his note ?
 I do not open it.
 Does he open his eyes ?
 He opens them.
 Whom do you love ?
 I love my father.
 Does your father love his son ?
 He does love him.
 Do you love your children ?
 I do love them.
 Are you fond of wine ?
 I am fond of it.
 What are you fond of ?
 Cider.
 I am fond of cider.

Ouvrir 2 *, ouvrant.
 J'ouvre, tu ouvres, il ouvre ⁶.
 Ouvrez-vous son billet ?
 Je ne l'ouvre pas.
 † Ouvre-t-il les yeux ?
 Il les ouvre.
 Qui aimez-vous ?
 J'aime mon père.
 Votre père aime-t-il sons fils ?
 Il l'aime.
 Aimez-vous vos enfants ?
 Je les aime.
 Aimez-vous le vin ?
 Je l'aime.
 Qu'aimez-vous ?
 Du cidre.
 J'aime le cidre.

⁶ It will be remarked that this verb has in the present indicative the final letters of the first regular conjugation.

The American.
 What is the American fond of?
 He is fond of coffee.

L'Américain.
 L'Américain qu'aime-t-il?
 Il aime le café.

. We should fill volumes were we to give all the exercises that are applicable to our lessons, and which the pupils may very easily compose by themselves. We shall, therefore, merely repeat what we have already mentioned at the commencement:—Pupils who wish to improve rapidly ought to compose a great many sentences in addition to those given; but they must pronounce them aloud. This is the only way by which they will acquire the habit of speaking fluently.

TWENTY-FIFTH LESSON.

Vingt-cinquième Leçon.

To bring.	Apporter 1.
To find.	Trouver 1.
To or at the play.	Au spectacle.
The butcher.	Le boucher.
The sheep.	Le mouton.

What or the thing which.	Ce que.
Do you find what you look for (or what you are looking for)?	Trouvez-vous ce que vous cherchez?
I find what I look for.	} Je trouve ce que je cherche.

TWENTY-EIGHTH LESSON.

Vingt-huitième Leçon.

DO or AM, when used to interrogate, for all persons and tenses, may be rendered by EST-CE QUE. But they must be rendered thus for such verbs whose first person singular present tense cannot be employed interrogatively¹. Examples :—

Do I wish ?	Est-ce que je veux ?
Am I able ?	Est-ce que je peux ?
Am I doing ?	Est-ce que je fais ?

What am I doing ?	Qu'est-ce que je fais ?
What do I say ?	Qu'est-ce que je dis ?
Where am I going to ?	Où est-ce que je vais ?
To whom do I speak ?	'A qui est-ce que je parle ?

Am I going ?	Est-ce que je vais ?
Am I coming ?	Est-ce que je viens ?
You do come.	Vous venez.
Do you tell or say ?	Dites-vous ?
I do say or tell.	Je dis.
He says or tells.	Il dit.
What does he say ?	Que dit-il ?
We say.	Nous disons.

Obs. Some verbs, however, ending in e mute in the first person singular present tense, may be used interrogatively in that person, but then they change e mute into é with the acute accent followed by je. (See Note 1, Lesson XX.) Ex.

¹ Verbs whose first person singular forms only one syllable, as : je sens, I feel ; je prends, I take ; je tends, I tend ; je fonds, I melt ; or whose last syllable sounds like je, such as, je mange, I eat ; je venge, I revenge ; je range, I range ; je songe, I dream ; and others, such as, j'unis, I unite ; je permets, I permit ; j'offre, I offer ; &c. &c.

Do I speak ?	{ Parlé-je ? Est-ce que je parle ?
Do I love ?	{ Aimé-je ? Est-ce que j'aime ?

Are you acquainted with that man ?	Connaissez-vous cet homme ?
I am not acquainted with him.	Je ne le connais pas.
Is your brother acquainted with him ?	Votre frère le connaît-il ?
He is acquainted with him.	Il le connaît.
Do you drink cider ?	Buvez-vous du cidre ?
I do drink cider, but my brother drinks wine.	Je bois du cidre, mais mon frère boit du vin.
Do you receive a note to-day ?	Recevez-vous un billet aujourd'hui ?
I do receive one.	J'en reçois un.
What do we receive ?	Que recevons-nous ?
What do our children receive ?	Nos enfants que reçoivent-ils ? (See Note 4, Lesson XXIV.)
They receive some books.	Ils reçoivent des livres.

To begin (commence), beginning .	Commencer 1, commençant .
I begin to speak.	Je commence à parler.

Before.	Avant (takes de before the infinitive).
Do you speak before you listen ?	Parlez-vous avant d'écouter ?
Does he go to market before he breakfasts ?	Va-t-il au marché avant de déjeuner ?
To breakfast.	Déjeuner 1.
He does go thither before he writes.	Il y va avant d'écrire.
Do you take off your stockings before you take off your shoes ?	Ôtez-vous vos bas avant d'ôter vos souliers ?

To depart, to set out, departing.

When do you intend to depart?
I intend to depart to-morrow.

I depart, thou departest, he departs.

Partir 2, partant.*

Quand comptez-vous partir?
Je compte partir demain.
(See the preceding Lesson.)
Je pars, tu pars, il part.

Well.

TWENTY-NINTH LESSON.

Vingt-neuvième Leçon.

COMPARISON OF ADJECTIVES.

WE have seen (Lessons XVI. and XXVII.) that the comparative of equality is formed by autant and aussi, the comparative of superiority by plus, and that of inferiority by moins. As for the superlative, it is formed by prefixing the definite article with plus to the adjective. Ex.

			Positive.	Comparative.	Superlative.
Great,	greater,	greatest.	Grand,	plus grand,	le plus grand.
Small,	smaller,	smallest.	Petit,	plus petit,	le plus petit.
Rich,	richer,	richest.	Riche,	plus riche,	le plus riche.
Poor,	poorer,	poorest.	Pauvre,	plus pauvre,	le plus pauvre.
Learned,	more learned,	most learned.	Savant,	plus savant,	le plus savant.
Often,	oftener,	most often.	Souvent,	plus souvent,	le plus souvent.

This book is small, that is smaller, and this is the smallest of all.

This hat is large, but that is larger.

Is your hat as large as mine?

It is larger than yours.

It is not so large as yours.

Ce livre-ci est petit, celui-là est plus petit, et celui-ci est le plus petit de tous.

Ce chapeau-ci est grand, mais celui-là est plus grand.

Votre chapeau est-il aussi grand que le mien?

Il est plus grand que le vôtre.

Il est moins grand que le vôtre.

Not so large.

Moins grand.

Obs. A. In the same manner as the superlative of superiority is formed by the definite article with plus, the superlative of inferiority is sometimes formed by the definite article with moins. E. g.

	Posit.	Comparat.	Superlative.
Fine, not so fine, least fine.	Beau,	moins beau,	le moins beau.

Are our neighbour's children as good as ours?	Les enfants de notre voisin sont-ils aussi sages que les nôtres?
They are better than ours.	Ils sont plus sages que les nôtres.
They are not so good as ours.	Ils sont moins sages que les nôtres.

Obs. B. To express the absolute superlative, the French, like the English, use one of the adverbs, très, fort, bien, very; extrêmement, extremely; infiniment, infinitely: e. g.

A very fine book.	Un très beau livre.
Very fine books.	De très beaux livres.

I do not speak yet.	Je ne parle pas encore.
Do you finish your note ?	Finissez-vous votre billet ?
I do not finish it yet.	Je ne le finis pas encore.
Do you breakfast already ?	Déjeunez-vous déjà ?

Obs. A. We have seen in the foregoing lessons that the infinitive in French is sometimes preceded by de (Lesson XVII.), sometimes by à (Lessons XXV. and XXVIII.), sometimes by pour (Lesson XX.), and sometimes it is simply used without any of these prepositions before it. This is the case when it is joined to one of the following verbs, several of which have already been exemplified in some of the preceding lessons, such as; vouloir, to wish, to be willing (Lesson XVIII.); pouvoir, to be able, can (Lesson XX.); aller chercher, to go for; and envoyer chercher, to send for (Lesson XXII.); aller, to be going to (Lesson XXIII.); faire voir, to show (Lesson XXVII.); compter, to intend to. (Lessons XXVII. and XXVIII.)

Aller *,	to go.	Nier,	to deny.
Compter,	to intend to.	Oser,	to dare.
Croire *,	to believe.	Paraître *,	to appear.
Daigner,	to deign.	Penser,	to think.
Déclarer,	to declare.	Prétendre,	to pretend.
Devoir,	to owe.	Pouvoir *,	to be able (can).
Entendre,	to hear.	Savoir *,	to know.
Envoyer,	to send.	Sembler,	to appear.
Espérer,	to hope.	Souhaiter,	to wish.
Faillir *,	to miss.	Soutenir *,	to maintain.
Faire *,	to do.	Venir *,	to come.
Falloir *,	to be requisite.	Voir *,	to see.
Laisser,	to let.	Vouloir *,	to be willing.

Obs. B. Further, there is no preposition before the infinitive when it is used in an absolute sense.

To eat too much is dangerous.

To speak too much is foolish.

To do good to those that have offended us is a commendable action.

Manger trop est dangereux.

Parler trop est imprudent.

Faire du bien à ceux qui nous ont offensés est une action louable.

EXERCISES.

THIRTY-FIRST LESSON.

Trente et unième Leçon.

THE PAST PARTICIPLE.

THE past participle being a primitive tense (see Note 1, Less. XXIV.), its formation cannot be determined by another tense. Of regular verbs it may, however, be formed by changing the terminations of the infinitive, for the first conjugation, into é with the acute accent, thus: parler—parlé; for the second into i, thus: finir—fini; for the third into u, thus: recevoir—reçu; and for the fourth also into u, thus: vendre—vendu. Examples:

FIRST CONJUGATION.

Inf.		P. P.
Aimer,	to love,	aimé,
Pleurer,	to weep,	pleuré,
Manger,	to eat,	mangé,
Commencer,	to begin,	commencé.

THIRD CONJUGATION.

Devoir,	to owe,	dû¹.
Concevoir,	to conceive,	conçu.
Recevoir,	to receive,	reçu.
Apercevoir,	to perceive,	aperçu.

SECOND CONJUGATION.

Inf.		P. P.
Bâtir,	to build,	bâti.
Gémir,	to sigh,	gémi.
Bénir,	to bless,	béni.
Choisir,	to choose,	choisi.

FOURTH CONJUGATION.

Vendre,	to sell,	vendu.
Rendre,	to render,	rendu.
Entendre,	to hear,	entendu.
Défendre,	to defend,	défendu.

To be—been.

Have you been to market?
I have been there.
I have not been there.

*Être —été².

Avez-vous été au marché³?
J'y ai été.
Je n'y ai pas été.

¹ It will be perceived, that in the third conjugation it is not oir, but avoir, which in the past participle must be changed into u.

² The pupils, in repeating the irregular verbs already given, must not fail to mark in their lists the past participles of those verbs.

³ Avoir été is used for went and did go. (See Obs. page 145.)

Have I been there?
 You have been there.
 You have not been there.
 Has he been there?
 He has been there.
 He has not been there.

Y ai-je été?
 Vous y avez été.
 Vous n'y avez pas été.
 Y a-t-il été?
 Il y a été.
 Il n'y a pas été.

Ever.

Never.

Have you been at the ball?
 Have you ever been at the ball?
 I have never been there.
 Thou hast never been there.
 He has never been there.
 You have never been there.

Jamais.

Ne—jamais.

Avez-vous été au bal?
 Avez-vous jamais été au bal?
 Je n'y ai jamais été.
 Tu n'y as jamais été.
 Il n'y a jamais été.
 Vous n'y avez jamais été.

Already or yet.

Have you already been at the play?
 I have already been there.
 You have already been there.

Déjà.

Avez-vous déjà été au spectacle?
 J'y ai déjà été.
 Vous y avez déjà été.

Not yet.

I have not yet been there.
 Thou hast not yet been there.
 He has not yet been there.
 You have not been there yet.
 We have not yet been there.

Ne—pas encore.

Je n'y ai pas encore été.
 Tu n'y as pas encore été.
 Il n'y a pas encore été.
 Vous n'y avez pas encore été.
 Nous n'y avons pas encore été.

Have you already been at my father's?
 I have not yet been there.

Avez-vous déjà été chez mon père?
 Je n'y ai pas encore été.

Where have you been this morning?

I have been in the garden.
 Where has thy brother been?
 He has been in the warehouse.

Où avez-vous été ce matin?

J'ai été au jardin.
 Ton frère où a-t-il été?
 Il a été au magasin.

Has he been there as early as I?

Y a-t-il été d'aussi bonne heure que moi?

He has been there earlier than you.

Il y a été de meilleure heure que vous.

Obs. Été, past participle of the verb être, to be, is in French often employed for allé, past participle of the verb aller, to go. We say, J'ai été au spectacle, when our meaning is, that I went to the play, and am returned from it; and, il est allé au spectacle, that he is gone to the play, but is not yet returned. According to this, it is commonly better to say in the first and second persons sing. and plur.: J'y ai été, I have been there; tu y as été, thou hast been there; nous y avons été, we have been there; vous y avez été, you have been there,—than, j'y suis allé, tu y es allé, nous y sommes allés, vous y êtes allés, when motion is not particularly to be expressed.

EXERCISES.

97.

Where have you been?—I have been to the market.—Have you been to the ball?—I have been there.—Have I been to the play?—You have been there.—Hast thou been there?—I have not been there.—Has your son ever been at the theatre?—He has never been there.—Hast thou already been in my warehouse?—I have never been there.—Do you intend to (*Obs. (See end of Lesson XXIV.)

THIRTY-SECOND LESSON.

Trente-deuxième Leçon.

*To have—had. | Avoir —eu.

 A. All objective pronouns, i. e. which are not in the nominative, and which in French are placed before the verb, must never stand before the past participle, but before the auxiliary verb.

Have you had my book ?	Avez-vous eu mon livre ?
I have not had it.	Je ne l'ai pas eu.
Have I had it ?	L'ai-je eu ?
You have had it.	Vous l'avez eu.
You have not had it.	Vous ne l'avez pas eu.
Thou hast not had it.	Tu ne l'as pas eu.
Has he had it ?	L'a-t-il eu ?
He has had it.	Il l'a eu.
He has not had it.	Il ne l'a pas eu.
Hast thou had the coat ?	As-tu eu l'habit ?
I have not had it.	Je ne l'ai pas eu.

Have you had the books ? | Avez-vous eu les livres ?

 B. The past participle in French (the same as the adjective, Obs. Lesson XXII.), when it is preceded by its object, must agree with it in number ; that is, if the object is in the plural, the past participle must take an s.

I have had them.	Je les ai eus.
I have not had them.	Je ne les ai pas eus.
Have I had them ?	Les ai-je eus ?
You have had them.	Vous les avez eus.
You have not had them.	Vous ne les avez pas eus.
Has he had them ?	Les a-t-il eus ?
He has had them.	Il les a eus.
He has not had them.	Il ne les a pas eus.

 J'en ai eu.
 Je n'en ai pas eu.
 En ai-je eu?
 Vous en avez eu.
 Vous n'en avez pas eu.
 En a-t-il eu?
 Il n'en a pas eu.

Have you had any knives?
 I have had some.

Avez-vous eu des couteaux?
 J'en ai eu.

 C. The past participle does not agree with its object in number; that is, if the object is in the plural, the past participle does not take an s when it is preceded by the relative pronoun en, some, some of them, any of them.

I have not had any.

| Je n'en ai pas eu.

What has he had?
 He has had nothing.

Qu'a-t-il eu?
 Il n'a rien eu.

Have you been hungry?
 I have been afraid.
 He has never been either right or wrong.

† Avez-vous eu faim?
 † J'ai eu peur.
 † Il n'a jamais eu ni tort ni raison.

To take place.

That (meaning, that thing).
 Does the ball take place this evening?
 It does take place.
 It takes place this evening.
 It does not take place to-day.

† Avoir lieu.

Cela.

† Le bal a-t-il lieu ce soir?
 † Il a lieu.
 † Il a lieu ce soir.
 † Il n'a pas lieu aujourd'hui.

When did the ball take place?
 It took place yesterday.

† Quand le bal a-t-il eu lieu?
 † Il a eu lieu hier.

Yesterday.	Hier.
The day before yesterday.	Avant-hier.

How many times (how often) ?	Combien de fois ?
Once.	Une fois.
Twice.	Deux fois.
Thrice (three times).	Trois fois.
Several times.	Plusieurs fois.

Formerly.	Autrefois.
Sometimes.	Quelquefois.

Do you go sometimes to the ball ?	Allez-vous quelquefois au bal ?
I go sometimes.	J'y vais quelquefois.

Gone.	Allé.
Gone thither.	Y—allé.
Have you gone thither some- times ?	Y êtes-vous allé quelquefois ?
I have gone thither often.	J'y suis allé souvent.
Often than you.	Plus souvent que vous.

(See end of Lesson XXIV.)

THIRTY-THIRD LESSON.

Trente-troisième Leçon.

OF THE PRETERITE INDEFINITE.

THE preterite indefinite (le prétérit indéfini) is formed as the perfect tense is in English, viz. from the present of the auxiliary and the past participle. Being a compound of the present, it is used to express an action past at a time not far distant from that period, or during a time wholly expired or not. We may, therefore, say : J'ai étudié ce matin, I have studied this morning ; j'ai étudié hier, I studied yesterday ; j'ai étudié le mois passé, I studied last month ; j'ai étudié ce mois-ci, I have studied this month.

To make, to do—made, done. | *Faire —fait.

What have you done ?

Qu'avez-vous fait ?

I have done nothing.

Je n'ai rien fait.

Has that shoemaker made my shoes ?

Ce cordonnier a-t-il fait mes souliers ?

He has made them.

Il les a faits.

He has not made them.

Il ne les a pas faits.

To put, to put on—put, put on.

*Mettre —mis.

Have you put on your shoes ?

Avez-vous mis vos souliers ?

I have put them on.

Je les ai mis.

Have you taken off your gloves ?

Avez-vous ôté vos gants ?

I have taken them off.

Je les ai ôtés.

To tell, to say,—told, said.
 Have you said the words?
 I have said them.
 Have you told me the word?
 I have told you the word.
 I have told it you.

Dire *—dit.
 Avez-vous dit les mots?
 Je les ai dits.
 M'avez-vous dit le mot?
 Je vous ai dit le mot.
 Je vous l'ai dit.

The word.
That (meaning, that thing).
This (meaning, this thing).
 Has he told you that?
 He has told me that.
 Have I told you that?
 You have told me that.

 I have not told it you.
 Has he told it you?
 He has told it me.
 He has not told it me.
 Have you told him that?
 I have told it him (meaning to him).
 You have told it him.
 He has told it him.

Le mot.
Cela.
Ceci.
 Vous a-t-il dit cela?
 Il m'a dit cela.
 Vous ai-je dit cela?
 Vous m'avez dit cela.
Le.
 Me l'avez-vous dit?
 Je vous l'ai dit.
 Je ne vous l'ai pas dit.
 Vous l'a-t-il dit?
 Il me l'a dit.
 Il ne me l'a pas dit.
 Lui avez-vous dit cela?
 Je le lui ai dit.
 Vous le lui avez dit.
 Il le lui a dit.

Have you told it them (meaning to them)?
 I have told it them.

Le leur avez-vous dit?
 Je le leur ai dit.

Have you spoken to the men?
 I have spoken to them.
 To whom did you speak?

Avez-vous parlé aux hommes?
 Je leur ai parlé.
 'A qui avez-vous parlé?

Obs. A. The pronoun le, which is sometimes rendered into English by so, and more elegantly omitted, may in French relate to a substantive, an adjective, or even a whole sentence. It alters neither gender nor number when it relates to an adjective or a whole sentence.

Are you the brother of my friend ?	Êtes-vous le frère de mon ami ?
I am.	Je le suis.
Are you rich ?	Êtes-vous riche ?
I am not.	Je ne le suis pas.

Jeter 1.

M'appellez-vous ?

Je vous appelle.

Obs. B. In verbs ending eler and eter, as appeler, to call ; jeter, to throw ; the letter l or t is doubled in all persons or tenses where it is followed by e mute ¹.

Who calls me ?

Your father calls you.

Have you called the men ?

I have called them.

Do you throw your money away ?

I do not throw it away.

Who throws away his books ?

Have you thrown away any thing ?

NEUTER VERBS.

In neuter verbs the action is intransitive, that is, it remains in the agent. They are conjugated like the active. The latter, however, always form their past tenses with the auxiliary avoir *, to have; on the contrary, some neuter verbs take être *, to be, and others avoir *, for their auxiliary; others again take sometimes avoir *, and sometimes être *, according as action or state is more particularly meant. Their past participles must agree in gender and number with the subject. Those neuter verbs which are conjugated with the auxiliary être * in French, and to have in English, will always be marked.

To set out,	set out (past part.).	Partir *,	parti.

Mordre 4—mordu.

Why ?

Why do you beat the dog ?

Because.

I beat it, because it has bitten me.

Pourquoi ?

Pourquoi battez-vous le chien ?

Parce que.

Je le bats, parce qu'il m'a mordu.

To owe—owed.

How much do you owe me ?

I owe you fifty crowns.

How much does the man owe you ?

He owes me sixty francs.

Do our neighbours owe as much as we ?

We owe more than they.

How much dost thou owe ?

Two hundred francs.

Eighty francs.

Eighty-three francs.

Two hundred and fifty francs.

Devoir 3—dû.

Combien me devez-vous ?

Je vous dois cinquante écus.

Combien l'homme vous doit-il ?

Il me doit soixante francs.

Nos voisins doivent-ils autant que nous ?

Nous devons plus qu'eux.

Combien dois-tu ?

Deux cents francs.

Quatre-vingts francs.

Quatre-vingt-trois francs.

Deux cent cinquante francs.

Obs. A. From the above it may be seen that to quatre-vingt and cent no s is added when they are followed by another numeral.

Are you to .. ?
I am to ..

† Devez-vous .. ?
Je dois ..

Where are you to go to this morning?

I am to go to the warehouse.

Is your brother to come hither to-day?

Soon, shortly.

He is to come hither soon.

† Où devez-vous aller ce matin?

† Je dois aller au magasin.

† Votre frère doit-il venir ici aujourd'hui?

Bientôt.

† Il doit venir ici bientôt.

To return (to come back).

Revenir 2* (is conjugated like its primitive venir *, to come, Lessons XXIV. and XXXIV.)

At what o'clock do you return from the market?

I return from it at twelve o'clock.

From it, from there, thence.

Does the servant return early from the warehouse?

He returns from it at six o'clock in the morning.

At nine o'clock in the morning.

At five o'clock in the evening.

At eleven o'clock at night.

'A quelle heure revenez-vous du marché?

J'en reviens à midi.

En.

Le domestique revient-il de bonne heure du magasin?

Il en revient à six heures du matin.

† 'A neuf heures du matin.

† 'A cinq heures du soir.

† 'A onze heures du soir.

How long?

During, for.

How long has he remained there?

A minute.

An hour.

A day.

A month.

A year.

Combien de temps?

Pendant.

Combien de temps y est-il resté?

Pendant ¹ une minute ².

Pendant une heure ².

Pendant un jour.

Pendant un mois.

Pendant une année ².

¹ The adverb pendant, when it signifies for may be left out in French as in English, but it is then understood.

² Minute, heure, and année, are feminine nouns, of which the indefinite article is une, a, one, and the definite la, whose plural (les) is the same as that of le. Feminine nouns take, like masculine nouns, an s in the plural, as will be seen hereafter.

The summer.

L'été.

The winter.

L'hiver.

Obs. B. The names of seasons, months, and days, are of the masculine gender, except l'automne, autumn, which is both masculine and feminine. (See Notes 1, 2, in my Treatise on the Gender of French Substantives.)

During the summer.

Pendant l'été.

To dwell, to live, to reside, to remain.

Demeurer 1³.

Where do you live?

Où demeurez-vous?

I live in William-street, number twenty-five.

Je demeure (dans la) rue⁴ Guillaume, (au) numéro vingt-cinq⁵.

Where did your brother live?

Où votre frère a-t-il demeuré?

He lived in Rivoli-street, number forty-nine.

Il a demeuré (dans la) rue de Rivoli, (au) numéro quarante-neuf⁵.

Dost thou live at thy brother's house?

Demeures-tu chez ton frère?

I do not live at his, but at my father's house.

Je ne demeure pas chez lui, mais chez mon père.

Does your friend still live where I lived?

Votre ami demeure-t-il encore où j'ai demeuré?

He lives no longer where you lived.

Il ne demeure plus où vous avez demeuré.

No longer.Ne—plus.

The number.

Le numéro.

How long were you speaking to the man?

Combien de temps avez-vous parlé à l'homme?

I spoke to him for two hours.

Je lui ai parlé pendant deux heures.

Did you remain long with my father?

Êtes-vous resté long-temps chez mon père?

I remained with him an hour.

J'y suis resté une heure.

Long.

Long-temps.

³ The verb demeurer takes avoir for its auxiliary when it means to live in, and être when it signifies to remain. Ex. Il a demeuré à Paris, he has lived in Paris; il est demeuré court en haranguant le roi, he stopped short in haranguing the king.

⁴ La rue, the street, is also a feminine noun.

⁵ Dans la before rue, and au before numéro have been put between parentheses, because they are generally omitted, but understood.

EXERCISES.

Until morning.	Jusqu'au matin.
Until the next day.	Jusqu'au lendemain.
Until that day.	Jusqu'à ce jour.
Until that moment.	Jusqu'à ce moment.
Till now—hitherto.	Jusqu'à présent—jusqu'ici.
Until then.	Jusqu'alors.
Then.	Alors.

Tuesday, Wednesday.	Le mardi, le mercredi.
Thursday, Friday.	Le jeudi, le vendredi.
Saturday.	Le samedi.

Obs. The names of days, months, and seasons, are all masculine.
(See Obs. B. preceding Lesson.)

Till I return (till my return).	Jusqu'à mon retour.
Till my brother returns (till my brother's return).	Jusqu'au retour de mon frère.
Till four o'clock in the morning.	Jusqu'à quatre heures du matin.

Till midnight (till twelve o'clock at night).	Jusqu'à minuit.
---	-----------------

The return or coming back.	Le retour.
----------------------------	------------

How long did you remain at my father's house?	Jusqu'à quand êtes-vous resté chez mon père?
---	--

I remained at his house till eleven o'clock at night.	J'y suis resté jusqu'à onze heures du soir.
---	---

One, the people, they, or any one.

Have they brought my shoes?

They have brought them.

They have not brought them yet.

What have they said?

They have said nothing.

What have they done?

They have done nothing.

On (indefinite pronoun, always singular).

A-t-on apporté mes souliers?

On les a apportés.

On ne les a pas encore apportés.

Qu'a-t-on dit?

On n'a rien dit.

Qu'a-t-on fait?

On n'a rien fait.

To be willing (to wish), been willing (wished).

Have they been willing to mend my coat?

They have not been willing to mend it.

Vouloir *—voulu (Less. XVIII. and XXXIV.)

A-t-on voulu raccommoder mon habit?

On n'a pas voulu le raccommoder.

To be able (can)—been able (could).

Have they been able to find the books?

They could not find them.

Can they find them now?

They cannot find them.

Pouvoir *—pu. (Lessons XX. and XXXIV.)

A-t-on pu trouver les livres?

On n'a pu les trouver.

Peut-on les trouver à présent?

On ne peut pas les trouver.

Can they do what they wish?

They do what they can; but they do not do what they wish.

Peut-on faire ce qu'on veut?

On fait ce qu'on peut; mais on ne fait pas ce qu'on veut.

What do they say ?
 What do they say new ?
They say nothing new.
 Something or any thing new.
 Nothing or not any thing new.

Que dit-on ?
 Que dit-on de nouveau ?
 On ne dit rien de nouveau.
 Quelque chose de nouveau.
 Rien de nouveau.

New.

My new coat.
 My new horse.
 My handsome horse.
 My new friend.
 My handsome coat.

To brush.

This fine man.
 These fine men.
 This fine tree.
 Those fine trees.
 My new friends.

Neuf, nouveau (before a vowel or h mute nouvel ¹).

 Mon nouveau cheval.
 Mon beau cheval.
 Mon nouvel ami.
 Mon bel habit ².

Brosser 1.

Ce bel homme.
 Ces beaux hommes.
 Ce bel arbre.
 Ces beaux arbres.
 Mes nouveaux amis.

Do they believe that ?
 They do not believe it.
 Do they speak of that ?
 They do speak of it.
 They do not speak of it.

Croit-on cela ?
 On ne le croit pas.
 Parle-t-on de cela ?
 On en parle.
 On n'en parle pas.

¹ Nouveau (nouvel before a vowel or h mute) is used for things which are new from nature or invention, as : du vin nouveau, new wine ; un nouveau commis, a new clerk ; un nouvel ami, a new friend ; un livre nouveau, a book just published. Neuf, on the contrary, is used of things made by men, as : un habit neuf, a new coat ; un livre neuf, a new book (which has been printed long ago, but has not been used). Thus we may say : Ce livre neuf est-il nouveau ? Is this new book a new publication ? Neuf figuratively means inexperienced. Ex. Ce valet est bien neuf, this valet is very inexperienced.

² Bel and nouvel are only used for masculine substantives beginning with a vowel or h mute, as may be seen from our examples. But in the plural the adjectives remain beau and nouveau. Ex. Ces beaux arbres, these fine trees ; mes nouveaux amis, my new friends.

FORTY-THIRD LESSON.

Quarante-troisième Leçon.

OF REFLECTIVE VERBS.

WHEN the action falls upon the agent, and the objective case refers to the same person as the nominative, the verb is called reflective. In French almost all active verbs may become reflective.

In reflective verbs the pronoun of the object is of the same person as that of the subject. Each person is, therefore, conjugated with a double personal pronoun, thus :—

I, myself.	Je, me.
Thou, thyself.	Tu, te.
He, himself.	Il,
She, herself.	Elle, } se.
It, itself.	Il, }
One, one's self.	On, }
We, ourselves.	Nous, nous.
You, yourself.	} Vous, vous.
Ye, yourselves.
They, themselves.	{ Ils, } se.
	{ Elles, }

Obs. A. It will be remarked that the third person is always se, whatever may be its number or gender.

To cut yourself.	} Vous couper.
To cut myself.
To cut ourselves.
To cut himself.	} Se couper.
To cut herself.
To cut itself.

Il n'en veut rien faire.

Obs. A. When a proposition has no definite subject, the English, in order to avoid the pronouns they, people, &c., use the verb in the passive voice, and say: I was told, instead of, They told me; He is flattered, instead of, They flatter him; It was given to me, instead of, They gave it to me. This is always expressed in French by means of the indefinite pronoun on, one. Ex.

He is flattered, but he is not beloved.

On le flatte, mais on ne l'aime pas.

I am told that he is arrived.

On me dit qu'il est arrivé.

That (conjunction).

Que.

A knife was given to him to cut his bread, and he cut his finger.

On lui a donné un couteau pour couper son pain, et il s'est coupé le doigt.

To flatter some one.

To flatter one's self.

He flatters himself that he knows French.

Nothing but.

He has nothing but enemies.

Flatter 1 quelqu'un.

Se flatter (takes de before the infinitive).

† Il se flatte de savoir le français.

Ne—que.

Il n'a que des ennemis.

To become.

He has turned a soldier.

Have you turned a merchant?

I have turned (become) a lawyer.

What has become of your brother?

What has become of him?

I do not know what has become of him.

To enlist, to enrol.

He has enlisted.

Devenir 2, part. past, devenu*
(is conjugated like its primitive *venir, Les. XXIV. & XXXIV.).

† Il s'est fait soldat.

† Vous êtes-vous fait marchand?

† Je me suis fait avocat.

† Votre frère qu'est-il devenu?

† Qu'est devenu votre frère?

† Qu'est-il devenu?

† Je ne sais pas ce qu'il est devenu.

S'enrôler 1, se faire soldat.

† Il s'est enrôlé.

† Il s'est fait soldat.

For (meaning because).

I cannot pay you, for I have no money.

He cannot give you any bread, for he has none.

Car.

Je ne puis vous payer, car je n'ai pas d'argent.

Il ne peut pas vous donner de pain, car il n'en a pas.

To believe some one.

Do you believe that man?

I do not believe him.

Croire 4 quelqu'un.*

Croyez-vous cet homme?

Je ne le crois pas.

Obs. B. The verb croire * governs the accusative; we say however:

To believe in God.

I believe in God.

Croire en Dieu.

Je crois en Dieu.

To utter a falsehood, to lie.

I lie, thou liest, he lies.

The story-teller, the liar.

Mentir 2 ; past. part. menti,*
pres. part. mentant.

Je mens, tu mens, il ment.

Le menteur.

FORTY-FIFTH LESSON.

Quarante-cinquième Leçon.

OF IMPERSONAL VERBS.

WE have already seen (Lessons XLI. and XLII.) some idiomatical expressions with faire, all of which belong to the impersonal verbs. These verbs, having no determinate subject, are only conjugated in the third person, by means of the pronoun il, it. Ex.

To rain, it rains.	Pleuvoir 3*, il pleut, past part. plu.
To snow, it snows.	Neiger 1. il neige.
To hail, it hails.	Grêler 1. il grêle.

As for the substantives belonging to these three verbs, they are feminine, and will be seen when we come to such nouns.

To lighten.	† Faire des éclairs.
Does it lighten?	† Fait-il des éclairs?
It does lighten.	† Il fait des éclairs.
The lightning.	L'éclair.
The parasol.	Le parasol.
It rains very hard.	† Il pleut à verse.
It lightens much.	† Il fait beaucoup d'éclairs.
Does it snow?	Neige-t-il?
It snows much.	Il neige fort.
It hails much.	Il fait beaucoup de grêle.
	(La grêle , a feminine noun.)
The sun does not shine.	† Il ne fait point de soleil.
The sun is in my eyes.	† Le soleil me donne dans la vue.
	(La vue , the sight, a feminine noun.)

To thunder,—it thunders.	Tonner 1—il tonne.
To shine, to glitter.	Luire 4 *; pres. part. luisant ; past, lui.

To shut.

Have you done ?
 Is the walking good ?
 In that country.
 The country.
 He has made many friends in that country.

Fermer 1.

† Avez-vous fini ?
 † Fait-il bon marcher ?
 Dans ce pays.
 Le pays.
 † Il s'est fait beaucoup d'amis
 dans ce pays.

Of which, of whom, whose.

I see the man of whom you speak.
 I have bought the horse of which you spoke to me.
 I see the man whose brother has killed my dog.
 I see the man whose dog you have killed.
 Do you see the child whose father set out yesterday ?
 I see it.
 Whom have you seen ?
 I have seen the merchant whose warehouse you have taken.

Dont (connective pronoun).

Je vois l'homme dont vous parlez.
 J'ai acheté le cheval dont vous m'avez parlé.
 Je vois l'homme dont le frère a tué mon chien.
 Je vois l'homme dont vous avez tué le chien.
 Voyez-vous l'enfant dont le père est parti hier ?
 Je le vois.
 Qui avez-vous vu ?
 J'ai vu le marchand dont vous avez pris le magasin.

I have spoken to the man whose warehouse has been burnt.

J'ai parlé à l'homme dont le ma-gasin a été brûlé.

That of which.That, or the one of which.Those, or the ones of which.

I have that of which I have need.
 I have what I want.
 He has what he wants.

Ce dont.Celui dont.Ceux dont.

} J'ai ce dont j'ai besoin.
 | Il a ce dont il a besoin.

Have you the book of which you have need ?

I have that of which I have need.

Avez-vous le livre dont vous avez besoin ?

J'ai celui dont j'ai besoin.

Has the man the nails of which he has need?	L'homme a-t-il les clous dont il a besoin?
He has those of which he has need.	Il a ceux dont il a besoin.
  To need, to want. To have need of.  } Avoir besoin de.

Which men do you see?	Quels hommes voyez-vous?
I see those of whom you have spoken to me.	Je vois ceux dont vous m'avez parlé.

 The past participle does not agree with its object in number, (that is, if the object is in the plural the past participle does not take an s,) when it is preceded by the connective pronoun dont, of whom, of which, whose.

Do you see the pupils of whom I have spoken to you?	Voyez-vous les élèves dont je vous ai parlé?
I see them.	Je les vois.

	Masc. & Fem.
	Sing. & Plur.	Masc. Plur.
To whom.	'A qui,	auxquels.
I see the children to whom you have given some cakes.	Je vois les enfants à qui vous avez donné des gâteaux.
To which men do you speak?	'A quels hommes parlez-vous?
I speak to those to whom you have applied.	Je parle à ceux auxquels (à qui) vous vous êtes adressé.

Obs. 'A qui, dative for all genders and numbers, is more usually employed for persons than auxquels, dative plural of lequel, but for things auxquels must always be used.

To apply to.	S'adresser 1 à.
To meet with.	Rencontrer 1 (governs the accusative).
I have met with the men to whom you have applied.	J'ai rencontré les hommes à qui (auxquels) vous vous êtes adressé.

Of which men do you speak ?
I speak of those whose children have been studious and obedient.

Obedient, disobedient.

De quels hommes parlez-vous ?
Je parle de ceux dont les enfants ont été studieux et obéissants.

Obéissant, désobéissant.

So that.

I have lost my money, so that I cannot pay you.

I am ill, so that I cannot go out.

Ill.

De sorte que (conjunction).

J'ai perdu mon argent, de sorte que je ne puis vous payer.

Je suis malade, de sorte que je ne puis sortir.

Malade.

FORTY-SIXTH LESSON.

Quarante-sixième Leçon.

OF THE FUTURE.

RULE.—The first or simple future is formed, in all French verbs, from the infinitive, by changing the letter r, for the three first conjugations¹, and the ending re for the fourth, into rai. Ex.

		Infin.	Future.
To love, I shall or will love.	1st Conj.	Aimer,	j'aimerai.
To finish, I shall or will finish.	2nd —	Finir,	je finirai.
To foresee, I shall or will foresee.	3rd —	Prévoir,	je prévoirai.
To restore, I shall or will restore.	4th —	Rendre,	je rendrai.

Obs. A. We need only know the first person singular of the future in order to form all the other persons, as they are always alike in all French verbs, viz. for the second person singular ras, the third person singular ra, the first person plural rons, the second rez, and the third ront.

		Futures.
Thou shalt or wilt love, thou shalt or wilt finish.	Tu aimeras.	Tu finiras.
He shall or will love, he shall or will finish.	Il aimera.	Il finira.
We shall or will love, we shall or will finish.	Nous aimerons.	Nous finirons.
You shall or will love, you shall or will finish.	Vous aimerez.	Vous finirez.
They shall or will love, they shall or will finish.	Ils aimeront.	Ils finiront.

¹ Though the third conjugation is almost entirely composed of exceptions, the rule is notwithstanding correct, as all those verbs which now form exceptions were formerly spelt and written according to it.

Thou shalt or wilt foresee, thou shalt or wilt restore.		Futures.
He shall or will foresee, he shall or will restore.		Tu prévoiras.	Tu rendras.
We shall or will foresee, we shall or will restore.		Il prévoira.	Il rendra.
You shall or will foresee, you shall or will restore.		Nous prévoyons.	Nous rendrons.
They shall or will foresee, they shall or will restore.		Vous prévoyez.	Vous rendrez.
		Ils prévoiront.	Ils rendront.

EXCEPTIONS.

Obs. B. The following fourteen verbs, besides the auxiliaries avoir and être, and ten more, of which we give the futures at the end of this Lesson, form all the exceptions to our rule on the formation of the future. It must be remembered that the first person singular of the exceptions being once known, all the other persons are, being, as may be seen from the above, the same in all verbs.

		Infinitive.	Future.
To have.	I shall or will have.	Avoir *.	J'aurai.
To be.	I shall or will be.	Être *.	Je serai.
<hr/>
To go.	I shall or will go.	Aller 1 *.	J'irai.
To send.	I shall or will send.	Envoyer 1 *.	J'enverrai.
To hold.	I shall or will hold.	Tenir 2 *.	Je tiendrai.
To come.	I shall or will come.	Venir 2 *.	Je viendrai.
To sit down.	I shall or will sit down.	S'asseoir 3 *.	Je m'assièrai or Je m'assiérai.
To owe.	I shall or will owe.	Devoir 3 *.	Je devrai.
To be necessary.	It will be necessary.	Falloir 3 *.	Il faudra.
To be able.	I shall or will be able.	Pouvoir 3 *.	Je pourrai.
To receive.	I shall or will receive.	Recevoir 3.	Je recevrai ² .
To know.	I shall or will know.	Savoir 3.	Je saurai.
To be worth.	I shall or will be worth.	Valoir 3 *.	Je vaudrai.
To see.	I shall or will see.	Voir 3 *.	Je verrai.
To be willing.	I shall or will be willing.	Vouloir 3 *.	Je voudrai.
To do.	I shall or will do.	Faire 4 *.	Je ferai.

² And all those in cevoir, as: apercevoir, to perceive; concevoir, to conceive, &c.

(See end of Lesson XXIV.)

FORTY-NINTH LESSON.

Quarante-neuvième Leçon.To hear of.

Have you heard of your brother ?.

I have heard of him.

Is it long since you breakfasted ?

How long is it since you breakfasted ?

Obs. A. The impersonal il y a cannot be rendered into English by there is, there are, when it is used in reply to the question : How long is it since ?

It is not long since I breakfasted.

It is a great while since.

It is a short time since.

How long is it since you heard of your brother ?

It is a year since I heard of him.

It is only a year since.

It is more than a year since.

Entendre parler.

† Avez-vous entendu parler de votre frère ?

† J'en ai entendu parler.

† Y a-t-il long temps que vous avez déjeuné ?

† Combien de temps y a-t-il que vous avez déjeuné ?

† Il n'y a pas long temps que j'ai déjeuné.

† Il y a très long temps que.

† Il y a peu de temps que.

† Combien de temps y a-t-il que vous avez entendu parler de votre frère ?

† Il y a un an que j'ai entendu parler de lui.

† Il y a un an que j'en ai entendu parler.

Obs. B. Than, when before a number, is rendered by de.

More than nine.

More than twenty times.

It is hardly six months since.

Plus de neuf.Plus de vingt fois.

† Il y a à peine six mois que.

A few hours ago.	† Il y a quelques heures.
Half an hour ago.	† Il y a une demi-heure.
Two years ago.	† Il y a deux ans.
Two hours and a half ago.	† Il y a deux heures et demie. (See Note 2, Lesson XIX.)
A fortnight ago.	† Il y a quinze jours.
A fortnight.	† Quinze jours ¹ .

Have you been long in France?	† Y a-t-il long temps que vous êtes en France?
-------------------------------	--

Obs. C. In English the state of existence or of action, when in its duration, is always expressed in the preterperfect tense, whilst in French it is expressed by the present tense.

He has been in Paris these three years.	Il y a trois ans qu'il est à Paris.
I have been living here these two years.	Il y a deux ans que je demeure ici.

Obs. D. De temps is often not expressed, but understood. Ex.

How long have you had that horse?	Combien y a-t-il que vous avez ce cheval? (Instead of combien de temps y a-t-il.)
I have had it these five years.	Il y a cinq ans que je l'ai.

How long (since when)?	Depuis quand?
How long has he been here?	Depuis quand est-il ici?
These three days.	Depuis trois jours.
This month.	Depuis un mois.
I have seen him more than twenty times.	Je l'ai vu plus de vingt fois.
It is six months since I spoke to him.	Il y a six mois que je ne lui ai parlé.

Obs. E. When que means depuis que, il y a must be followed by the negative ne. In such instances the English use no negative.

Since I saw you it has rained very often.	Depuis que je ne vous ai vu il a plu très souvent.
It is more than a year since I heard of him.	Il y a plus d'un an que je n'en ai entendu parler.

To have just.

I have just seen your brother.

Venir 2 de.*

† Je viens de voir votre frère.

Obs. F. To express an action recently past, we often make use of the verb venir * immediately followed by the preposition de, and the infinitive.

He has just done writing.

The men have just arrived.

Has that man been waiting long?

He has but just come.

† Il vient d'écrire.

† Les hommes viennent d'arriver.

† Y a-t-il long temps que cet homme attend?

† Il ne fait que d'arriver.

To do one's best.

I will do my best.

He will do his best.

Dépenser 1.

Combien avez-vous dépensé aujourd'hui?

Il a cinquante écus par mois à dépenser.

Have the horses been found?

| Les chevaux ont-ils été trouvés?

 The passive participle agrees with the nominative in number, that is, when the nominative is plural the participle takes an s.

They have been found.

Where? When?

The men have been seen.

Our children have been praised and rewarded, because they have been good and studious.

By whom have they been rewarded?

By whom have we been blamed?

Ils ont été trouvés.

Où? Quand?

Les hommes ont été vus.

Nos enfants ont été loués et récompensés, parcequ'ils ont été sages et assidus.

De qui ont-ils été récompensés?

De qui avons-nous été blâmés?

To pass.
Before.

Passer 1.
Devant.

Obs. G. Before is expressed in French by avant when it denotes priority. (See Lesson XXVIII.), and by devant, when it signifies in presence of. Ex.

To pass before some one.

Passer devant quelqu'un.

To pass before a place.

Passer devant un endroit.

A place.

Un endroit.

I have passed before the theatre.

J'ai passé devant le théâtre.

He has passed before me.

Il a passé devant moi.

To spend time in something.

Passer le temps à quelque chose.

What do you spend your time in?

† 'A quoi passez-vous le temps?

I spend my time in studying.

† Je passe le temps à étudier.

What has he spent his time in?

† 'A quoi a-t-il passé le temps?

What shall we spend our time in?

† 'A quoi passerons-nous le temps?

To miss, to fail.

Manquer 1 (takes de before the infinitive).

The merchant has failed to bring the money.

Le marchand a manqué d'apporter l'argent.

You have missed your turn.

Vous avez manqué votre tour.

You have failed to come to me this morning.

Vous avez manqué de venir chez moi ce matin.

To be good for something.

† Être bon à quelque chose.

Of what use is that?

† 'A quoi cela est-il bon?

It is good for nothing.

† Cela n'est bon à rien.

The good-for-nothing fellow.

Le vaurien.

Is the gun which you have bought a good one?

Le fusil que vous avez acheté est-il bon?

No, it is worth nothing (good for nothing).

Non, il ne vaut rien.

To throw away.

Jeter 1 (rejeter).

Have you thrown away any thing?

Avez-vous jeté quelque chose?

I have not thrown away any thing.

Je n'ai rien jeté.

EXERCISES.

to warm myself.—Has your father used my horse?—He has used it.—Have our neighbours used our clothes?—They have not used them, because they did not want them.—Who has used my hat?—Nobody has used it.—Have you told your brother to come down?—I did not dare to tell him.—Why have you not dared to tell him?—Because I did not wish to wake him.—Has he told you not to wake him?—He has told me not to wake him when he sleeps.

162.

Have you shaved to-day?—I have shaved.—Has your brother shaved?—He has not shaved himself, but he got shaved.—Do you shave often?—I shave every morning, and sometimes also in the evening.—When do you shave in the evening?—When I do not dine at home.—How many times a day does your father shave?—He shaves only once a day, but my uncle shaves twice a day.—Does your cousin shave often?—He shaves only every other day (de deux jours l'un).—At what o'clock do you dress in the morning?—I dress as soon as I have breakfasted, and I breakfast every day at eight o'clock, or at a quarter past eight.—Does your neighbour dress before he breakfasts?—He breakfasts before he dresses.—At what o'clock in the evening dost thou undress?—I undress as soon as I return from the theatre.—Dost thou go to the theatre every evening?—I do not go every evening, for it is better to study than to go to the theatre.—At what o'clock dost thou undress when thou dost not go to the theatre?—I then undress as soon as I have supped, and go to bed at ten o'clock.—Have you already dressed the child?—I have not dressed it yet, for it is still asleep (dort encore).—At what o'clock does it get up?—It gets up as soon as it is waked.—Do you rise as early as I?—I do not know at what o'clock you rise, but I rise as soon as I awake.—Will you tell my servant to wake me to-morrow at four o'clock?—I will tell him.—Why have you risen so early?—My children have made such a (tant de) noise that they wakened me.—Have you slept well?—I have not slept well, for you made too much noise.—At what o'clock did the good captain awake?—He awoke at a quarter past five in the morning.

163.

How did my child behave?—He behaved very well.—How did my brother behave towards you?—He behaved very well towards me, for he behaves well towards every body.—Is it worth while to write to that man?—It is not worth while to write to him.—Is it worth while to dismount from my horse in order to buy a cake?—It is not worth while, for it is not long since you ate.—Is it worth while to dismount from my horse in order to give something to that poor man?—Yes, for he seems (paraît) to want it; but you can give him something without dismounting from your horse.—Is it better to go to the theatre than to study?—It is better to do the latter than the former.—Is it better to learn to read French than to speak it?—It is not worth while to learn to read it without learning to speak it.—Is it better to go to bed than to go a walking?—It is better to do the latter than the former.—Is it better to go to France than to Germany?—It is not worth while to go to France or to Germany when one has no wish to travel.—Did you at last get rid of that man?—I did get rid of him.—Why has your father parted with his horses?—Because he did not want them any more.—Has your merchant succeeded at last to get rid of his damaged sugar?—He has succeeded in getting rid of it.—Has he sold it on credit?—He was able to sell it for cash, so that he did not sell it on credit.—Who has taught you to read?—I have learnt it with (chez) a French master.—Has he taught you to write?—He has taught me to read and to write.—Who has taught your brother arithmetic?—A French master has taught it him.—Do you call me?—I do call you.—What is your pleasure (que vous plaît-il, Lesson XLVII.)?—Why do you not rise: do you not know that it is already late?—What do you want me for (demander, Lesson XL.)?—I have lost all my money, and I come to beg (prier) you to lend me some.—What o'clock is it?—It is already a quarter past six, and you have slept long enough (assez dormi).—Is it long since you rose?—It is an hour and a half since I rose.—Do you wish to take a walk with me?—I cannot go a walking, for I am waiting for my French master.

FIFTY-THIRD LESSON.

Cinquante-troisième Leçon.

To hope, to expect. | Espérer 1.

Obs. A. In verbs having the acute accent (') on the last syllable but one of the infinitive, the letter e takes the grave accent (`) in all persons and tenses where it is followed by a consonant having e mute after it, as: céder, to yield; je cède, I yield; tu cèdes, thou yieldest; il cède, he yields.

I hope.	J'espère.
Thou hopest.	Tu espères.
He hopes.	Il espère.
Do you hope?	Espérez-vous?
We do hope.	Nous espérons.

Do you expect to find him there?	Espérez-vous l'y trouver? (Obs. A. B. Lesson XXX.)
I do expect it.	Je l'espère.

To change (meaning, to exchange).	Changer 1.
To change one thing for another.	Changer quelque chose contre quelque chose.
I change my hat for his.	Je change mon chapeau contre le sien.

To change (meaning, to put on other things).	Changer 1 (takes de before substantive).
Do you change your hat?	† Changez-vous de chapeau?
I do change it.	† J'en change.
He changes his linen.	† Il change de linge.
They change their clothes.	† Ils changent d' habits.

To mix.

I mix among the men.
He mixes among the soldiers.
Among.

† Se mêler 1.

† Je me mêle parmi les hommes.
† Il se mêle parmi les soldats.
Parmi.

To recognise or to acknowledge.

Do you recognise that man?
It is so long since I saw him that I do not recollect him.

Reconnaître 4*. (Is conjug.
like its primitive *connaître, Less. XXVIII. and XXXIII.)

Reconnaissez-vous cet homme
Il y a si long temps que je ne l'ai vu que je ne le reconnais plus.

I have more bread than I can eat.

J'ai plus de pain que je n'en puis manger.

Obs. B. When there is a comparison between two sentences, the verb which follows plus, or moins, requires the negative ne.

That man has more money than he will spend.

There is more wine than is necessary.

You have more money than you want.

We have more shoes than we want.

That man has fewer friends than he imagines.

To fancy.

To think.

Cet homme a plus d'argent qu'il n'en dépensera.

Il y a plus de vin qu'il n'en faut.

Vous avez plus d'argent qu'il ne vous en faut.

Nous avons plus de souliers qu'il ne nous en faut.

Cet homme a moins d'amis qu'il ne pense.

S'imaginer 1.

Penser 1.

To earn, to gain, to get.

Has your father already started (departed)?

He is ready to depart.

Gagner 1.

Votre père est-il déjà parti?

Il est prêt à partir.

Ready.	Prêt (takes à before the inf.).
To make ready.	Préparer 1.
To make one's self ready.	Se préparer 1.
To keep one's self ready.	Se tenir * prêt .

To split.	Fendre 4.
To break somebody's heart.	Fendre le cœur à quelqu'un.
You break that man's heart.	Vous fendez le cœur à cet homme.
Whose heart do I break?	'A qui est-ce que je fends le cœur?

To spill.	Répandre 4.
To spread.	Étendre 4.
To expatiate, to lay stress upon.	S'étendre sur.
That man is always expatiating upon that subject.	Cet homme s'étend toujours sur ce sujet.
The subject.	Le sujet.
Always.	Toujours.
To stretch one's self along the floor.	S'étendre sur le plancher.

To hang on or upon.	Pendre 4 à.
The wall.	Le mur.
I hang my coat on the wall.	Je pends mon habit au mur.
He hangs his hat upon the tree.	Il pend son chapeau à l'arbre.
We hang our shoes upon the nails.	Nous pendons nos souliers aux clous.
The thief has been hanged.	Le voleur a été pendu.
Who has hanged the basket on the tree?	Qui a pendu le panier à l'arbre?
The thief.	Le voleur.
The robber, the highwayman.	Le brigand, le voleur de grand chemin.

You are always studious, and will always be so.	Vous êtes toujours studieux et vous le serez toujours.
---	--

Obs. C. The personal pronouns are almost always repeated in French before every verb of which they are the nominative case, whether they are or are not repeated in English; but when they are not in the nominative case they must always be repeated. Ex.

Your brother is, and will always be good.	Votre frère est toujours sage, et il le sera toujours.
A well-educated son never gives his father any grief; he loves, honours, and respects him.	Un fils bien élevé ne fait jamais de chagrin à son père; il l'aime, l'honore, et le respecte.

EXERCISES.

164.

Do you hope to receive a note to-day?—I hope to receive one.—From (de) whom?—From a friend of mine.—What dost thou hope?—I hope to see my parents to-day, for my tutor has promised me to take me to them.—Does your friend hope to receive any thing?—He hopes to receive something, for he has worked well.—Do you hope to arrive early in Paris?—We hope to arrive there at a quarter past eight, for our father is waiting for us this evening.—Do you expect to find him at home?—We do expect it.—For what have you exchanged your coach of which you have spoken to me?—I have exchanged it for a fine Arabian (Lesson XXVI.) horse.—Do you wish to exchange your book for mine?—I cannot, for I want it to study French.—Why do you take your hat off?—I take it off because I see my old master coming (je vois venir).—Do you put on another (changer) hat to go to the market?—I do not put on another to go to the market, but to go to the concert.—When will the concert take place?—It will take place the day after to-morrow.—Why do you go away? Do you not amuse yourself here?—You are mistaken when you say, that I do not amuse myself here, for I assure you that I find a great deal of (beaucoup de) pleasure in conversing (à causer) with you; but I am going because I am expected (on m'attend, Obs. A. Less. XLIV.) at my relation's ball.—Have you promised to go?—I have promised.—Have you changed your hat in order to go to the English captain?—I have changed my hat, but I have not changed my coat or my shoes.—How many times a day dost thou change thy clothes?—I change them to dine and to go to the theatre.

165.

Why do you mix among these men?—I mix among them in order to know what they say of me.—What will become of you if you always mix among the soldiers?—I do not know what will become of me, but I assure you that they will do me no harm, for they do not hurt any body.—Have you recognised your father?—It was so long since I saw him, that I did not recognise him.—Has he recognised you?—He recognised me instantly.—How long have you had this coat?—It is a long time since I have had it.—How long has your brother had that gun?—He has had it a great while.—Do you still (toujours) speak French?—It is so long since I spoke it, that I have nearly forgotten it all.—How long is it since your cousin has been learning French?—It is only three months since.—Does he know as much as you?—He knows more than I, for he has been learning it longer.—Do you know why that man does not eat?—I believe he is not hungry, for he has more bread than he can eat.—Have you given your son any money?—I have given him more than he will spend.—Will you give me a glass of cider?—You need not drink cider, for there is more wine than is necessary.—Am I to sell my gun in order to buy a new hat?—You need not sell it, for you have more money than you want.—Do you wish to speak to the shoemaker?—I do not wish to speak to him, for we have more shoes than we want.—Why do the French rejoice?—They rejoice because they flatter themselves they have many good friends.—Are they not right in rejoicing (de se réjouir)?—They are wrong, for they have fewer friends than they imagine.

166.

Are you ready to depart with me?—I am so.—Does your uncle depart with us?—He departs with us if he pleases (s'il le veut).—Will you tell him to be ready to start to-morrow at six o'clock in the evening?—I will tell him so.—Is this young man ready to go out?—Not yet, but he will soon be ready.—Why have they hanged that man?—They have hanged him because he has killed somebody.—Have they hanged the man who stole (Lesson XXXVIII.) a horse from your brother?—They have punished him, but they have not hanged him; they only hang highwaymen in our country.—What have you done with my coat?—I have hanged it on the wall.—Will you hang my hat upon the tree?—I will hang it thereon.—Have you not seen my shoes?—I found them under your bed, and have hanged them upon the nails.—Has the thief who stole your gun been hanged?—He has been punished, but he has not been hanged.—Why do you expatiate so much upon that subject?—Because it is necessary to speak upon all subjects.—If it is necessary to (s'il faut) listen to you, and to answer you when you expatiate upon that subject, I will hang my hat upon the nail (repeat the pronoun je before each verb), stretch myself along the floor, listen to you, and answer you as well as I can.—You will do well.

FIFTY-FOURTH LESSON.

Cinquante-quatrième Leçon.

To be well.	† Se porter bien.
How do you do ?	† Comment vous portez-vous ?
I am well.	† Je me porte bien.

Obs. A. The verbs to be and to do are both expressed in French by the reflective verb, se porter, when they are used in English to inquire after, or to speak of a person's health.

How is your father ?	Comment se porte monsieur votre père ?
----------------------	--

Obs. B. The qualifications of monsieur, Mr. ; madame, Mrs. ; mademoiselle, Miss, usually precede the possessive pronouns in French, when we speak to a person respecting his parents, relations, or friends, and we mean to pay them some respect.

He is ill.	Il se porte mal.
Your brother.	† Monsieur votre frère.
Your cousin.	† Monsieur votre cousin.
Your brothers.	† Messieurs vos frères.

Obs. C. It may be seen that the plural of monsieur is messieurs, mon being changed into mes.

Your uncles.	† Messieurs vos oncles.

 à Berlin?
 Je ne m'y suis arrêté que trois jours.

To sojourn, to stay.
 Where does your brother stay at present?
 At present, actually.
 The residence, stay, abode.
 Paris is a fine place to live in.

Séjourner 1.
 Où Monsieur votre frère séjournet-il actuellement?
 Actuellement.
 Le séjour.
 † C'est un beau séjour que Paris.

After reading.
 After cutting myself.

† Après avoir lu.
 † Après m'être coupé.

Obs. See  Lesson XL.

After dressing yourself.
 After dressing himself.
 After shaving ourselves.
 After warming themselves.
 I returned the book after reading it.
 I threw the knife away after cutting myself.
 You went to the concert after dressing yourself.
 He went to the theatre after dressing himself.
 We breakfasted after shaving ourselves.
 They went out after warming themselves.

† Après vous être habillé.
 † Après s'être habillé.
 † Après nous être rasés.
 † Après s'être chauffés.

(Lesson XXXV.)—How is your patient?—He is a little better to-day than yesterday.—Is it long since you saw your brothers (Messieurs vos frères)?—I saw them two days ago.—How art thou?—I am tolerably well.—How long has your cousin been learning French?—He has been learning it only three months.—Does he already speak it?—He already speaks, reads, and writes it better than your brother who has been learning it these two years.—Is it long since you heard of my uncle?—It is hardly a fortnight (quinze jours) since I heard of him.—Where is he staying now?—He is staying at Berlin, but my father is in London.—Did you stay long at Vienna?—I stayed there a fortnight.—How long did your cousin stay at Paris?—He stayed there only a month.—Do you like to speak to my uncle?—I like much to speak to him, but I do not like him to (qu'il se moque) laugh at me.—Why does he laugh at you?—He laughs at me because I speak badly.—Why has your brother no friends?—He has none because he criticises every body.—Why are you laughing at that man?—I do not intend (je n'ai pas dessein) to laugh at him.—I beg (prier) you not to do it, for you will break his heart if you laugh at him.—Do you doubt what I am telling you?—I do not doubt it.—Do you doubt what that man has told you?—I doubt it, for he has often told stories (*mentir, Lesson XLIV.).—Have you at last bought the horse which you wished to buy last month?—I have not bought it, for I have not been able to procure money.

Has your uncle at last bought the garden?—He has not bought it, for he could not agree about the price.—Have you at last agreed about the price of that picture?—We have agreed about it.—How much have you paid for it?—I have paid fifteen hundred francs for it.—What hast thou bought to-day?—I have bought two fine horses, three beautiful pictures, and a fine gun.—For how much hast thou bought the pictures?—I have bought them for seven hundred francs.—Do you find them dear?—I do not find them dear.—Have you agreed with your partner?—I have agreed with him.—Does he consent to pay you the price of the ship?—He consents to pay it me.—Do you consent to go to France?—I consent to go thither.—Have you seen your old friend again (revoir *, conjug. like voir *, Lessons XXIV. and XXXIII.)?—I have seen him again.—Did you recognise him?—I could hardly (je ne l'ai presque plus) recognise him, for, contrary to his custom, he wears a large hat.—How is he?—He is very well.—What garments does he wear?—He wears beautiful new garments.—Have you taken notice of what your boy has done?—I have taken notice of it.—Have you (l'en) punished him for it?—I have punished him for it.—Has your father already written to you?—Not yet; but I expect (je m'attends) to receive a note from him to-day.—Of what do you complain?—I complain of not being able to procure some money.—Why do these poor men complain?—They complain because they cannot procure any thing to eat.—How are your parents?—They are as usual (comme à l'ordinaire), very well.—Is your uncle well?—He is better than he usually is.—Have you already heard of your friend who is in Germany?—I have already written to him several times; however he has not answered me yet.

What have you done with the books which the English captain has lent you?—I have returned them to him after reading them.—Why have you thrown away your knife?—I have thrown it away after cutting myself.—When did I go to the concert?—You went thither after dressing yourself.—When did your brother go to the ball?—He went thither after dressing himself.—When did you breakfast?—We breakfasted after shaving ourselves.—When did our neighbours go out?—They went out after warming themselves.—Why have you punished your boy?—I have punished him because he has broken my finest glass. I gave him some wine, and instead of drinking it, he spilt it on the new carpet, and (et il) broke the glass.—What did you do this morning?—I shaved after rising, and went out after breakfasting.—What did your father do last night (hier soir)?—He supped after going to the play, and went to bed after supping.—Did he rise early?—He rose at sunrise. (See end of Lesson XXIV.)

FIFTY-FIFTH LESSON.

Cinquante-cinquième Leçon.

FEMININE SUBSTANTIVES AND ADJECTIVES.

DECLENSION OF THE DEFINITE ARTICLE FEMININE.

		Nom.	Gen.	Dat.	Acc.
The	Singular....	La,	de la,	à la,	la.
	Plural.....	Les,	des,	aux,	les.

Obs. A. It will be observed that the plural of the definite article is alike for both genders. (See Lesson IX.)

When the definite article stands before a vowel or an h mute, in the singular it is also alike for both genders, viz. Nom. l', the; Gen. de l', of the; Dat. à l', to the; Acc. l', the. (See Lesson IV.)

	Singular.	Plural.
The woman—women.	La femme,	les femmes.
The mother.	La mère,	les mères.
The daughter or the girl.	La fille,	les filles.
The sister.	La sœur,	les sœurs.
The candle.	La chandelle,	les chandelles.
The bottle.	La bouteille,	les bouteilles.
The key.	La clef,	les clefs.
The shirt or shift.	La chemise,	les chemises.

She—they.	Elle—elles. (See Table of the Personal Pronouns, Less. XX.)
Has she?	A-t-elle?
She has.	Elle a.
She has not.	Elle n'a pas.

Have they (feminine)?

They have. „

They have not. „

Ont-elles ?

Elles ont.

Elles n'ont pas.

	Nom.	Gen.	Dat.	Acc.
My (feminine singular).	Ma,	de ma,	à ma,	ma.
Thy. „	Ta,	de ta,	à ta,	ta.
His, her. „	Sa,	de sa,	à sa,	sa.
My (plural for both genders).	Mes,	de mes,	à mes,	mes.

Obs. B. In the plural the possessive pronouns are always alike for both genders. (See Lesson IX.)

The father and his son or his daughter.	Le père et son fils ou sa fille.
The mother and her son or her daughter.	La mère et son fils ou sa fille.
The child and its brother or its sister.	L'enfant et son frère ou sa sœur.

Obs. C. The following most important rule must be attended to.

RULE.—The English possessive adjectives or pronouns are in the gender of the possessor; in French they must be in the gender of the thing possessed. My, thy, his, her, its, must be expressed by mon, ton, son, when the thing possessed is masculine, and by ma, ta, sa, when it is feminine, without considering in the least the gender of the possessor, as may be seen from the above examples.

	Singular.	Plural.
My pen, my pens.	Ma plume,	mes plumes.
Thy fork, thy forks.	Ta fourchette,	tes fourchettes.
His or her nut, his or her nuts.	Sa noix,	ses noix.
Our hand, our hands.	Notre main,	nos mains.
Your mouth, your mouths.	Votre bouche,	vos bouches.
Their door, their doors.	Leur porte,	leurs portes.

Obs. D. The personal pronoun leur must not be mistaken for the possessive leur. The former never takes an s, whilst the latter does when the possessed is in the plural. Ex. Je leur parle, I speak to them; je vois leurs frères et leurs sœurs, I see their brothers and their sisters.

The pretty woman.	La jolie femme.
The pretty women.	Les jolies femmes.

RULE.—All adjectives, without exception, end in e mute in the feminine singular, and es in the feminine plural.

The small candle,	the small candles.	La petite chandelle,	les petites chandelles.
The large bottle,	the large bottles.	La grande bouteille,	les grandes bouteilles.

Which woman?	which women?	Quelle femme?	quelles femmes?
Which daughter?	which daughters?	Quelle fille?	quelles filles?

This or that woman.	Cette femme.
These or those women.	Ces femmes.

This young lady,	these young ladies.	Cette demoiselle-ci,	ces demoiselles-ci.
That young lady,	those young ladies.	Cette demoiselle-là,	ces demoiselles-là.

The hand,	the hands.	La main,	les mains.
The right hand.		La main droite.
The left hand.		La main gauche.
I have a sore hand.		J'ai mal à la main.

Obs. E. Avoir mal is used with the dative in French to express that a part of the body is affected with illness or pain. (Lesson XXV.)

The tooth,	the teeth.	La dent,	les dents.
Have you the tooth-ache?		Avez-vous mal aux dents?
I have the head-ache.		J'ai mal à la tête.
I feel a pain in my side.		J'ai mal au côté.
His feet are sore.		Il a mal aux pieds.
The face.		La figure.
The mouth.		La bouche.
The cheek.		La joue.
The tongue, the language.		La langue.

The door.	La porte.
The window.	La fenêtre.
The street.	La rue.
The town.	La ville.
The linen.	La toile.
The old woman.	La vieille femme.

REMARK.

From what precedes this principle may be deduced :—The characteristic ending of French feminine nouns and adjectives is the letter e. (See p. 24 in my Treatise on the Gender of French Substantives.) There are, however, some adjectives which have this ending also in the masculine, and then they are of both genders, as :

An amiable man.	Un homme aimable.
An amiable woman.	Une femme aimable.
The room.	La chambre.
The front room.	La chambre du devant or sur le devant.
The back room.	La chambre du derrière or sur le derrière.
The upper room.	La chambre du haut.

PARTITIVE ARTICLE FEMININE.

Nom. }	Gen. de.
Acc. }	Dat. à de la.

Obs. F. For the plural of this article, and when it stands before an adjective, see Lesson XI.

Some light.	De la lumière.
Some silk.	De la soie.
Some good soup.	De bonne soupe.

Obs. G. Most adjectives ending in el, eil, ien, on, and et, double their final consonant before the e mute of the feminine. Examples :

A cruel certitude.	Une cruelle certitude.
Such a promise.	Une pareille promesse.
An old acquaintance.	Une ancienne connaissance.
A good truth.	Une bonne vérité.
A dumb woman.	Une femme muette .

Obs. H. In the masculine the above adjectives would be cruel, pareil, ancien, bon, muet.

INDEFINITE ARTICLE FEMININE.

Nom. }	une.	Gen. d'une.
Acc. }		Dat. à une.

A virtuous woman.		Une femme vertueuse.
-------------------	--	----------------------

Obs. I. Adjectives ending in the masculine in x become feminine by changing x into se; as, masc. vertueux; fem. vertueuse, virtuous.

A happy young lady.		Une demoiselle heureuse ¹ .
An active young woman.		Une jeune personne ² active.

Obs. K. Adjectives ending in the masculine in f, become feminine by changing f into ve: as, masc. actif; fem. active, active.

A new gown.		Une robe neuve ³ .
An ingenious proposal.		Une proposition naïve ⁴ .

Have you my pen?		Avez-vous ma plume?
No, Madam, I have it not.		Non, Madame, je ne l'ai pas.
Which bottle have you broken?		Quelle bouteille avez-vous cassée?
Which door have you opened?		Quelle porte avez-vous ouverte?

 The past participle agrees with its noun in gender as well as in number.

Which windows have you opened?		Quelles fenêtres avez-vous ouvertes?
Which bottles has the woman broken?		Quelles bouteilles la femme a-t-elle cassées?
Which young lady have you conducted to the ball?		Quelle demoiselle avez-vous conduite au bal?
Which water have you drunk?		Quelle eau avez-vous bue?
Which letters have you written?		Quelles lettres avez-vous écrites?
These.		Celles-ci.
Those.		Celles-là.
Have you this or that pen?		Avez-vous cette plume-ci ou celle-là?
I have neither this nor that.		Je n'ai ni celle-ci ni celle-là.

² Personne as a pronoun is masculine, as a substantive it is feminine.

³ From the masculine neuf.

⁴ From the masculine naïf.

It or her—them.

Do you see that woman?
 I see her.
 Have you seen my sisters?
 No, my lady, I have not seen them.

La—les.

Voyez-vous cette femme?
 Je la vois.
 Avez-vous vu mes sœurs?
 Non, Mademoiselle, je ne les ai pas vues.

To her, to him—to them.

Do you speak to my sisters?
 I speak to them.
 Some coarse linen.
 Some good water.
 A napkin, a towel.

Lui—leur. (See Obs. D. above.)
 Parlez-vous à mes sœurs?
 Je leur parle.
 De grosse toile.
 De bonne eau.
 Une serviette.

Obs. L. Some adjectives form their feminine in various ways, viz.

1. The following double the last consonant :

	Masculine.	Feminine.
Low.	Bas,	basse.
Thick.	Épais,	épaisse.
Express.	Exprès,	expresse.
Genteel, gentle, pretty.	Gentil,	gentille.
Fat.	Gras,	grasse.
Big.	Gros,	grosse.
Weary.	Las,	lasse.
No, none.	Nul,	nulle.
Initiated.	Profès,	professe.
Silly.	Sot,	sotte.

2. The following double the letter l.

Handsome.	$\left\{ \begin{array}{l} \text{before a conso-} \\ \text{nant} \end{array} \right\}$ Beau $\left\{ \begin{array}{l} \text{before a vowel} \\ \text{or } h \text{ mute} \end{array} \right\}$ Bel	$\left. \begin{array}{l} \\ \end{array} \right\} \text{belle.}$
New.	$\left\{ \begin{array}{l} \text{before a conso-} \\ \text{nant} \end{array} \right\}$ Nouveau $\left\{ \begin{array}{l} \text{before a vowel} \\ \text{or } h \text{ mute} \end{array} \right\}$ Nouvel	$\left. \begin{array}{l} \\ \end{array} \right\} \text{nouvelle.}$
Old.	$\left\{ \begin{array}{l} \text{before a conso-} \\ \text{nant} \end{array} \right\}$ Vieux $\left\{ \begin{array}{l} \text{before a vowel} \\ \text{or } h \text{ mute} \end{array} \right\}$ Vieil	$\left. \begin{array}{l} \\ \end{array} \right\} \text{vieille.}$

Foolish. { Fou
Fol⁵ } folle.

Soft. { Mou
Mol⁶ } molle.

3. Several, which in the masculine terminate in eur, change this termination in the feminine, (a) some into euse, (b) others into rice, and (c) others again into eresse. Ex.

		Masculine.	Feminine.
(a) Deceitful	(eur—euse).	Trompeur,	trompeuse.
Lying	„ „ .	Menteur,	menteuse.
Talkative	„ „ .	Parleur,	parleuse.
(b) Executing	(eur—rice).	Exécuteur,	exécutrice.
Persecuting	„ „ .	Persécuteur,	persécutrice.
(c) Enchanting	(eur--eresse).	Enchanteur,	enchanteresse.
Sinning	„ „ .	Pécheur,	pécheresse.
Avenging	„ „ .	Vengeur,	vengeresse.

4. The following form their feminine quite irregularly :

Absolved.	Absous,	absoute.
Benign.	Bénin,	bénigne.
White.	Blanc,	blanche.
Declining.	Caduc,	caduque.
Sweet.	Doux,	douce.
False.	Faux,	fausse.
Favourite.	Favori,	favorite.
Fresh.	Frais,	fraîche.
Free.	Franc,	franche.
Greek.	Grec,	grecque.
Long.	Long,	longue.
Wicked.	Malin,	maligne.
Public.	Public,	publique.
Red.	Roux,	rousse.

⁵ Fol is used instead of fou before nouns beginning with a vowel. Fol always precedes, and fou always follows its substantive. Ex. Un marché fou, a foolish bargain; un fol espoir, a foolish hope. Substantively fou means a madman, and folle a mad woman.

⁶ Formerly mol was more in use than mou. The Academy writes: “Un homme mou et efféminé,” a weak and effeminate man. We read, however, in Buffon, “Les Chinois sont des peuples mols,” the Chinese are an effeminate people.

Dry.	Sec,	sèche.
Third.	Tiers,	tierce.
Turkish.	Turc,	Turque.
Traitorous.	Traître,	traîtresse.

Obs. M. As for the plural of adjectives, it is formed like that of the substantives (Lesson IX.). Of the following twenty-eight adjectives the first eighteen have no plural for the masculine; the last ten may form it by adding an s; but it is better to avoid using them in the plural for the masculine gender.

Austral,	southern.	Sentimental,	sentimental.
Bénéficial,	beneficiary.	Vocal,	vocal.
Boréal,	northern.	Zodiacal,	zodiacal.
Brumal,	brumal.

were not many.—Has your cousin (fem.) any strawberries?—She has so many that she cannot eat them all.

175.

Why do your sisters not go to the play?—They cannot go thither because they have a cold, and that makes them very ill.—Where did they catch a cold?—They caught a cold in going from the opera last night.—Does it suit your sister to eat some peaches?—It does not suit her to eat any, for she has already eaten a good many, and if she eats so much it will make her ill.—Did you sleep well last night?—I did not sleep well, for my children made too much noise in my room.—Where were you last night?—I was at my brother-in-law's.—Did you see your sister-in-law?—I did see her.—How is she?—She is better than usual.—Did you play?—We did not play, but we read some good books; for my sister-in-law likes to read better than to play.—Have you read the gazette to-day?—I have read it.—Is there any thing new in it?—I have not read any thing new in it.—Where have you been since I saw you?—I have been at Vienna, Paris, and Berlin.—Did you speak to my aunt?—I did speak to her.—What does she say?—She says that she wishes to see you.—Whither have you put my pen?—I have put it upon the bench.—Do you intend to see your niece to-day?—I intend to see her, for she has promised me to dine with us.—I admire (admirer) that family (la famille), for the father is the king and the mother is the queen of it. The children and the servants are the subjects (le sujet) of the state (l'état). The tutors of the children are the ministers (le ministre), who share (partager) with the king and the queen the care (le soin) of the government (le gouvernement). The good education (l'éducation, fem.) which is given to children (See Obs. A. Lesson XLIV.) is the crown (la couronne) of monarchs (le monarque).

176.

Have you already hired a room?—I have already hired one.—Where have you hired it?—I have hired it in William-street (dans la rue or rue Guillaume), number one hundred and fifty-two.—At whose house (chez qui) have you hired it?—At the house of the man whose son has sold you a horse.—For (pour) whom has your father hired a room?—He has hired one for his son, who has just arrived from France.—Why have you not kept your promise (la promesse)?—I do not remember what I promised you.—Did you not promise us to take us to the concert last Thursday?—I confess that I was wrong in promising you; the concert, however (cependant), has not taken place.—Does your brother confess his fault?—He confesses it.—What does your uncle say to (de) that note?—He says that it is written very well, but he admits that he has been wrong in sending it to the captain.—Do you confess your fault now?—I confess it to be a fault.—Where have you found my coat?—I have found it in the blue room (Obs. B. Lesson XXXVIII.).—Will you hang my hat on the tree?—I will hang it thereon.—How are you to-day?—I am not very well.—What is the matter with you?—I have a violent head-ache and a cold.—Where did you catch a cold?—I caught it last night in going from the play.

FIFTY-SEVENTH LESSON.

Cinquante-septième Leçon.

OF THE PRESENT PARTICIPLE.

THE present participle is formed from the first person plural of the present of the indicative by changing ons into ant.

We speak,	speaking.	1. Nous parlons,	parlant.
We finish,	finishing.	2. Nous finissons,	finissant.
We receive,	receiving.	3. Nous recevons,	recevant.
We render,	rendering.	4. Nous rendons,	rendant.

The five following verbs form exceptions to this rule :

To have,	having.	Avoir,	ayant.
To be,	being.	Être,	étant.
To expire ¹ ,	expiring.	Échoir,	écheant.
To know,	knowing.	Savoir,	sachant.
To become,	becoming.	Seoir,	séant.

Obs. A. This form of the verb is very seldom used in French ; for whenever it is used in English after a preposition it is rendered into French by the infinitive. (See ~~LES~~ Lessons XL. and LIV.) Yet it is used when an agent performs two actions at the same time, as for example :

The man eats while running.	L'homme mange en courant.
I correct while reading.	Je corrige en lisant.
I question while speaking.	Je questionne en parlant.
You speak while answering me.	Vous parlez en me répondant.

Obs. B. These examples show how the preposition en, in, always precedes the present participle, although it is sometimes not expressed, but understood.

¹ In speaking of a lease or a given portion of time.

To question.

The cravat.
 The carriage.
 The house.
 The letter.
 The table.
 The family.
 The promise.
 The leg.
 The sore throat.

 L'aliment.
 Le mets.
 Des mets salés.
 Du laitage.

The traveller.

Le voyageur.

To march, to walk, to step.

Marcher 1.

Obs. C. Marcher must not be mistaken for se promener. (Lesson XLIV.) The former means to walk, and the latter to walk for pleasure.

I have walked a good deal to-day.

J'ai marché beaucoup aujourd'hui.

I have been walking in the garden with my mother.

Je me suis promené dans le jardin avec ma mère.

To walk or travel a mile.

I do not meddle with other people's business.

Others, other people.

He employs himself in painting.

The art of painting.

Chemistry.

The chemist.

The art.

Strange.

It is strange.

To employ one's self in.To concern some one.To look at some one.

I do not like to meddle with things that do not concern me.

That concerns nobody.

To concern one's self about something.

To trouble one's head about something.

To attract.

Loadstone attracts iron.

Her singing attracts me.

To charm.

To enchant.

I am charmed with it.

The beauty.

† Se mêler de quelque chose.

De quoi vous mêlez-vous?

Je me mêle de mes propres affaires.

Cet homme se mêle toujours des affaires des autres.

Je ne me mêle pas des affaires d'autrui.

Autrui (indeterminate pronoun, without gender or plural).

{ † Il se mêle de peindre.

{ † Il s'occupe de peinture.

La peinture.

La chimie.

Le chimiste.

L'art (masculine).

Étrange, étonnant.

C'est étrange.

S'occuper 1 de or à.Concerner 1 or regarder 1 quelqu'un.Regarder 1 quelqu'un.

All beginnings are difficult.	Tous les commencements sont difficiles.

To create.	Créer 1.
Creation.	La création.
The Creator.	Le Créateur.
The benefit.	Le bienfait.
The fear of the Lord.	La crainte du Seigneur.
Heaven.	Le ciel.
The earth.	La terre.
Solitude.	La solitude.
The lesson.	La leçon.
The goodness.	La bonté. (See Obs. D. above.)
Flour, meal.	De la farine.
The mill.	Le moulin.

Obs. E. We have seen (Lesson XLIV.) that all reflective verbs are in French conjugated with the auxiliary être, to be, in their compound tenses. There are besides some other verbs which, in French, are likewise compounded with the auxiliary être, to be, though they are not reflective, and generally take to have for their auxiliary in English. They are the following :

To go,	aller 1 *.	To come in,	entrer 1.
To stop,	s'arrêter 1.	To die,	mourir 2 *.
To arrive,	arriver 1.	To be born,	naître 4 *.
To decay,	déchoir 3 *.	To set out,	partir 2 *.
To die,	décéder 1.	To go out,	sortir 2 *.

To fall,	tomber 1.	To attain,	parvenir 2 *.
To come,	venir 2 *.	To come back,	revenir 2 *.
To become,	devenir 2 *.	To happen,	survenir 2 *.
To disagree,	disconvenir 2 *.	(See Lesson XXXIV. Neuter Verbs.)
To intervene,	intervenir 2 *.

Has your mother come? | Votre mère est-elle venue ?

 The past participle of these verbs must agree in gender and number with the nominative of the verb être, to be.

She has not come yet.	Elle n'est pas encore venue .
Have the women already come ?	Les femmes sont-elles déjà venues ?
They have not come yet.	Elles ne sont pas encore venues .
Has your sister arrived ?	Votre sœur est-elle arrivée ?

EXERCISES.

Will you dine with us to-day ?—With much pleasure.—What have you for dinner (quels mets avez-vous) ?—We have good soup, some fresh and salt meat, and some milk food.—Do you like milk food ?—I like it better than (préférer à) all other food.—Are you ready to dine ?—I am ready.—Do you intend to set out soon ?—I intend setting out next week.—Do you travel alone (seul) ?—No, Madam, I travel with my uncle.—Do you travel on foot or in a carriage (Lesson XLII.) ?—We travel in a carriage.—Did you meet any one in your last journey (dans votre dernier voyage) to Berlin ?—We met many travellers.—What do you intend to spend your time in (Lesson XLIX.) this summer ?—I intend to take a short (petit) journey.—Did you walk much in your last journey ?—I like much to walk, but my uncle likes to go in a carriage.—Did he not wish to walk ?—He wished to walk at first (d'abord), but he wished to get into the coach (monter en voiture) after having taken a few steps, so that I did not walk much.—What have you been doing at school to-day ?—We have been listening to our professor.—What did he say ?—He made a long (grand) speech on (sur) the goodness of God. After saying, “ Repetition is the mother of studies, and a good memory is a great benefit of God," he said, "God is the Creator of heaven and earth; the fear of the Lord is the beginning of all wisdom."—What are you doing all day in this garden?—I am walking in it.—What is there in it that attracts you (qu'est-ce qui vous y attire)?—The singing of the birds attracts me (m'y attire).—Are there any nightingales in it?—There are some in it, and the harmony of their singing enchants me.—Have those nightingales more power over (sur) you than the beauties of painting, or the voice of your tender (tendre) mother, who loves you so much?—I confess the harmony of the singing of those little birds has more power over me than the most tender words (que les paroles les plus tendres) of my dearest friends.

What does your niece amuse herself with (Lesson XLIII.) in her solitude?—She reads a good deal, and writes letters to her mother.—What does your uncle amuse himself with in his solitude?—He employs himself in painting and chemistry.—Does he no longer do any business?—He no longer does any, for he is too old to do it.—Why does he meddle with your business?—He does not generally (ordinairement) meddle with other people's business, but he meddles with mine because he loves me.—Has your master made you repeat your lesson to-day?—He has made me repeat it.—Did you know it?—I knew it pretty well.—Have you also done some exercises?—I have done some, but what is that to you (qu'est-ce que cela vous fait) I beg (je vous prie)?—I do not generally meddle with things that do not concern me, but I love you so much that I concern myself much about (que je m'intéresse beaucoup à) what you are doing.—Does any one trouble his head about you?—No one troubles his head about me, for I am not worth the trouble (je n'en vaudrais pas la peine).—Who corrects your exercises?—My master corrects them.—How (comment) does he correct them?—He corrects them in reading them, and in reading them he speaks to me.—How many things (combien de choses) does your master do at the same time (à la fois)?—He does four things at the same time.—How so (comment cela)?—He reads and corrects my exercises, speaks to me and questions me all at once (tout à la fois).—Does your sister sing (chanter) while dancing?—She sings while working, but she cannot sing while dancing.—Has your mother left?—She has not left yet.—When will she set out?—She will set out to-morrow evening.—At what o'clock?—At a quarter to seven.—Have your sisters arrived?—They have not arrived yet, but we expect them this evening.—Will they spend (passer) the evening (Note 2, Less. LVI.) with us?—They will spend it with us, for they have promised me to do so.—Where have you spent the morning?—I have spent it in the country.—Do you go every morning to the country?—I do not go every morning, but twice a week.—Why has your niece not called upon me (venir voir quelqu'un)?—She is very ill, and has spent the whole day in her room. (See end of Lesson XXIV.)

FIFTY-EIGHTH LESSON.

Cinquante-huitième Leçon.

OF THE PAST FUTURE.

THE past or compound future is formed from the future of the auxiliary, and the past participle of the verb you conjugate. Ex.

I shall have loved.	J'aurai aimé.
Thou wilt have loved.	Tu auras aimé.
He or she will have loved.	Il ou elle aura aimé.
We shall have loved.	Nous aurons aimé.
You will have loved.	Vous aurez aimé.
They will have loved.	Ils (fem. elles) auront aimé.

I shall have come.	Je serai venu, Fem. venue.
Thou wilt have come.	Tu seras venu, „ venue.
He will have come.	Il sera venu.
She will have come.	Elle sera venue.
We shall have come.	Nous serons venus, Fem. venues.
You will have come.	Vous serez venus, „ venues ¹ .
They will have come.	Ils seront venus.
They will have come, fem.	Elles seront venues.

I shall have been praised.	J'aurai été loué, Fem. louée.
Thou wilt have been praised.	Tu auras été loué, „ louée.
He will have been praised.	Il aura été loué.
She will have been praised.	Elle aura été louée.

¹ It is hardly necessary to remark, that if you speak only to one person, i.e. when the second person plural vous is employed instead of the second person singular, tu, there is no s put to the past participle.

We shall have been praised.
 You will have been praised.
 They will have been praised.
 They (fem.) will have been praised.

Nous aurons été loués, fem. louées.
 Vous aurez été loués, „, louées.
 Ils auront été loués.
 Elles auront été louées.

To have left.

When I have paid for the horse I shall have only ten crowns left.
 How much money have you left?
 I have one franc left.
 I have only one franc left.
 How much has your brother left?
 He has one crown left.
 How much has your sister left?
 She has only three sous left.
 How much have your brothers left?
 They have one louis left.
 When they have paid the tailor they will have a hundred francs left.

† Rester 1.

Quand j'aurai payé le cheval il ne me restera que dix écus.
 Combien d'argent vous reste-t-il?
 Il me reste un franc.
 Il ne me reste qu'un franc.
 Combien reste-t-il à votre frère?
 Il lui reste un écu.
 Combien reste-t-il à votre sœur?
 Il ne lui reste que trois sous.
 Combien reste-t-il à vos frères?
 Il leur reste un louis.
 Quand ils auront payé le tailleur il leur restera cent francs.

Obs. A. In English the present, or the compound of the present, is used after the conjunctions, when, as soon as, or after, when futurity is to be expressed; but in French the future must in such instances always be employed. Ex.

When I am at my aunt's will you come to see me?
 After you have done writing will you take a turn with me?
 You will play when you have finished your exercise.
 What will you do when you have dined?
 When I have spoken to your brother I shall know what I have to do.

Quand je serai chez ma tante vien-drez-vous me voir?
Quand vous aurez fini d'écrire viendrez-vous faire un tour avec moi?
Vous jouerez, quand vous aurez fini
 votre thème.
 Que ferez-vous quand vous aurez
 dîné?
 Quand j'aurai parlé à votre frère je saurai ce que j'ai à faire.

IDIOMS WITH FAIRE.

Does it rain ?	† Fait-il de la pluie ?
It rains.	† Il fait de la pluie.
Does it snow ?	† Fait-il de la neige ?
It snows.	† Il fait de la neige.
Is it muddy ?	† Fait-il de la boue ?
It is muddy.	† Il fait de la boue.
Is it muddy out of doors ?	† Fait-il sale dehors ?
It is very muddy.	† Il fait très sale.
Is it dusty ?	† Fait-il de la poussière ?
It is very dusty.	† Il fait beaucoup de poussière.
Is it smoky ?	† Fait-il de la fumée ?
It is too smoky.	† Il fait trop de fumée.
Out of doors.	Dehors.

To enter, to go in, to come in.	Entrer 1 dans.
Will you go into my room ?	Voulez-vous entrer dans ma chambre ?
I will go in.	Je veux y entrer.
Will you go in ?	Y entrerez-vous ?
I shall go in.	J'y entrerai.

To sit down.

S'asseoir 3 *. (See Lesson LI.)

To sit, to be seated.Être assis ; fem. assise.

He is seated upon the large chair.

Il est assis sur la grande chaise.

She is seated upon the bench.

Elle est assise sur le banc.

To fill with.Remplir 2 de.

To fill a bottle with wine.

Remplir de vin une bouteille.

Do you fill that bottle with water ?

Remplissez-vous d'eau cette bouteille ?

I fill my purse with money.

Je remplis d'argent ma bourse.

He fills his belly with meat.

Il se remplit de viande le ventre (a vulgar expression).

The pocket.

La poche.

Have you come quite alone ?

Êtes-vous venu tout seul ?

No, I have brought all my men along with me.

Non, j'ai amené tout mon monde.

To bring. | Amener 1.

Obs. B. Amener must, in French, not be mistaken for apporter. The former is used when the object can walk, and the latter when it cannot. Ex.

He has brought all his men along with him.	Il a amené tout son monde.
Have you brought your brother along with you?	Avez-vous amené votre frère?
I have brought him along with me.	Je l'ai amené.
Have you told the groom to bring me the horse?	Avez-vous dit au palefrenier de m'amener le cheval?
The groom.	Le palefrenier.
Are you bringing me my books?	M'apportez-vous mes livres?
I am bringing them to you.	Je vous les apporte.
To take, to carry.	Mener 1.

Obs. C. The same distinction must be observed with regard to mener and porter as with amener and apporter. Ex.

Will you take that dog to the stable?	Voulez-vous mener ce chien à l'écurie?
I will take it thither.	Je veux l'y mener.
Are you carrying this gun to my father?	Portez-vous ce fusil à mon père?
I carry it to him.	Je le lui porte.
The cane, stick.	La canne.
The stable.	L'écurie.

To come down, to go down.

To go down into the well.

To go or come down the hill.

To go down the river.

Descendre 4.

Descendre dans le puits.

Descendre la montagné.

Descendre la rivière¹.

¹ The verb descendre takes the auxiliary avoir in its compound tenses when, as in these examples, it is construed with the accusative, otherwise it takes être. Ex. Il a descendu la montagne, he has gone down the mountain; elle est descendue d'une famille honorable, she is descended from an honourable family.

To alight from one's horse, to dismount.	Descendre de cheval. (Less. LII.)
To alight, to get out.	Descendre de voiture.
To go up, to mount, to ascend.	Monter 1.
To go up the mountain.	Monter la montagne.
Where is your brother gone to?	Où votre frère est-il allé?
He has ascended the hill.	Il a monté la colline ² .
To mount the horse.	Monter à cheval.
To get into the coach.	† Monter en voiture.
To get on board the ship.	Monter sur un vaisseau.
To desire, to beg, to pray, to request.	Prier 1 (takes de before in- finitive).
Will you desire your brother to come down?	Voulez-vous prier votre frère de descendre?
The beard.	La barbe.
The river.	La rivière, le fleuve.
The stream, torrent.	Le torrent.
To go or come up the river.	Remonter la rivière.

B. Lesson XXVI.).—Will you not come in? Will you not sit down?—I will sit down upon that large chair.—Will you tell me what has become of your brother?—I will tell you.—Where is your sister?—Do you not see her? She sits upon the bench.—Is your father seated upon the bench?—No, he sits upon the chair.—Hast thou spent all

Do you gain (gagner, Lesson LIII.) any thing by (à) that business?—I do not gain much by it (y), but my brother gains a good deal by it. He fills his purse with money.—How much money have you gained?—I have gained only a little, but my cousin has gained much by it. He has filled his pocket with money.—Why does that man not work?—He is a good-for-nothing fellow, for he does nothing but eat all the day long. He continually (toujours) fills his belly with meat, so that he will make himself (se rendre) ill if he continues (continuer) to eat so much.—With what have you filled that bottle?—I have filled it with wine.—Will this man take care of my horse?—He will take care of it.—Who will take care of my servant?—The landlord will take care of him.—Does your servant take care of your horses?—He does take care of them.—Is he taking care of your clothes?—He takes care of them, for he brushes them every morning.—Have you ever drunk French wine?—I have never drunk any.—Is it long since you ate French bread?—It is almost three years since I ate any.—Have you hurt my brother-in-law?—I have not hurt him, but he has cut my finger.—What has he cut your finger with?—With the knife which you have lent him.

181.

Is your father arrived at last?—Every body says that he is arrived, but I have not seen him yet.—Has the physician hurt your son?—He has hurt him, for he has cut his finger.—Have they cut off (couper) that man's leg (à cet homme)?—They have cut it off.—Are you pleased (content) with your servant?—I am much pleased with him, for he is fit for any thing (propre à tout).—What does he know?—He knows every thing (tout).—Can he ride (monter à cheval)?—He can.—Has your brother returned at last from England?—He has returned thence, and has brought you a fine horse.—Has he told his groom to bring it to me?—He has told him to bring it you.—What do you think (que dites-vous) of that horse?—I think (je dis) that it is a fine and good one (qu'il est beau et bon), and beg you to lead it into the stable.—In what did you spend your time yesterday?—I went to the concert, and afterwards (ensuite) to the play.—When did that man go down into the well?—He went down into it this morning.—Has he come up again yet (remonter)?—He came up an hour ago.—Where is your brother?—He is in his room.—Will you tell him to come down?—I will tell him so, but he is not dressed (Lesson LII.) yet.—Is your friend still (toujours) on the mountain?—He has already come down.—Did you go down or up (remonter) the river?—We went down it.—Did my cousin speak to you before he started?—He spoke to me before he got into the coach.—Have you seen my brother?—I saw him before I went on board the ship.—Is it better to get into a coach than to go on board the ship?—It is not worth while to get into a coach or to go on board the ship when one has no wish to travel.

FIFTY-NINTH LESSON.

Cinquante-neuvième Leçon.

OF THE IMPERFECT.

THE imperfect of the indicative is formed from the present participle by changing ANT

	1st Person.	2d Person.	3d Person.
For the singular into	AIS,	AIS,	AIT.
For the plural into	IONS,	IEZ,	AIENT.

	Pres. Participle.	Imperfects.
Speaking—I spoke. 1. Parlant.	{	Je parlais, tu parlais, il (elle) parlait.
		Nous parlions, vous parliez, ils (elles) parlaient ¹ .
Finishing—I finished. 2. Finissant.	{	Je finissais, tu finissais, il (elle) finissait.
		Nous finissions, vous finissiez, ils (elles) finissaient.
Perceiving—I perceived. 3. Apercevant.	{	J'apercevais, tu apercevais, il (elle) apercevait.
		Nous apercevions, vous aperceviez, ils (elles) apercevaient.

¹ Formerly the orthography of the first and second persons singular, and the third person plural of the imperfect were je parlois, tu parlois, il parloit, ils parloient. Some authors still persist in this way of spelling, but they ought not to be imitated. The orthography we follow was first proposed in 1675 by a lawyer of the name of Bérain, and has since been adopted by the generality of French authors. According to the ancient orthography the conditionals and other words, as: j'aimerais, paraître, disparaître, faible, monnaie, Anglais, Français, Hollandais, Irlandais, &c. were written: j'aimerois, paroître, disparoître, foible, monnoie, Anglois, François, Irlandois, Hollandois, &c.

Pres. Par.Imperfects.

Rendering—I rendered.

4. Rendant.

{ Je rendais, tu rendais, il (elle) rendait.
 { Nous rendions, vous rendiez, ils (elles) rendaient.

Obs. A. There are only two exceptions to this rule, viz.

Having—I had.

3. Ayant.

{ J'avais, tu avais, il (elle) avait.
 { Nous avions, vous aviez, ils (elles) avaient.

Knowing—I knew.

3. Sachant

{ Je savais, tu savais, il (elle) savait.
 { Nous savions, vous saviez, ils (elles) savaient.

I was, thou wast, he (she) was.

We were, you were, they were.

J'étais, tu étais, il (elle) était.

Nous étions, vous étiez, ils (elles) étaient.

Obs. B. The imperfect is a past tense which was still present at the time spoken of, and may always be recognised by using the two terms "WAS DOING," or "USED TO DO." Ex.

When I was at Berlin I often went to see my friends.

EXERCISES.

182.

Were you loved when you were at Dresden (Dresde)?—I was not hated.—Was your brother esteemed when he was in London?—He was loved and esteemed.—When were you in Spain?—I was there when you were there.—Who was loved and who was hated?—Those that were good, assiduous, and obedient were loved, and those who were naughty (méchant), idle, and disobedient were punished, hated, and despised.—Were you in Berlin when the king was there?—I was there when he was there.—Was your uncle in London when I was there?—He was there when you were there.—Where were you when I was at Dresden?—I was in Paris.—Where was your father when you were in Vienna?—He was in England.—At what time did you breakfast when you were in France?—I breakfasted when my uncle breakfasted.—Did you work when he was working?—I studied when he was working.—Did your brother work when you were working?—He played when I was working.—On what (De quoi) lived our ancestors?—They lived on nothing but fish and game, for they went a hunting and a fishing every day.—What sort of people were the Romans?—They were very good people, for they cultivated the arts and sciences and rewarded merit.—Did you often go to see your friends when you were at Berlin?—I went to see them often.—Did you sometimes go to the Champs-Elysées when you were at Paris?—I often went thither.

183.

What did you do when you lived in that country?—When we lived there we went a fishing often.—Did you not go out walking (aller se promener)?—I went out walking sometimes.—Do you rise early?—Not so early as you, but when I lived at my uncle's I rose earlier than I do now.—Did you sometimes keep in bed when you lived at your uncle's?—When I was ill I kept in bed all day.—Is there much fruit this year?—I do not know; but last summer, when I was in the country, there was a great deal of fruit.—What do you get your livelihood by?—I get my livelihood by working.—Does your friend get his livelihood by writing?—He gets it by speaking and writing.—Do these gentlemen get their livelihood by working?—They get it by doing nothing (à ne rien faire), for they are too idle to work.—What has your friend gained that money by?—He has gained it by working.—What did you get your livelihood by when you were in England?—I got it by writing.—Did your cousin get his livelihood by writing?—He got it by working.—Have you ever seen such a person?—I have never seen such a one (une pareille).—Have you already seen our church?—I have not seen it yet. Where does it stand?—It stands outside the town. If you wish to see it I will go with you in order to show it you.—What do the people live upon that live on the sea-shore?—They live on fish alone.—Why will you not go a hunting any more?—I hunted yesterday the whole day, and I killed nothing but an ugly bird, so that I shall not go any more a hunting.—Why do you not eat?—Because I have not a good appetite.—Why does your brother eat so much?—Because he has a good appetite.

Whom are you looking for?—I am looking for my little brother.—If you wish to find him you must go (il faut aller) into the garden, for he is there.—The garden is large, and I shall not be able to find him if you do not tell me in which part (dans quelle partie) of the garden he is.—He is sitting under the large tree under which we were sitting yesterday.—Now I shall find him.—Why did you not bring my clothes?—They were not made, so that I could not bring them, but I bring them you now.—You have learnt your lesson; why has not your sister learnt hers?—She has taken a walk with my mother, so that she could not learn it, but she will learn it to-morrow.—When will you correct my exercises?—I will correct them when you bring me those of your sister.—Do you think you have made faults in them?—I do not know.—If you have made faults you have not studied your lessons well; for the lessons must be learnt well (il faut bien apprendre) to make no faults in the exercises.—It is all the same: if you do not correct them to-day, I shall not learn them before (ne les apprendrai que) to-morrow.—You must not (il ne faut pas) make any faults in your exercises, for you have all you want in order to make none.

SIXTIETH LESSON.

Soixantième Leçon.

THE IMPERFECT (CONTINUED).

I forgot, thou forgottest, he or she forgot.	J'oubliais, tu oubliais, il ou elle oubliait.
We forgot, you forgot, they forgot.	Nous oubliions, vous oubliiez, ils ou elles oubliaient.

Obs. A. All verbs whose present participle ends in iant, as oublier, oubliant; rire, to laugh, riant; prier, to pray, to desire, priant, &c. do not drop the letter i in the first and second persons plural of the imperfect of the indicative (and present of the subjunctive, of which hereafter).

When we went to school we often forgot our books.	Quand nous allions à l'école nous oubliions souvent nos livres.
When you went to church you often prayed to the Lord for your children.	Quand vous alliez à l'église vous priiez souvent le Seigneur pour vos enfants.

I paid, thou paidest, he or she paid.	Je payais, tu payais, il ou elle payait.
We paid, you paid, they paid.	Nous payions, vous payiez, ils ou elles payaient.

Obs. B. All verbs whose present participle ends in yant, as payer, payant; appuyer, to support, appuyant; croire, to believe, croyant; s'asseoir, to sit down, s'asseyant; employer, to employ, employant; envoyer, to send, envoyant; essayer, to try, essayant; fuir, to flee, fuyant; voir, to see, voyant, &c. do not drop the letter i after y in the first and second persons plural of the imperfect indicative (and present subjunctive, of which hereafter).

When we received some money we employed it in purchasing good books.	Quand nous recevions de l'argent nous l'employions à acheter de bons livres.
--	--

When you bought of that merchant you did not always pay in cash.

Quand vous achetiez chez ce marchand vous ne payiez pas toujours comptant.

Has your sister succeeded in mending your cravat?

Votre sœur est-elle parvenue à raccommoder votre cravate?

She has succeeded in it.

Elle y est parvenue.

Has the woman returned from the market?

La femme est-elle revenue du marché?

She has not yet returned.

Elle n'en est pas encore revenue.

Did the women agree to that?

Les femmes sont-elles convenues de cela?

They did agree to it.

Elles en sont convenues.

Where is your sister gone to?

Où votre sœur est-elle allée?

She is gone to the church.

Elle est allée à l'église.

OF THE CONDITIONAL OR POTENTIAL PRESENT.

This mood is formed from the Future by changing the endings.

RAI,	RAS,	RA,	RONS,	REZ,	RONT, into
RAIS,	RAIS,	RAIT,	RIONS,	RIEZ,	RAIENT.

Obs. C. It will be observed that it remains like the future as far as the letter R, after which it is exactly like the imperfect. Ex.

I shouldst have, thou wouldst have, he or she would have.

J'aurais, tu aurais, il ou elle aurait.

We should have, you would have, they would have.

Nous aurions, vous auriez, ils ou elles auraient.

I should be, thou wouldst be, he or she would be.

Je serais, tu serais, il ou elle serait.

We should be, you would be, they would be.

Nous serions, vous seriez, ils ou elles seraient.

I should speak, thou wouldst speak, he or she would speak.

Je parlerais, tu parlerais, il ou elle parlerait.

We should speak, you would speak, they would speak.

Nous parlerions, vous parleriez, ils ou elles parleraient.

Obs. D. Whenever this mood is used there is always an IF in the sentence expressed or understood; but the verb which follows IF must be in the imperfect tense.

If I had money I would have a new coat.

If thou couldst do this thou wouldst do that.

If he could he would.

I would go if I had time.

If he knew what you have done he would scold you.

To scold.

If there were any wood he would make a fire.

Should the men come it would be necessary to give them something to drink.

Should we receive our letters, we would not read them until to-morrow.

Not until (meaning not before).

Si j'avais de l'argent j'aurais un habit neuf.

Si tu savais faire ceci tu voudrais faire cela.

S'il pouvait il voudrait.

J'irais si j'avais le temps.

S'il savait ce que vous avez fait il vous gronderait.

Gronder 1.

S'il y avait du bois il ferait du feu.

Si les hommes venaient, il faudrait leur donner quelque chose à boire.

Si nous recevions nos lettres, nous ne les lirions pas avant demain.

Pas avant (takes de before inf.).

CONDITIONAL OR POTENTIAL PAST.

This is formed from the present of the conditional of the auxiliary and the past participle of the verb you conjugate. Ex.

I should, thou wouldst, he or she would have spoken.

We should, you would, they would have spoken.

J'aurais, tu aurais, il ou elle aurait parlé.

Nous aurions, vous auriez, ils ou elles auraient parlé.

I should, thou wouldst, he or she would have } departed.

We should, you would, they would have } departed.

Je serais, tu serais, il ou elle serait } fem. partie.

Nous serions, vous seriez, ils ou elles seraient } pl. mas. parties; pl. fem. parties.

If I had received my money I would have bought new shoes.
 If he had had a pen he would have recollected the word.
 If you had risen early, you would not have caught a cold.

If they had got rid of their old horse, they would have procured a better one.

If he had washed his hands he would have wiped them.

If I knew that, I would behave differently.

If I had known that, I would have behaved differently.

If thou hadst taken notice of that, thou wouldst not have been mistaken.

Si j'avais reçu mon argent, j'aurais acheté des souliers neufs.

S'il avait eu une plume, il se serait rappelé le mot.

Si vous vous étiez levé de bonne heure, vous ne vous seriez pas enrhumé.

S'ils s'étaient défait de leur vieux cheval, ils s'en seraient procuré un meilleur.

S'il s'était lavé les mains, il se les serait essuyées.

Si je savais cela, je me comporterais différemment.

Si j'avais su cela, je me serais comporté autrement.

Si tu t'étais aperçu de cela, tu ne te serais pas trompé.

—Why do you not eat?—I shall not eat before I have (avant d'avoir) a good appetite.—Has your sister a good appetite?—She has a very good appetite; that is the reason why she eats so much.—If you have read the books which I lent you why do you not return them to me?—I intend reading them once more (encore une fois); that is the reason why I have not yet returned them to you; but I will return them to you as soon as I have read them a second time (pour la seconde fois).—Why have you not brought my shoes?—They were not made, therefore I did not bring them; but I bring them you now: here they are.—Why has your daughter not learnt her exercises?—She has taken a walk with her companion (fem.); that is the reason why she has not learnt them: but she promises to learn them to-morrow, if you do not scold her.

187.

Would you have money if your father were here?—I should have some if he were here.—Would you have been pleased if I had had some books?—I should have been much pleased if you had had some.—Would you have praised my little brother if he had been good?—If he had been good I should certainly (certainement) not only (non seulement) have praised, but also loved, honoured (honorer), and rewarded him.—Should we be praised if we did our exercises?—If you did them without a fault (sans faute) you would be praised and rewarded.—Would my brother not have been punished if he had done his exercises?—He would not have been punished if he had done them.—Would my sister have been praised if she had not been skilful?—She would certainly not have been praised if she had not been very skilful, and if she had not worked from morning (depuis le matin) till evening.—Would you give me something if I were very good?—If you were very good, and if you worked well, I would give you a fine book.—Would you have written to your sister if I had gone to Paris?—I would have written to her, and sent her something handsome if you had gone thither.—Would you speak if I listened to you?—I would speak if you listened to me, and if you would answer me.—Would you have spoken to my mother if you had seen her?—I would have spoken to her, and have begged of her (prier quelqu'un) to send you a handsome gold watch (la montre en or) if I had seen her.

One of the valets de chambre (un des valets de chambre) of Louis XIV. (de Louis XIV.) requested that prince, as he was going to bed (comme il se mettait au lit), to recommend (de faire recommander) to the first president (à Monsieur le premier président) a law-suit (un procès) which he had against (contre) his father-in-law, and said, in urging him (en le pressant); "Alas (Hélas), Sire (Sire), you have but to say one word." "Well, (Eh !)" said Louis XIV., "it is not that which embarrasses me (ce n'est pas de quoi je suis en peine); but tell me (dis-moi), if thou wert in thy father-in-law's place (à la place de —), and thy father-in-law in thine, wouldst thou be glad (bien aise) if I said that word?"

If the men should come it would be necessary to give them something to drink.—If he could do this he would do that.—I have always flattered myself, my dear brother, that you loved me as much as I love you; but I now see that I have been mistaken. I should like (je voudrais) to know why you went a walking without me.—I have heard, my dear sister, that you are angry with me (être fâché contre quelqu'un), because I went a walking without you. I assure you, that had I known that you were not ill, I should have come for you (venir chercher quelqu'un); but I inquired (s'informer) at (chez) your physician's about your health (de votre santé), and he told me, that you had been keeping your bed (que vous gardiez le lit) the last eight days (depuis huit jours).

A French officer having arrived (étant arrivé) at the court (la cour) of Vienna, the empress Theresa (Thérèse) asked (demand) him, if he believed that the princess of N., whom he had seen the day before (la veille), was really the handsomest woman in the (du) world, as was said. (See Obs. A. Lesson XLIV.) "Madam," replied (répliqua) the officer, "I thought so yesterday."—How do you like (Lesson XLI.) that meat?—I like it very well.—May I ask you for (oserais-je vous demander) a piece of that fish?—If you will have the goodness (la bonté) to pass me your plate I will give you some.—Would you have the goodness to pour me out (verser) some drink (à boire)?—With much pleasure.—Cicero, seeing his son-in-law, who was very short (petit), arrive (venir) with a long sword (une longue épée) at his side (au côté), said, “Who has fastened (qui est-ce qui a attaché) my son-in-law to this sword?” (See end of Lesson XXIV.)

What has become of your uncle?—I will tell you what has become of him. Here is the chair (la chaise) upon which he often sat (être assis, Lesson LVIII.).—Is he dead?—He is dead.—When did he die?—He died two years ago.—I am very much afflicted (affligé) at it.—Why do you not sit down?—If you will stay with (auprès de) me I will sit down; but if you go I shall go along with you.—What has become of your aunt?—I do not know what has become of her.—Will you tell me what has become of your sister?—I will tell you what has become of her.—Is she dead?—She is not dead.—What has become of her?—She is gone to Vienna.—What has become of your sisters?—I cannot tell you what has become of them, for I have not seen them these two years.—Are your parents still alive?—They are dead.—How long is it since your cousin (fem.) died?—It is six months since she died.—Did wine sell well last year?—It did not sell very well (pas trop bien); but it will sell better (mieux) next year, for there will be a great deal, and it will not be dear.—Why do you open the door?—Do you not see how it smokes here?—I see it, but you must (il faut) open the window instead of opening the door.—The window does not open easily; that is the reason why I open the door.—When will you shut it?—I will shut it as soon as there is (Obs. A. Lesson LVIII.) no more smoke.—Did you often go a fishing when you were in that country?—We often went a fishing and a hunting.—If you will go with us into the country you will see my father's castle.—You are very polite, Sir; but I have seen that castle already.

When did you see my father's castle?—I saw it when I was travelling last year. It is a very fine castle, and is seen far off.—How is that said?—That is not said.—That cannot be comprehended.—Cannot every thing be expressed in your language?—Every thing can be expressed, but not as in yours.—Will you rise early to-morrow?—It will depend upon circumstances; if I go to bed early I shall rise early, but if I go to bed late I shall rise late.—Will you love my children?—If they are good I shall love them.—Will you dine with us to-morrow?—If you get ready (faire préparer) the food I like I shall dine with you.—Have you already read the letter which you received this morning?—I have not opened it yet.—When will you read it?—I shall read it as soon as I have time.—Of what use is that?—It is of no use.—Why have you picked it up?—I have picked it up in order to show it you.—Can you tell me what it is?—I cannot tell you, for I do not know; but I will ask (demander à, Lesson XL.) my brother, who will tell you.—Where did you find it?—I found it on the shore of the river, near the wood.—Did you perceive it from afar?—I had no need to perceive it from afar, for I passed by the side of the river.—Have you ever seen such a thing?—Never.—Is it useful to speak much?—It is according to circumstances: if one wishes to learn a foreign (étranger) language it is useful to speak a great deal.—Is it as useful to write as to speak?—It is more useful to speak than to write; but in order to learn a foreign language one must do both (l'un et l'autre).—Is it useful to write all that one says?—That is useless.

192.

Where did you take this book from?—I took it out of (dans) the room of your friend (fem.).—Is it right to take the books of other people?—It is not right, I know; but I wanted it, and I hope that your friend will not be displeased, for I will return it to her as soon as I have read (Obs. A. Lesson LVIII.) it.—What is your name?—My name is William (Guillaume).—What is your sister's name?—Her name is Eleanor (Léonore).—Why does Charles complain of his sister?—Because she has taken his pens.—Of whom do those children complain?—Francis (François) complains of Eleanor, and Eleanor of Francis.—Who is right?—They are both (tous deux) wrong; for Eleanor wishes to take Francis's books, and Francis Eleanor's.—To whom have you lent Racine's works (les œuvres de)?—I have lent the first volume to William and the second to Louisa (Louise).—How is that said in French?—It is said thus (ainsi).—How is that said in German?—That is not said in German.—Has the tailor brought you your new coat?—He has brought it me, but it does not fit (Lesson XLVII.) me well.—Will he make you another?—He will make me another; for rather than wear it I will give it away (donner).—Will you use that horse?—I shall not use it.—Why will you not use it?—Because it does not suit me.—Will you pay for it?—I will rather pay for it than use it.—To whom do those fine books belong (à qui appartiennent)?—They belong to William.—Who has given them to him?—His father.—Will he read them?—He will tear them rather than read them.—Who has told you that?—He has told me so himself (lui-même).

193.

What countrywoman is that lady (la dame)?—She is from France.—Are you from France?—No, I am from Germany.—Why do you not give your clothes to mend?—It is not worth while, for I must have new clothes.—Is the coat which you wear not a good one?—It is a half-worn coat, and is good for nothing.—Would you be sorry if your mother were to arrive to-day?—I should not be sorry for it.—Would your sister be sorry if she were rich?—She would not be sorry for it.—Are you angry with any one?—I am angry with Louisa, who went to the opera without telling me a word of it.—Where were you when she went out?—I was in my room.—I assure you that she is very sorry for it; for had she known that you were in your room, she would have called you in order to take you along with her to the opera.—Charles V., who spoke fluently several European languages, used to say (avait coutume de dire), that we should speak (qu'il fallait parler) Spanish with the gods, Italian with our (son) friend (fem.), French with our friend (mas.), German with soldiers, English with geese (une oie), Hungarian (hongrois) with horses, and Bohemian (bohémien) with the devil (le diable). How does your uncle look (quelle mine a —)?—He looks (à l'air) very gay (enjoué), for he is much pleased with his children.—Do his friends look (ont-ils la mine) as gay as he?—They, on the contrary, look sad, because they are discontented. My uncle has no money, and is always contented, and his friends who have a good deal of it, are scarcely ever so.—Do you like your sister?—I like her much, and as (et comme) she is very good-natured (complaisante) to (envers) me I am so to her; but how do you like yours?—We love each other, because we are pleased with each other.—A certain (certain) man liked much wine, but he found in it (lui) two bad qualities (une qualité). “If I put water to it,” said he, “I spoil it; and if I do not put any to it, it spoils me.”—Does your cousin resemble you?—He resembles me.—Do your sisters resemble each other?—They do not resemble each other; for the elder (l'aînée) is idle and naughty, and the younger (la cadette) assiduous and good-natured towards every body.—How is your aunt?—She is very well.—Does your mother enjoy good health?—She imagines she enjoys (s'imaginer jouir) good health, but I believe she is mistaken, for she has had a bad cough (la toux) these six months of which (dont) she cannot get rid.—Is that man angry with you?—I think he is angry with me because I (de ce que je) do not go to see him: but I do not like to go to his house, for when I go to him, instead of receiving me with pleasure, he looks displeased.—You must not believe that; he is not angry with you, for he is not so bad (méchant) as he looks (qu'il en a l'air). He is the best man in the (du) world; but one must know him in order to appreciate him (pour pouvoir l'apprécier).—There is a great difference (la différence) between you and him (lui); you look pleased with all those who come to see you, and he looks cross with them.

Is it right to laugh thus at every body?—If I laugh at your coat, I do not laugh at every body.—Does your son resemble any one?

—He resembles no one.—Why do you not drink?—I do not know what to drink, for I like good wine, and yours looks like vinegar.—If you wish to have some other I shall go down (descendre) into the cellar to fetch you some.—You are too polite, Sir, I shall drink no more to-day.—Have you known my father long?—I have known him long, for I made his acquaintance when I was yet at school. We often worked for one another, and we loved each other like brothers.—I believe it, for you resemble each other.—When I had not done my exercises he did them for me, and when he had not done his I did them for him.—Why does your father send for the physician?—He is ill, and as (et comme) the physician does not come he sends for him.—Ah (Ah), it is all over with me!—But, bless me (mon Dieu)! why do you cry thus (comme cela)?—I have been robbed (Obs. A. Lesson XLIV.) of my gold rings (la bague d'or), my best clothes, and all my money; that is the reason why I cry.—Do not make (ne faites pas) so much noise, for it is we who have taken them all (tout cela) in order to teach you to take better care (avoir plus de soin, Lesson L.) of your things (affaires), and to shut the door of your room when you go out.—Why do you look so sad?—I have experienced great misfortunes; after having lost all my money I was beaten by bad-looking men; and to my still greater ill-luck, I hear that my good uncle, whom I love so much, has been struck with apoplexy.—You must not afflict yourself (s'affliger) so much, for you know that we must yield to necessity.

SIXTY-FOURTH LESSON.

Soixante-quatrième Leçon.

Obs. A. How, how much, how many, before an exclamation, are translated by que. Ex.

How good you are !	{ Que vous êtes bon !
	{ Que de bonté vous avez !
How foolish he is !	Qu'il est sot !

Obs. B. The adjective which in English follows how stands in French after the verb, and when que is followed by a substantive de must always precede it.

How foolish she is !	Qu'elle est sotte !
How rich that man is !	Que cet homme est riche !
How handsome that woman is !	Que cette femme est belle !
How much kindness you have for me !	Que de bonté vous avez pour moi !
How many obligations I am under to you !	† Que d'obligations je vous ai !
To be under obligations to some one.	† Avoir des obligations à quelqu'un.
I am under many obligations to him.	† Je lui ai beaucoup d'obligations.
How many people !	Que de monde !
How happy you are !	Que vous êtes heureux !
How much wealth that man has !	Que de richesses cet homme a !
How much money that man has spent in his life !	Que d'argent cet homme a dépensé dans sa vie !

To be obliged to some one for something.	Être obligé à quelqu'un de quelque chose.

To thank.

To thank some one for something.

I thank you for the trouble you have taken for me.

Remercier ¹ (governs the accusative of the person, and the genitive of the object).

Remercier quelqu'un de quelque chose.

Je vous remercie de la peine que vous avez prise pour moi.

Obs. C. When one is thanked for any thing he answers :

There is no reason for it.

| † Il n'y a pas de quoi.

Is there any thing more grand ?

Is there any thing more cruel ?

Is there any thing more wicked ?

Can any thing be more handsome ?

Qu'y a-t-il de plus grand ?

Y a-t-il rien de plus cruel ?

Qu'y a-t-il de plus méchant ?

Est-il rien de plus beau ?

How large ? Of what size ?

How high ? Of what height ?

How deep ? Of what depth ?

De quelle grandeur ?

De quelle hauteur ?

De quelle profondeur ?

Obs. D. When speaking of dimension we use in French the verb avoir, when the English use the verb to be, and the preposition de stands before the noun or adjective of dimension. Ex.

Of what height is his or her house ?

It is nearly fifty feet high.

Our house is thirty feet broad.

That table is six feet long.

That river is twenty feet deep.

† Combien sa maison a-t-elle de haut ou de hauteur ?

† Elle a environ cinquante pieds de haut ou de hauteur.

† Notre maison a trente pieds de large ou de largeur.

† Cette table a six pieds de long ou de longueur.

† Cette rivière a vingt pieds de profondeur¹.

The size.

Of what size is that man ?

La taille.

De quelle taille cet homme est-il ?

¹ In general the substantive is more elegantly used than the adjective, but deep cannot be expressed by de profond.

How was that child dressed?

It was dressed in green.

The man with the blue coat.

The woman with the red gown.

Comment cet enfant était-il habillé?

† Il était habillé de vert.

† L'homme à l'habit bleu.

† La femme à la robe rouge.

True.

Is it true that his house is burnt?

It is true.

Is it not (or is it not true)?

Vrai.

Est-il vrai que sa maison est brûlée?

C'est vrai.

N'est-ce pas (n'est-il pas vrai)?

Perhaps.

I shall perhaps go thither.

To share, to divide.

Peut-être.

J'irai peut-être.

To quarrel.	Se quereller 1.
To quarrel with one.	† Quereller quelqu'un.
To dispute (to contend) about something.	Disputer sur quelque chose.
About what are these people disputing?	Sur quoi ces gens disputent-ils?
They are disputing about who shall go first.	† Ils disputent à qui ira le premier.

Thus or so.	Ainsi.
To be ignorant of, or	} Ignorer 1.
Not to know.
The day before.	La veille (takes de before the noun that follows it).
The day before that day was Saturday.	† La veille de ce jour-là était un samedi.
The day before Sunday is Saturday.	† La veille de dimanche est samedi.

EXERCISES.

201.

Can you not get rid of that man (Lesson LII.)?—I cannot get rid of him, for he will absolutely (à toute force) follow me.—Has he not lost his wits?—It may be (cela se peut).—What does he ask you for?—He wishes to sell me a horse which I do not want.—Whose houses are those?—They are mine.—Do these pens belong to you?—No, they belong to my sister.—Are those (sont-ce là) the pens with which she writes so well?—They are the same.—Whose gun is this?—It is my father's.—Are these books your sister's?—They are hers.—Whose carriage is this?—It is mine.—Which is the man of whom you complain?—It is he (celui) who wears a red coat.—“What is the difference (la différence) between a watch and me?” inquired (demand) a lady of a young officer.—“My lady,” replied he (lui répondit celui-ci), “a watch marks the hours, and near (auprès de) you one forgets them.”—A Russian peasant who had never seen asses (un âne), seeing (en voyant) several in France, said (dit), “Lord (mon Dieu), what large hares (le lièvre) there are in this country!”—How many obligations I am under to you, my dear friend! you have saved my life! without you I had been lost.—Have those miserable men hurt you?—They have beaten and robbed me, and when you ran to my assistance they were about to (ils allaient) strip (déshabiller) and kill me.—I am happy to have delivered you from the (des) hands of those robbers.—How good you are!

Will you go to Mr. Tortenson's to-night?—I shall, perhaps, go.—And will your sisters go?—They will, perhaps.—Had you any pleasure yesterday at the concert?—I had no pleasure there, for there was such a multitude of people there that one could hardly get in.—I bring you a pretty present with which you will be much pleased.—What is it?—It is a silk cravat.—Where is it?—I have it in my pocket (dans ma poche).—Does it please you?—It pleases me much, and I thank you for it with all my heart. I hope that you will at last accept (accepter) something of me.—What do you intend to give me?—I will not tell you, for if I do tell you, you will have no pleasure when I give it you.—Have you seen any one at the market?—I have seen a good many people there.—How were they dressed?—Some were dressed in blue, some in green, some in yellow, and several in red.—Who are those men?—The one who is dressed in grey is my neighbour, and the man with the black coat the physician whose son has given my neighbour a blow with the stick.—Who is the man with the green coat?—He is one of my relations.—Are there many philosophers in your country?—There are as many there as in yours.—How does this hat fit me?—It fits you very well.—How does that coat fit your brother?—It fits him admirably.—Is your brother as tall (grand) as you?—He is taller than I, but I am older (âgé) than he.—Of what size (de quelle taille) is that man?—He is five feet four inches (un pouce) high.—How high is the house of our landlord?—It is sixty feet high.—Is your well deep?—Yes, Sir, for it is fifty feet deep.—“There are many learned men (un savant) in Rome, are there not (n'est-ce pas)?” Milton asked a Roman. “Not so many as when you were there,” answered (répondit) the Roman.

Is it true that your uncle has arrived?—I assure you that he has arrived.—Is it true that the king has assured you of his assistance (de son assistance)?—I assure you that it is true.—Is it true that the six thousand (mille; takes no s in the plural) men, whom we were expecting, have arrived?—I have heard so.—Will you dine with us?—I cannot dine with you, for I have just eaten.—Will your brother drink a glass of wine?—He cannot drink, for I assure you that he has just drunk.—Why are those men quarrelling.—They are quarrelling because they do not know what to do.—Have they succeeded in extinguishing the fire?—They have at last succeeded in it; but it is said (on dit, Obs. A. Less. XLIV.) that several houses have been burnt.—Have they not been able to save any thing?—They have not been able to save any thing; for instead of extinguishing the fire, the miserable wretches (les misérables) who had come up, set to plundering.—What has happened?—A great misfortune has happened.—Why did my friends set out without me?—They waited for you till twelve o'clock, and seeing that you did not come they set out.—What is the day before Monday called?—The day before Monday is Sunday.—Why did you not run to the assistance of your neighbour whose house has been burnt?—I was quite (entièrement) ignorant of his house being on fire (que le feu fût à sa maison); for had I known it I would have run to his assistance. (See end of Lesson XXIV.)

EXERCISES.

Well (Eh bien)! does your sister make any progress?—She would make some, if she were as assiduous as you.—You flatter me.—Not at all; I assure you that I should be highly satisfied (très-content), if all my pupils worked like you.—Why do you not go out to-day?—I would go out if it were fine weather.—Shall I have the pleasure of seeing you to-morrow?—If you wish it I will come.—Shall I still be here when you arrive (à votre arrivée)?—Will you have occasion (occasion) to go to town this evening?—I do not know, but I would go now if I had an opportunity (une bonne occasion).—You would not have so much pleasure, and you would not be so happy, if you had not friends and books.—Man (l'homme) would not experience so much misery (la misère) in his career (la carrière), and he would not be so unhappy, were he not so blind (aveugle).—You would not have that insensibility (cette insensibilité) towards (pour) the poor, and you would not be so deaf (sourd) to their supplication (la prière), if you had been yourself in misery for some time (quelque temps).—You would not say that if you knew me well.—Why has your sister not done her exercises?—She would have done them if she had not been prevented.—If you worked more, and spoke oftener, you would speak better.—I assure you, Sir, that I should learn better if I had more time.—I do not complain of you, but of your sister.—

You would have no reason (vous n'auriez pas lieu) to complain of her, had she had time to do what you gave her to do.—Do you already know what has happened?—I have not heard any thing.—The house of our neighbour has been burnt down (brûlée).—Have they not been able to save any thing?—They were very fortunate (bien heureux) in saving the persons that were in it; but out of the (des) things that were there (se trouver), they could save nothing.—Who has told you that?—Our neighbour himself has told it me.

205.

Why are you without a light (sans lumière, Obs. A. Less. LII.)?—The wind blew it out when you came in.—What is the price of this cloth?—I sell it at (Obs. D. Lesson LIV.) three crowns and a half the ell.—I think (trouver) it very dear. Has the price of cloth not fallen?—It has not fallen: the price of all goods (la marchandise) has fallen, except that of cloth (excepté celui du drap).—I will give you three crowns for it (en).—I cannot let you have (donner) it for (à) that price, for it costs me (il me coûte) more.—Will you have the goodness to show me some pieces (la pièce) of English cloth?—With much pleasure.—Does this cloth suit you?—It does not suit me.—Why does it not suit you?—Because it is too dear; if you will lower the price (en rabattre quelque chose), I shall buy twenty yards of it.—Not having asked too much, I cannot take off any thing.—You learn French: does your master let you translate?—He lets me read, write, and translate.—Is it useful to translate in learning a foreign language?—It is useful to translate when you (on) nearly know the language you are learning; but while (quand) you do not yet know any thing it is entirely (tout-à-fait) useless.—What does your French master make you do?—He makes me read a lesson; afterwards he makes me translate English exercises into French on the lesson which he has made me read; and from the beginning to the end of the Lesson he speaks French to me, and I have to answer him (il me faut lui répondre) in the very language (dans la langue même) which he is teaching me.—Have you already learnt much in that manner?—You see that I have already learnt something, for I have hardly been learning in three months, and I already understand you when you speak to me, and can answer you.—Can you read (it) as well?—I can read and write as well as speak (it).—Does your master also teach German?—He teaches it.—Wishing to make (désirant faire) his acquaintance, I must beg of you (je vous prierai) to introduce me to him.

How many exercises do you translate a day?—If the exercises are not difficult I translate from three to four (trois à quatre) every day; and when they are so I translate but one.—How many have you already done to-day?—It is the third which I am translating; but to-morrow I hope to be able to do one more (un de plus), for I shall be alone (seul).—Have you paid a visit to my aunt?—I went to see her two months ago, and as she looked displeased, I have not gone to her any more since that time.—How do you do to-day?—I am very unwell (très-mal).—How do you like that soup?—I think (trouver) it is very bad; but since I have lost my appetite (l'appétit) I do not like any thing (je ne trouve rien de bon).—How much does that employment yield to your father?—It yields him more than four thousand (mille has no s in the plural) crowns.—What news do they mention (dire)?—They say nothing new.—What do you intend to do to-morrow?—I propose joining a hunting party.—Does your brother purpose playing (de faire) a game at billiards?—He proposes playing a game at chess.—Why do some people laugh when I speak?—Those are unpolite people; you have only to laugh also, and they will no longer laugh at you. If you did as I do (comme moi) you would speak well. You must study (il vous faut étudier) a little every day, and you will soon be no longer afraid to speak.—I will endeavour to follow your advice, for I have resolved (se proposer) to rise every morning at six o'clock, to study till ten o'clock, and to go to bed early.—Why does your sister complain?—I do not know; since she succeeds in every thing, and since (et qu'elle) she is happy, even happier than you and I, why does she complain?—Perhaps she complains (se plaint-elle) because she is not thoroughly acquainted with that business.—That may be (cela se peut).

EXERCISES.

I should like to (je voudrais bien) know why I cannot speak as well as you.—I will tell you: you would speak quite as well (tout aussi bien) as I, if you were not so bashful (timide). But if you had studied your lessons more carefully (mieux) you would not be afraid to speak; for in order to speak well one must know, and it is very natural (très naturel) that he who does not know well what he has learnt, should be timid (soit timide, pres. subj., of which hereafter). You would not be so timid as you are, if you were sure to make no faults.

I come to wish you a good morning.—You are very kind (aimable).—Would you do me a favour?—Tell me what you want, for I would do any thing (je ferais tout) to oblige you (pour vous obliger).—I want five hundred crowns, and I beg you to lend them to me. I will return them to you as soon as I have received my money. You would oblige (obliger) me much (beaucoup) if you would render (rendre) me this service.—I would do it with all my heart if I could; but having lost all my money, it is impossible for me (il m'est impossible) to render you this service.—Will you ask your brother whether he (s'il) is satisfied with (content de) the money which I have sent him?—As to my brother he is satisfied with it, but I am not so; for having suffered shipwreck (faire naufrage) I am in want of the money which you owe me.

Have they served up the soup?—They have served it up some minutes ago.—Then (alors) it must be cold, and I only like soup hot (la soupe chaude).—They will warm it for you.—You will oblige me (obliger).—Shall I help you to some of this roast meat?—I will trouble you for a little.—Will you eat some of this mutton?—I thank you, I like fowl better.—May I offer you (vous offrirai-je) some wine?—I will trouble you for a little.—Have they already brought in the dessert?—They have brought it in.—Do you like fruit?—I like fruit, but I have no more appetite.—Will you eat a little cheese?—I will eat a little.—Shall I help you to English or Dutch cheese?—I will eat a little Dutch cheese.—What kind of fruit is that?—It is stone-fruit.—What is it called?—It is called thus.—Will you wash your hands?—I should like to (je voudrais bien) wash them, but I have no towel to (pour) wipe them with.—I will let you have (faire donner) a towel, some soap, and some water.—I shall be much obliged (fort obligé) to you.—May I ask you for (oserais-je vous demander) a little water?—Here is some (en voici).—Can you do without soap?—As for soap I can do without it, but I must have a towel to wipe my hands with.—Do you often do without soap?—There are many things which we must do without.—Why has that man run away?—Because he had no other means of escaping the punishment (la punition) which he had deserved (mériter).—Why did your brothers not get (se procurer) a better horse?—If they had got rid of their old horse, they would have got a better.—Has your father arrived already?—Not yet, but we hope that he will arrive this very day (aujourd'hui même).—Has your friend set out in time (à temps)?—I do not know, but I hope he has (qu'il sera, Obs. A. Less. LVIII.) set out in time.

209.

Have you executed my commission?—I have executed it.—Has your brother executed the commission which I gave him?—He has executed it.—Would you (voudriez-vous) execute a commission for me?—I am under so many obligations to you that I will always execute your commissions, when it shall please you to give me any.—Will you ask the merchant whether (si) he can let me have (me donner) the horse at the price (au prix) which I have offered him?—I am sure that he would be satisfied if you would add a few crowns more.—If I were sure of that I would add a few crowns more.—Good morning, my children! have you done your task?—You well know that we always do it; for we must be ill (il faudrait que nous fussions malades, imperfect of the subjunctive, of which hereafter,) not to (pour) do it. What do you give us to do to-day?—I give you to study the sixty-sixth lesson, and to do the exercises belonging to it (qui en dépendent); that is to say, the 207th, 208th, and 209th. Will you endeavour to commit no errors (faire des fautes)?—We shall endeavour to commit none.—Is this bread sufficient for you?—It would be sufficient for me if I was not very hungry.—When did your brother embark for America?—He sailed on the 30th of last month.—Do you promise me to speak to your brother?—I promise you, you may depend upon it.—I rely upon you.—Will you work harder (mieux) for next lesson than you have done (que vous n'avez travaillé) for this?—I will work harder.—May I rely upon it?—You may.

EXERCISES.

Are you a judge of cloth?—I am a judge of it.—Will you buy some yards for me (m'en)?—If you will give me the money I will buy you some (vous en).—You will oblige (obliger) me.—Is that man a judge of cloth?—He is not a good judge of it.—How do you manage to do that?—I manage it so.—Will you show me how you manage it?—I will show you (je le veux bien).—What must I do (que me faut-il faire) for my lesson of to-morrow?—You will transcribe your exercises fairly, do three others, and study the next lesson (la leçon suivante).—How do you manage to get goods (des marchandises) without money?—I buy on credit.—How does your sister manage to learn French without a dictionary (Obs. Lesson LII.)?—She manages it thus.—She manages it very dexterously. But how does your brother manage it (Mais M. votre frère comment s'y prend-il)?—He manages it very awkwardly; he reads, and looks for the words in the dictionary.—He may (peut) learn in this manner twenty years without knowing how to make a single sentence (une seule phrase).—Why does your sister cast down her eyes?—She casts them down because she is ashamed of not having done her task.—Shall we breakfast in the garden to-day?—The weather is so fine, that we should (qu'il faut) take advantage of it (en profiter).—How do you like that coffee?—I like it very much (excellent).—Why do you stoop?—I stoop to pick up the handkerchief which I have dropped.—Why do your sisters hide themselves?—They would not hide themselves if they did not fear to be seen.—Whom are they afraid of?—They are afraid of their governess (une institutrice) who scolded them yesterday because they had not done their tasks (leur devoir).

Have you already seen my son?—I have not seen him yet; how is he?—He is very well; you will not be able to recognise him, for he has grown very tall in a short time.—Why does that man give nothing to the poor (aux pauvres)?—He is too avaricious (avare); he does not wish to open his purse for fear of losing his money.—What sort of weather is it?—It is very warm; it is long since we had any rain: I believe we shall have a storm (un orage).—It may be (cela se peut bien).—The wind rises (s'élever), it thunders already; do you hear it?—Yes, I hear it, but the storm is still far off (encore bien loin).—Not so far as you think; see how it lightens.—Bless me (mon Dieu)! what a shower (quelle averse)!—If we go into some place (quelque part) we shall be sheltered from the storm.—Let us go into that cottage, then (donc); we shall be sheltered there from the wind and the rain.—Where shall we go to now? Which road shall we take?—The shortest (court) will be the best.—We have too much sun, and I am still very tired; let us sit down under the shade of that tree.—Who is (quel est) that man who is sitting under the tree?—I do not know him.—It seems he (il paraît qu'il) wishes to be alone (seul); for when we offer (vouloir *) to approach him, he pretends to be asleep.—He is like your sister: she understands French very well (fort bien); but when I begin to speak to her, she pretends not to understand me.—You have promised me to speak to the captain; why have you not done so?—I have not seen him yet; but as soon as I see him I shall speak to him. (See end of Lesson XXIV.)

SIXTY-EIGHTH LESSON.

Soixante-huitième Leçon.

OF THE PRETERITE DEFINITE.

(Prétérît Défini.)

THIS past tense is formed from the past participle by changing, for the first conjugation, é into

SING.	1st pers.	2d pers.	3d pers.	PLUR.	1st pers.	2d pers.	3d pers.
	ai,	as,	a,		âmes,	âtes,	èrent.

REMARK.

The learner will remark, that in the above list some irregular verbs follow the conjugation of others; thus we see three verbs conjugated exactly like couvrir, to cover, viz. offrir, to offer; ouvrir, to open; souffrir, to suffer: venir, to come, we see conjugated like tenir, to hold; twelve verbs after ceindre, to gird; ten after cuire, to bake, to cook; and one after luire, to shine, viz. nuire, to hurt. Now this is not only the case with respect to the prétérit défini of these verbs, but for all the other tenses. It would therefore be of essential importance to the learner to commit them to memory in the order we have given them, as by their help the greatest difficulties of the irregular verbs are almost overcome.

ON THE USE OF THE PRETERITE DEFINITE.

This tense is so called, because it always expresses an action completed at a time specified either by an adverb, or some other circumstance. Ex.

I had done reading when he entered.	J'avais fini de lire, quand il entra.
You had lost your purse when I found mine.	Vous aviez perdu votre bourse quand je trouvai la mienne.

Obs. B. These examples show that the pluperfect is formed in French as in English with the imperfect of the auxiliary and the past participle of the verb you conjugate.

We had dined when he arrived.	Nous avions dîné, lorsqu'il arriva.
The king had named an admiral when he heard of you.	Le roi avait nommé un amiral, quand on lui parla de vous.
After having spoken you went away.	Après avoir parlé, vous vous en allâtes.
After shaving I washed my face.	Après m'être rasé, je me lavai la figure.
After having warmed themselves they went into the garden.	Après s'être chauffés, ils allèrent au jardin.
As soon as the bell rung you awoke.	Dès que la cloche sonna, vous vous reveillâtes.
As soon as they called me I got up.	Dès qu'ils m'appelèrent, je me levai.

As soon as he was ready he came to see me.

As soon as we had our money we agreed to that.

As soon as he had his horse he came to show it me.

After trying several times they succeeded in doing it.

As soon as I saw him I obtained what I wanted.

As soon as I spoke to him he did what I told him.

The business was soon over.

Aussitôt qu'il fut prêt, il vint me voir.

Aussitôt que nous eûmes notre argent, nous convînmes de cela.

Aussitôt qu'il eut son cheval, il vint me le montrer.

Après avoir essayé plusieurs fois, ils parvinrent à le faire.

Aussitôt que je le vis, j'obtins ce dont j'avais besoin.

Aussitôt que je lui parlai, il fit ce que je lui dis.

L'affaire fut bientôt faite.

ON THE PRETERITE ANTERIOR¹.

(Prétérit antérieur.)

This tense is compounded of the Prétérit Défini of the auxiliary, and the past participle of the verb you conjugate. It is used (from its name antérieur, anterior) to express an action past before another which is likewise past, and is hardly ever used except after one of the conjunctions :

As soon as.	{	Aussitôt que.
		Sitôt que.
		D'abord que.
		Dès que.
After.		Après que.
When.	{	Lorsque.
		Quand.
No sooner.		Pas plutôt.
Scarcely.		'A peine.

¹ There is another Prétérit Antérieur called the Prétérit Antérieur Indéfini, which is however seldom employed. It is formed from the perfect of the auxiliary and the past participle of another verb. Ex. Quand nous avons eu dîné, nous sommes allés à la promenade, when we had done dinner we went to take a walk ; quand j'ai eu parlé à votre père, je m'en suis allé, when I had spoken to your father I went away ; j'ai eu déjeuné ce matin à dix heures, I had done breakfast this morning at ten o'clock.

It also expresses an action as quickly done.

EXAMPLES.

As soon as I had finished my work
I carried it to him.

As soon as I had dressed myself I went out.

When they had done playing they began singing.

When I had dined it struck twelve.

As soon as the guests were assembled the repast commenced.

I had soon done eating.

After the soldiers had pillaged the town, they slaughtered without pity the women and the children.

Scarcely had we arrived when we were conducted to the king.

He had no sooner perceived us than he advanced towards us.

Aussitôt que j'eus fini mon ouvrage, je le lui portai.

Aussitôt que je me fus habillé, je sortis.

Quand ils eurent achevé de jouer, ils se mirent à chanter.

Quand j'eus dîné, midi sonna.

Dès que les convives se furent assemblés, le repas commença.

J'eus bientôt fini de manger.

Après que les soldats eurent pillé la ville, ils égorgèrent sans pitié les femmes et les enfants.

A peine fûmes-nous arrivés, qu'on nous conduisit au roi.

Il ne nous eut pas plutôt aperçus,
qu'il s'avança vers nous.

EXERCISES.

212.

What did you do (que fîtes-vous) when you had finished your letter?—I went to my brother, who took (conduire *) me to the theatre, where I had the pleasure to find one of my friends whom I had not seen for ten years.—What didst thou do after getting up this morning?—When I had read the letter of the Polish count I went to see (je sortis pour voir) the theatre of the prince which I had not seen before (pas encore).—What did your father do when he had breakfasted?—He shaved and went out.—What did your friend do after he had been a walking?—He went to the baron (le baron).—Did the baron cut the meat after he had cut the bread?—He cut the bread after he had cut the meat.—When do you set out?—I do not set out till (je ne pars que) to-morrow; for before I leave I will once more see my good friends.—What did your children do when they had breakfasted?—They went a walking with their dear preceptor (précepteur).—Where did your uncle go to after he had warmed himself?—He went nowhere. After he had warmed himself he undressed and went to bed.—At what o'clock did he get up?—He got up at sunrise.—Did you wake him?—I had no need to wake him, for he had got up before me.—What did your cousin do when he heard of the death (la mort) of his best friend?—He was much afflicted (très-affligé), and went to bed without saying a word.—Did you shave before you breakfasted?—I shaved when I had breakfasted.—Did you go to bed when you had eaten supper?—When I had eaten supper I wrote my letters, and when I had written them I went to bed.—At what (de quoi) are you afflicted?—I am afflicted at that accident.—Are you afflicted at the death (de la mort) of your relation?—I am much afflicted at it (en).—When did your relation die?—He died last month.—Of whom do you complain?—I complain of your boy.—Why do you complain of him?—Because he has killed the pretty dog which I received from one of my friends.—Of what has your uncle complained?—He has complained of what you have done.—Has he complained of the letter which I wrote to him the day before yesterday?—He has complained of it.

Why did you not stay longer in Holland?—When I was there the living was dear, and I had not money enough to stay there longer.—What sort of weather was it when you were on the way to Vienna?—It was very bad weather, for it was stormy and snowed and rained very heavily (à verse).—Where have you been since I saw you?—We sojourned long on the sea-shore (Lesson LIX.), until a ship arrived (jusqu'à l'arrivée d'un —) which brought us (amener) to France.—Will you continue your narrative (Lesson LIX.)?—Scarcely had we arrived in France when we were taken (conduire *) to the king, who received us very well, and sent us back to our country.—A peasant having seen that old men (le vieillard) used (se servir * de) spectacles (lunettes, fem.) to read, went to an optician (un opticien) and asked for a pair (et en demanda). The peasant then took a book, and having opened it, said the spectacles were not good (fem.). The optician put another pair (une autre paire) of the best which he could find in his shop (la boutique) upon his nose; but the peasant being still unable to read, the merchant said to him : " My friend, perhaps you cannot read at all." " If I could (si je savais lire)," said the peasant, " I should not want your spectacles."—Henry IV. meeting one day in his palace (le palais) a man whom he did not know (qui lui était inconnu), asked him to whom he belonged : " I belong to myself," replied this man. " My friend," said the king, " you have a stupid master."—Tell us (racontez-nous) what has happened to you lately (l'autre jour).—Very willingly (très-volontiers) : but on condition (sous la condition) that you will listen to me without interrupting (interrompre) me.—We will not interrupt you, you may be (pouvez être) sure of it (en).—Being lately at the theatre I saw the speaking picture and the weeping (pleurer) woman performed (*voir * représenter*).—This latter play (cette dernière pièce) not being very (trop) amusing to me (pour moi), I went to the concert where the music (la musique) caused me a violent head-ache (une violente migraine). I then left (quitter) the concert, cursing it (en le maudissant), and went straight (et j'allai droit) to the madhouse (un hôpital des fous) in order to see my cousin. On entering the hospital of my cousin I was struck with horror (être saisi d'horreur) at (en) seeing several madmen (le fou), who came up to me (s'approcher de quelqu'un), jumping (sauter) and howling (hurler).—What did you do then ?—I did the same (autant), and they set up a laugh (*se mettre * à rire*) as they were withdrawing (se retirer).

EXERCISES.

What is the matter with you? Why do you look so melancholy (avoir l'air mélancolique)?—I should not look so melancholy if I had no reason to be sad. I have heard just now (Lesson XLIX.) that one of my best friends has shot himself with a pistol, and that one of my wife's best friends has drowned herself.—Where has she drowned herself?—She has drowned herself in the river which is behind her house. Yesterday, at four o'clock in the morning, she rose without saying a word to any one (à personne), leaped out of the window which looks into the garden, and threw herself into the river, where she was drowned.—I have a great mind (grande envie) to bathe (se baigner) to-day.—Where will you bathe?—In the river.—Are you not afraid of being drowned?—Oh, no! I can swim.—Who taught you?—Last summer I took a few lessons in the swimming school (à l'école de natation).

When had you finished your task?—I had finished it when you came in.—Those who had contributed (contribuer) most (le plus) to his elevation to the throne (à son élévation sur le trône) of his ancestors, were those who laboured (travailler) with the most eagerness (le plus d'acharnement) to precipitate (précipiter) him from it (en).—As soon as Cæsar (César) had crossed (passer) the Rubicon, he had no longer to deliberate (délibérer): he was obliged (devoir) to conquer (vaincre) or to die.—An emperor (un empereur) who was irritated at (irrité contre) an astrologer (un astrologue), asked him: "Wretch (misérable)! what death (de quel genre de mort) dost thou believe thou wilt die?" "I shall die of the fever," replied the astrologer. "Thou liest," said the emperor, "thou wilt die this instant of a violent death (de mort violente). " As he was going to be seized (saisir), he said to the emperor, "Sire (Seigneur), order some one (ordonnez) to feel (qu'on me tâte, pres. subjunctive, of which hereafter) my pulse, and it will be found that I have a fever." This sally saved his life.

Do you perceive yonder house (cette maison là-bas)?—I do perceive it: what house is it?—It is an inn (une auberge); if you like we will go into it to drink a glass of wine, for I am very (bien) thirsty.—You are always thirsty when you see an inn.—If we enter I shall drink your health (Lesson LXIII.)—Rather than (Lesson LXI.) go into an inn I will not drink.—When will you pay what you owe me?—When I have money: it is useless to ask me for some to-day, for you know very well that there is nothing to be had of him who has nothing.—When do you think you will have money?—I think I shall have some next year.—Will you do what I shall tell you?—I will do it if it is not too difficult.—Why do you laugh at me?—I do not laugh at you, but at your coat.—Does it not look like (Lesson LXIII.) yours?—It does not look like it, for mine is short (court), and yours is too long (long); mine is black, and yours is green.—Why do you associate with (Lesson LXIII.) that man?—I would not associate with him if he had not rendered me great services (le service).—Do not trust him (ne vous y fiez pas), for if you are not on your guard, he will cheat (tromper) you.—Why do you work so much (tant)?—I work in order to be one day useful to my country.—When I was yet (étant encore) little, I once (un jour) said to my father, "I do not know (entendre) commerce (le commerce), and I do not know how to sell; let me (permettez-moi de) play." My father answered me, smiling (en souriant), "In dealing (c'est en marchandant que) one learns to deal, and in selling to sell." "But, my dear father," replied (répliquer) I, "in playing one learns also to play." "You are right," said he to me, "but you must first (auparavant) learn what is necessary (nécessaire) and useful."—

Judge not (ne jugez point), that you may not (vous qui ne voulez pas) be judged! Why do you perceive the mote (une paille) in your brother's eye, you who do not perceive the beam (une poutre) which is in your own eye?—Would you copy your exercises if I copied mine?—I would copy them if you copied yours.—Would your sister have transcribed her letter if I had transcribed mine?—She would have transcribed it.—Would she have set out if I had set out?—I cannot tell you what she would have done if you had set out. (See end of Lesson XXIV.)

SEVENTIETH LESSON.

Soixante et dixième Leçon.

OF THE IMPERATIVE.

THE second person singular of this mood is formed, in all French verbs, from the first person singular of the indicative by omitting the pronoun je, I. Examples :

Present.	Imperative.	Present.	Imperat. 2d pers. sing.
I speak,	speak thou.	Je parle,	parle ¹ .
I come,	come thou.	Je viens,	viens.
I perceive,	perceive thou.	J'aperçois,	aperçois.
I take,	take thou.	Je prends,	prends.

The five following verbs must be excepted from this rule : j'ai, I have ; imperat. aie, have thou ; je suis, I am ; sois, be thou ; je vais, I go ; va, go thou² ; je sais, I know ; sache, know thou ; je veux, I am willing ; veuille, be thou willing³.

¹ When the second person singular of the imperative ends in e, it takes s after it before the relative pronouns en, y. Ex. Offres-en à ta sœur, offer some to thy sister ; portes-y tes livres, carry thy books thither. But when en is a preposition the imperative takes no s. Ex. Donne en cette occasion des preuves de ton zèle, give on this opportunity a proof of thy zeal.

² The imperative va takes s, when it is followed by the relative pronoun y. Ex. Vas-y, go thou thither ; but when there is another verb after the pronoun y, va must be written without an s. Ex. Va y donner ordre, go thither to give the order ; va y faire un tour, go thither to take a turn. In the expression va-t'en, go away, an apostrophe must be placed after the letter t, and not a hyphen, as it is not here the euphonic t, but te, an apostrophe supplying the place of e before a vowel.

³ These verbs are also irregular in all the other persons of the imperative, which are as follows : [Qu'il

Obs. A. All the other persons of the imperative, except the third of both numbers, which is derived from, and is like the present of the subjunctive (of which hereafter), are derived from the present of the indicative.

Have patience.	Ayez patience.
Be (ye) attentive.	Soyez attentif.
Go (ye) thither.	Allez-y.
Give it me.	Donnez-le-moi.
Send it to him.	Envoyez-le-lui.
Lend it to me.	Prêtez-le-moi.
Have the goodness to hand me that plate.	Ayez la bonté de me passer ce plat.

Obs. B. The second person singular, and the first and second persons plural admit of no pronouns before them ; but the third in both numbers is always preceded by the pronouns il, ils, elle, elles, and the conjunction que (of which hereafter, when we speak of the present of the subjunctive).

To borrow.	Emprunter 1.
I will borrow some money of you.	Je veux vous emprunter de l'argent.
I will borrow that money of you.	Je veux vous emprunter cet argent.
Borrow it of (or from) him.	Empruntez-le-lui.
I borrow it from him.	Je le lui emprunte.
Do not tell him or her.	Ne le lui dites pas.
Do not return it to them.	Ne le leur rendez pas.
Patience, impatience.	La patience, l'impatience.
The neighbour.	Le prochain.
The snuff-box.	La tabatière.

Qu'il ait; ayons, ayez, qu'ils aient.	Let him have; let us have, have ye, let them have.
Qu'il soit; soyons, soyez, qu'ils soient.	Let him be; let us be, be ye, let them be.
Qu'il aille; allons, allez, qu'ils aillent.	Let him go; let us go, go ye, let them go.
Qu'il sache; sachons, sachez, qu'ils sachent.	Let him know; let us know, know ye, let them know.
Qu'il veuille; veuillez, qu'ils veuillent.	Let him be willing; be ye willing, let them be willing.

Be (ye) good.

Know (ye) it.

Soyez bons.

Sachez-le.

Obey your masters, and never give them any trouble.

Pay what you owe, comfort the afflicted, and do good to those that have offended you.

Love God, and thy neighbour as thyself.

To obey.

To comfort.

To offend.

Let us always love and practise virtue, and we shall be happy both in this life and in the next.

To practise.

Let us see which of us can shoot best.

Obéissez à vos maîtres, et ne leur donnez jamais de chagrin.

Payez ce que vous devez, consolez les malheureux, et faites du bien à ceux qui vous ont offensés.

† Aimez le bon Dieu, et le prochain comme vous-même.

Obéir 2.

To express.

To express one's self.

To make one's self understood.

To have the habit.

To accustom.

To accustom one's self to something.

Children must be accustomed early to labour.

To be accustomed to a thing.

I am accustomed to it.

I cannot express myself in French, for I am not in the habit of speaking.

You speak properly.

Exprimer 1.

S'exprimer 1.

Se faire comprendre.

Avoir l'habitude.

Accoutumer 1.

S'accoutumer à quelque chose.

Il faut accoutumer de bonne heure les enfants au travail.

Être accoutumé à quelque chose.

J'y suis accoutumé.

Je ne puis pas bien m'exprimer en français, parceque je n'ai pas l'habitude de parler.

Vous parlez comme il faut.

To converse.	Causer 1.
To chatter.	Bavarder 1.
To prate.	Jaser 1.
A prattler.	Un causeur ; fem. euse ⁴ .
A chatterer.	Un jaseur ; fem. euse.
To practise.	Exercer 1.
I practise speaking.	Je m'exerce à parler.
To permit, to allow.	Permettre 4 * (is conj. like mettre *).
The permission.	La permission.
I permit you to go thither.	Je vous permets d'y aller.
Do good to the poor, have compassion on the unfortunate, and God will take care of the rest.	Faites du bien aux pauvres, et ayez compassion des malheureux, et le bon Dieu aura soin du reste.
To do good to some one.	Faire du bien à quelqu'un.
To have compassion on some one.	Avoir compassion de quelqu'un.
Compassion.	La compassion.
Pity.	La pitié.
The rest.	Le reste.
If he comes tell him I am in the garden.	S'il vient dites-lui que je suis au jardin.
Obs. C. The letter i suffers elision in the conjunction si , if before the personal pronouns, il , he ; ils , they (not before elle or elles). Ex.
Ask the merchant whether he can let me have the horse at the price which I have offered him.	Demandez au marchand s'il peut me donner le cheval au prix que je lui ai offert.
I read, and was told.	J'ai lu et l'on m'a raconté.
Obs. D. The indeterminate pronoun on takes l with an apostrophe (l') after the words et , ou , où , or si . Ex.
There they laugh and weep by turns.	On y rit et l'on y pleure tour à tour.
If they knew what you have done.	Si l'on savait ce que vous avez fait.
The country where diamonds are found.	Le pays où l'on trouve le diamant.
You have been, or will soon be told.	On vous a dit, ou l'on vous dira bientôt.

⁴ Une causeuse means also a small sofa for two persons.

Obs. E. Que and qui also have sometimes l'on after them when the harmony of the sentence requires it. Ex.

What we conceive well we express clearly.

Ce que l'on conçoit bien s'énonce clairement.

To appear before me his merit is too great :

Boileau, Art Poétique, ch. i.
Pour paraître à mes yeux, son mérite est trop grand :

We do not like to see those to whom we owe so much.

On n'aime pas à voir ceux à qui l'on doit tant.

It is from a king (Agesilaus) that we have that excellent maxim :
That a man is great only inasmuch as he is just.

Corneille, Nicomède, acte ii. sc. 1.
C'est d'un roi (Agésilas) que l'on tient cette maxime auguste :
Que jamais on n'est grand qu' autant que l'on est juste.

Boileau, Satire IX.

Obs. F. But l' must not be made use of before on when it is followed by le, la, or les. Say : Je ne veux pas qu'on le tourmente, I do not wish him to be molested, and not que l'on le, &c.

EXERCISES.

Have patience, my dear friend, and be not sad ; for sadness alters (changer) nothing, and impatience makes bad worse (empirer le mal). Be not afraid of your creditors ; be sure that they will do you no harm. They will wait if you cannot pay them yet.—When will you pay me what you owe me ?—As soon as I have money I will pay all that you have advanced (avancer) for me. I have not forgotten it, for I think of it (j'y pense) every day. I am your debtor (le débiteur), and I shall never deny (nier) it.—What a beautiful inkstand you have there ! pray lend it me.—What do you wish to do with it ?—I wish to show it to my sister.—Take it, but take care of it, and do not break it.—Do not fear (ne craignez rien). What do you want of my brother ?—I want to borrow some money of him.—Borrow some of somebody else (à un autre).—If he will not lend me any I will borrow some of somebody else.—You will do well.—Do not wish for (souhaiter) what you cannot have, but be contented with what Providence (la Providence) has given you, and consider (considérer) that there are many men who have not what you have.—Life being short (court), let us endeavour (Lesson LXV.) to make it (de nous).

la rendre) as agreeable (agréable) as possible (qu'il est possible). But let us also consider that the abuse (l'abus) of pleasure (in the plural in French) makes it bitter. (amère, fem.)—Have you done your exercises?—I could not do them, because my brother was not at home.—You must not get your exercises done by your brother, but you must do them yourself.—What are you doing there?—I am reading the book which you lent me.—You are wrong in always reading it.—What am I to do?—Draw this landscape (Lesson LXVII.), and when you have drawn it you shall decline some substantives with adjectives.

What must we do in order to be happy?—Always love and practise virtue, and you will be happy both in this life and in the next.—Since (puisque) we wish to be happy, let us do good to the poor, and let us have compassion on the unfortunate; let us obey our masters, and never give them any trouble; let us comfort the unfortunate (les infortunés), love our neighbour as ourselves, and not hate those (et ne haïssons pas ceux) that have offended us; in short (en un mot), let us always fulfil our duty, and God will take care of the rest.—My son, in order to be loved you must be laborious (laborieux) and good. Thou art accused (on t'accuse) of having been idle and negligent (négligent) in thy affairs. Thou knowest, however (pourtant), that thy brother has been punished for having been naughty. Being lately (l'autre jour) in town, I received a letter from thy tutor, in which he strongly (fort) complained of thee. Do not weep (pleurer); now go into thy room, learn thy lesson, and be a good boy (sage), otherwise (autrement) thou wilt get nothing for dinner (à dîner).—I shall be so good, my dear father, that you will certainly (certainement) be satisfied with me.—Has the little boy kept his word (tenir parole*)?—Not quite; for after having said that, he went into his room, took his books, sat down at the table (se mit à une table), and fell asleep (s'endormit).—"He is a very good boy when he sleeps," said his father, seeing him some time (quelque temps) after.

Good morning, Miss N.—Ah! here you are at last (vous voilà enfin). I have been waiting for you with impatience.—You will pardon me (pardonner à quelqu'un), my dear, I could not come sooner.—Sit down, if you please.—How is your mother?—She is better to-day than she was yesterday.—I am glad of it (j'en suis bien aise).—Were you at the ball yesterday?—I was there.—Were you much amused (se divertir)?—Only so so (passablement).—At what o'clock did you return (retourner) home?—At a quarter past eleven.

Have you been learning French long?—No, Sir, I have only been learning it these six months.—Is it possible! you speak tolerably well (assez bien) for so short a time (si peu de temps).—You jest (plaisanter); I do not know much of it yet.—Indeed, you speak it well already.—I think you flatter me a little.—Not at all; you speak it properly.—In order to speak it properly one must know more of it than I know (que je n'en sais, Obs. B. Less. LIII.).—You know enough of it to make yourself understood.—I still make many faults.—That is nothing (ne fait rien); you must not be bashful (timide); besides (d'ailleurs), you have made no faults in all you have said just now.—I am still timid (timide) because I am afraid of being laughed at (qu'on ne se moque de moi, pres. of the subjunctive).—They would be (il faudrait être) very unpolite to laugh at you. Who would be so unpolite as to laugh at you?—Do you not know the proverb (le proverbe)?—What proverb?—He who wishes to speak well must begin (doit commencer) by (par) speaking badly.—Do you understand all I am telling you?—I understand (entendre) and comprehend (*comprendre) it very well; but I cannot yet express myself well in French, because I am not in the habit of speaking it.—That will come in (avec le) time.—I wish (souhaiter) it with all my heart.

Do you sometimes see my brother?—I see him sometimes; when I met him the other day he complained of you. “If he had behaved better, and had been more economical (économe),” said he, “he would have no debts (la dette) and I would not have been angry with him.” I begged of him to have compassion on you, telling him that you had not even money enough to buy bread. “Tell him, when you see him,” replied he to me, “that notwithstanding his bad behaviour (la conduite) towards me, I pardon (pardonner à quelqu'un) him. Tell him also,” continued he, “that one should not laugh (qu'on ne se moque pas) at those to whom one is under obligation. Have the goodness to do this, and I shall be much obliged to you,” added he in going away (s'éloigner).

SEVENTY-FIRST LESSON.

Soixante et onzième Leçon.

To stand up.	Être debout.
To remain up.	Rester debout.
Will you permit me to go to the market?	Voulez-vous me permettre d'aller au marché?
To hasten, to make haste.	† Se dépêcher 1.
Make haste, and return soon.	Dépêchez-vous et revenez bientôt.

Go and tell him that I cannot come to-day.	Allez lui dire que je ne puis venir aujourd'hui.
---	--

Obs. A. In French the verbs aller *, to go, and venir *, to come, are always followed by the infinitive instead of another tense used in English, and the conjunction and is not rendered.

He came and told us he could not come.	Il vint nous dire qu'il ne pouvait pas venir.
Go and see your friends.	Allez voir vos amis.

To weep, to cry.	Pleurer 1.
The least blow makes him cry.	Le moindre coup le fait pleurer.
To frighten.	Effrayer 1.
To be frightened, to startle.	S'effrayer 1.
The least thing frightens him or her.	La moindre chose l'effraie.
Be not frightened.	Ne vous effrayez pas.
To be frightened at something.	S'effrayer de quelque chose.
What are you frightened at?	De quoi vous effrayez-vous?

At my expense.

At his, her, our expense.

At other people's expense.

That man lives at every body's expense.

The other day.

Lately.

In a short time.

In.

Donc.

C'est pourquoi.

L'autre jour.

Dernièrement.

Dans peu de temps.

Dans, en.

Obs. B. When speaking of time dans expresses the epoch, and en the duration.

He will arrive in a week (when a week is elapsed).

Il arrivera dans huit jours.

It took him a week to make this journey.

He will have finished his studies in three months.

He finished his studies in a year.

{ Vous avez bien de la patience.
Vous avez beaucoup de patience.

They have a great deal of money.

Ils ont bien de l'argent.

You have a great deal of courage.

Vous avez bien du courage.

To make a present of something to some one.

Mr. Lambert wrote to me lately, that his sisters would be here in a short time, and requested me to tell you so; you will then be able to see them, and to give them the books which you have bought. They hope that you will make them a present of them. Their brother has assured me that they esteem you, without knowing you personally.

Faire présent de quelque chose à quelqu'un.

Monsieur Lambert m'écrivit l'autre jour que mesdemoiselles ses sœurs viendraient ici dans peu de temps, et me pria de vous le dire. Vous pourrez donc les voir et leur donner les livres que vous avez achetés. Elles espèrent que vous leur en ferez présent. Leur frère m'a assuré qu'elles vous estiment, sans vous connaître personnellement.

To want amusement.

To get or be tired.

{ † S'ennuyer 1.

How could I get tired in your company?

† Comment pourrais-je m'ennuyer auprès de vous?

He gets tired every where.

Il s'ennuie partout.

Agreeable (pleasing).	Agréable.
To be welcome.	† Être le bienvenu.
You are welcome every where.	† Vous êtes partout le bienvenu.

EXERCISE.

219.

Will you drink a cup of tea?—I thank you; I do not like tea.
 —Do you like coffee?—I like it, but I have just drunk some.
 —Do you not get tired here?—How could I get tired in this agreeable society?—As to me I always want amusement.—If you did as I do, you would not want amusement, for I listen to all those who tell me any thing. In this manner I learn a thousand agreeable things, and I have no time to get tired; but you do nothing of that kind (de tout cela), that is the reason why you want amusement.—I would do every thing like (comme) you, if I had no reason to be sad.—Have you seen Mr. Lambert?—I have seen him; he told me that his sisters would be here in a short time, and desired (prier) me to tell you so. When they have arrived you may give them the gold rings (la bague) which you have bought; they flatter themselves that you will make them a present of them, for they love you without knowing you personally.—Has my sister already written to you?—She has written to me; I am going to answer her.—Shall I (faut-il) tell her that you are here?—Tell her; but do not tell her that I am waiting for her impatiently (avec impatience).—Why have you not brought (Obs. B. Less. LVIII.) your sister along with you?—Which one?—The one you always bring, the youngest.—She did not wish to go out because she has the tooth-ache.—I am very sorry for it, for she is a very good girl.—How old is she?—She is nearly fifteen years old.—She is very tall (grande) for her age (l'âge).—How old are you?—I am twenty-two.—Is it possible! I thought you were not yet twenty.

SEVENTY-SECOND LESSON.

Soixante-douzième Leçon.

PLACE OF THE NEGATION.

Not.	{ Ne—pas.
	{ Ne—point.

Ne stands before the verb or its auxiliary, and pas or point after it.
Examples :

Have you not my book ?	N'avez-vous pas mon livre ?
I have it not.	Je ne l'ai pas.
Do not speak to that man.	Ne parlez pas à cet homme.
Have you not seen my brother ?	N'avez-vous pas vu mon frère ?
Has he not learnt French ?	N'a-t-il pas appris le français ?
He has not learnt it.	Il ne l'a pas appris.

Obs. A. Ne and pas are placed before the verb with the preposition pour before an infinitive. Ex.

He is too fond of me not to do it.	Il m'aime trop pour ne pas le faire.
I go away not to displease him or her.	Je m'en vais pour ne pas lui déplaire.
One must be a fool not to perceive that.	Il faut être peu sensé pour ne pas voir cela.

Obs. B. Ne is used without pas with the four verbs :

To cease.	Cesser 1.
To dare.	Oser 1.
To be able.	{ Pouvoir *.
	{ Savoir *.

You continually ask me for money.	Vous ne cessez de me demander de l'argent.
She does not cease complaining.	Elle ne cesse de se plaindre.

I do not dare to ask you for it.
 She does not dare to tell you so.
 I cannot go thither.
 I cannot tell you.
 You cannot believe it.

Je n'ose vous le demander.
 Elle n'ose vous le dire.
 Je ne puis y aller.
 Je ne saurais vous dire.
 Vous ne sauriez le croire.

Obs. C. Point is a stronger negation than pas; pas is used to deny simply, point to deny with energy. The first often denies a thing indifferently, the latter exclusively and without reserve. The best example that can be given on the difference of the two negations are the two following lines by Molière :

I do not answer for my father's will,
 But I will wed no other than Valère.

Je ne vous réponds pas des volontés d'un père,
 Mais je ne serai point à d'autre qu'à Valère.

Tartuffe, Acte ii. Scène 5.

Moreover, besides.

Besides that.
 Besides what I have just said.
 There are no means of finding money now.

EXERCISES.

220.

What o'clock is it?—It is half-past one.—You say it is half-past one, and by (à) my watch it is but half-past twelve.—It will soon strike two.—Pardon me, it has not yet struck one.—I assure you it is five and twenty minutes past one, for my watch goes very well.—Bless me! how rapidly time passes in your society.—You make me a compliment which I do not know how to answer.—Have you bought your watch in Paris?—I have not bought it, my uncle has made me a present of it (en).—What has that woman entrusted you with?—She has entrusted me with a secret about a (d'un) great count who is in great embarrassment about the (à cause du) marriage of one of his daughters.—Does any one ask her in marriage?—The man who demands her in marriage is a nobleman of the neighbourhood (le voisinage).—Is he rich?—No, he is a poor devil (diable) who has not a sou (le sou).—You say you have no friends among your schoolfellows (le condisciple); but is it not your fault? You have spoken ill (mal parlé) of them, and they have not offended you. They have done you good, and nevertheless (néanmoins) you have quarrelled with them (Lesson LXIV.). Believe me, he who has no friends deserves (mériter) to have none.

221.

Dialogue (le dialogue) between a tailor and his journeyman (le garçon).—Charles, have you taken the clothes to the Count Narissi?—Yes, Sir, I have taken them to him.—What did he say?—He said nothing but (sinon) that he had a great mind to give me a box on the ear (des soufflets, plur.), because I had not brought them sooner.—What did you answer him?—Sir, said I, I do not understand that joke: pay me what you owe me; and if you do not do so instantly I shall take other measures. Scarcely had I said that, when he put his hand to his sword (porter la main à son épée), and I ran away (*prendre * la fuite*).

222.

What are you astonished at?—I am astonished to find you still in bed.—If you knew how (combien) sick I am, you would not be astonished (fem.) at it. Has it already struck twelve?—Yes, madam, it is already half-past twelve.—Is it so late? Is it possible?—That is not late, it is still early.—Does your watch go well (bien)?—No, Miss N., it is a quarter of an hour too fast.—And mine is half an hour too slow.—Perhaps it has stopped.—In fact, you are right.—Is it wound up?—It is wound up, and yet (pourtant) it does not go.—Do you hear? it is striking one o'clock.—Then I will regulate my watch and go home.—Pray (de grâce) stay a little longer (encore un peu)!—I cannot, for we dine precisely at one o'clock (à une heure précise).—Adieu, then, till I see you again.

223.

What is the matter with you, my dear friend? why do you look so melancholy?—Nothing ails me (je n'ai rien).—Are you in any trouble (Auriez-vous par hasard quelque chagrin)?—I have nothing, and even less than nothing, for I have not a sou (le sou), and I owe a great deal to my creditors: am I not very unhappy?—When a man is well and has friends he is not unhappy.—Dare I ask you a favour?—What do you wish?—Have the goodness to lend me fifty crowns.—I will lend you them with all my heart, but on condition that you will renounce gambling (renoncer au jeu), and be more economical than you have hitherto been.—I see now, that you are my friend, and I love you too much not to follow your advice.

John (Jean)! What is your pleasure, Sir?—Bring some wine.—Presently, Sir.—Henry!—Madam?—Make the fire (du feu).—The maid-servant has made it already.—Bring me some paper, pens, and ink. Bring me also some sand (de la poudre) or blotting-paper (du papier brouillard), sealing-wax (de la cire à cacheter), and a light (de la lumière). Go and tell my sister not to wait for me, and be back again (de retour) at twelve o'clock in order to carry my letters to the post (la poste).—Very well (bien), madam. EXERCISES.

Sir, may (oser) I ask where the Earl of B. lives?—He lives near the castle on the other side of the river.—Could you tell me which road I must (je dois) take to go thither?—You must go (suivez) along the shore, and you will come to a little street (quand vous serez au bout, prenez une petite rue) on the right, which will lead you straight (directement) to his house.—It is a fine house, you will find it easily.—I thank you, Sir.—Does Count N. live here?—Yes, Sir, walk in (donnez-vous la peine d'entrer), if you please.—Is the count at home?—I wish to have the honour (l'honneur) to speak to him.—Yes, Sir, he is at home; whom shall I have the honour to announce (annoncer)?—I am from B., and my name is (s'appeler) F.

Which is the shortest (court) way to the arsenal (un arsenal)?—Go down (suivez) this street, and when you come to the bottom (au bout), turn to the left, and take the cross-way (vous trouverez un—que vous traverserez); you will then enter into a rather narrow (étroit) street, which will lead you to a great square (la place), where you will see a blind-alley.—Through (par) which I must pass?—No, for there is no outlet (une issue).—You must leave it on the right, and pass under the arcade which is near it.—And then?—And then you must inquire (further).—I am very much obliged to you.—Do not mention it (il n'y a pas de quoi).—Are you able to translate an English letter into French?—I am.—Who has taught you?—My French master has enabled me to do it.

Why does your mother fret?—She frets at receiving no news from her son who is with the army.—She need not be uneasy about him, for whenever he gets into a bad scrape he knows how to get out of it again.—Last summer when we were a hunting together (ensemble) night grew upon us (la nuit nous surprit) at at least ten leagues (une lieue) from our country-seat (la maison de campagne).—Well (Eh bien), where did you pass the night?—I was very uneasy at first, but your brother not in the least (pas le moins du monde); on the contrary, he tranquillized me, so that I lost my uneasiness. We found at last a peasant's hut where we passed the night. Here I had an opportunity to see how clever your brother is. A few benches and a truss of straw (une botte de paille) served him to make a comfortable (commode) bed; he used a bottle as a candlestick, our pouches served us as a pillow, and our cravats as nightcaps. When we awoke in the morning we were as fresh and healthy (bien portant) as if we had slept on down and silk.—A candidate (un candidat) petitioned (demandeur à) the king of Prussia (de Prusse) for an employment (un emploi). This prince asked him where he was born. "I was born at Berlin," answered he. "Begone!" said the monarch (le monarque), "all the men of Berlin (un Berlinois) are good for nothing." "I beg your majesty's (la majesté) pardon," replied the candidate, "there are some good ones, and I know two." "Which are those two?" asked the king. "The first," replied the candidate, "is your majesty, and I am the second." The king could not help laughing (ne put s'empêcher de rire) at this answer (la réponse), and granted (accorder) the request (la demande). (See end of Lesson XXIV.)

EXERCISES.

A thief having one day entered a boarding-house stole three cloaks (le manteau). In going away he was met by one of the boarders who had a fine laced (galonné) cloak. Seeing so many cloaks, he asked the man where he had taken them. The thief answered boldly (froidement) that they belonged to three gentlemen of the house who had given them to be cleaned (à dégraisser). "Then you must also clean (dégraissez donc aussi) mine, for it is very much in need of it (en avoir grand besoin)," said the boarder; "but," added he, "you must return it to me at three o'clock." "I shall not fail (y manquer), Sir," answered the thief, as he carried off (emporter) the four cloaks with which he (qu'il) is still to return (n'a pas encore rapportés).—You are singing (chanter), gentlemen, but it is not a time for (il ne s'agit pas de) singing; you ought to be silent, and to listen to what you are told.—We are at a loss.—What are you at a loss about?—I am going to tell you: the question is with us how we shall pass our time agreeably.—Play a game at billiards or at chess (See Obs. Lesson LI.).—We have proposed joining a hunting party; do you go with us (êtes-vous des nôtres)?—I cannot, for I have not done my task yet; and if I neglect it, my master will scold me.—Every one according to his liking; if you like staying at home better than going a hunting we cannot hinder you.—Does Mr. B. go with us?—Perhaps.—I should not like to go with him, for he is too great a talker (trop bavard), excepting that (à cela près) he is an honest man.

What is the matter with you? You look angry.—I have reason to (avoir lieu de) be angry, for there is no means of getting money now.—Have you been to Mr. A.'s?—I have been to his house; but there is no possibility (pas moyen) of borrowing from him. I suspected that he would not lend me any, that is the reason why I did not wish to ask him; and had you not told me to do so, I should not have subjected myself (s'exposer) to a refusal (un refus).

I suspected that you would be thirsty, and that your sister would be hungry; that is the reason why I brought you hither. I am sorry, however (pourtant), not to see your mother.—Why do you not drink your coffee?—If I were not sleepy I would drink it.—Sometimes (tantôt) you are sleepy, sometimes cold, sometimes warm, and sometimes something else is the matter with you (et tantôt quelque autre chose). I believe that you think too much of the misfortune that has happened to your friend (fem.)—If I did not think about it, who would think about it?—Of whom does your brother think?—He thinks of me, for we always think of each other (l'un à l'autre) when we are not together (ensemble).

I have seen six players (le joueur) to day, who were all winning (gagner) at the same time (en même temps).—That cannot be; for a player can only win when another loses.—You would be right if I were speaking of people that had played at cards or billiards

(Obs. Lesson LI.) ; but I am speaking of flute and violin players (de joueurs de flûte et de violon).—Do you sometimes practise (*faire) music (de la musique)?—Very often, for I like it much.—What instrument (Lesson LI. Obs.) do you play?—I play the violin, and my sister plays the harpsichord. My brother who plays the bass (la basse) accompanies (accompagner) us, and Miss Stolz sometimes applauds (applaudir) us.—Does she not also play some musical instrument (un instrument de musique)?—She plays the harp (la harpe), but she is too proud (fière) to practise music with us.—A very poor town (une ville assez pauvre) went to considerable expense (faire une dépense considérable) in feats and illuminations (en fêtes et en illuminations) on the occasion of its prince passing through (du passage de son—). The latter seemed (parut) himself astonished at it.—“It has only done,” said a courtier (un courtisan), “what it owed (to your majesty).” “That is true,” replied (*repandre) another, “but it owes all that it has done.” (See end of Lesson XXIV.)

SEVENTY-FIFTH LESSON.

Soixante-quinzième Leçon.

Towards { (physically)
(morally).

He comes towards me.

He has behaved very well towards me.

We must always behave well towards every body.

The behaviour of others is but an echo of our own. If we behave well towards them, they will also behave well towards us; but if we use them ill, we must not expect better from them.

To treat or to use somebody well.

To use somebody ill.

As you have always used me well,
I will not use you ill.

As he has always used me well, I have always used him in the same manner.

Vers.

Envers.

Il vient vers moi.

Il s'est comporté très-bien envers moi.

Il faut nous comporter toujours bien envers tout le monde.

La conduite des autres n'est qu'un écho de la nôtre. Si nous nous comportons bien envers eux, ils se comporteront bien aussi envers nous; mais si nous en usons mal avec eux, nous ne devons pas attendre mieux de leur part.

En user bien avec quelqu'un.

En user mal avec quelqu'un.

Comme vous en avez usé toujours bien avec moi, je n'en userai pas mal avec vous.

Comme il en a toujours bien usé avec moi, j'en ai toujours usé de la même manière avec lui.

To delay (to tarry).

I shall not be long before I return.

I long to or for.

Tarder I (takes à before inf.).

Ne tardez pas à revenir.

Je ne tarderai pas à revenir.

† Il me tarde de.

Obs. When the verb tarder is employed impersonally in the signification of to long for, it requires the preposition de before the verb. Ex.

I long to see my brother.

He longs to receive his money.

We long for dinner because we are very hungry.

They long to sleep because they are tired.

† Il me tarde de voir mon frère.

† Il lui tarde de recevoir son argent.

† Il nous tarde de dîner, parceque nous avons bien faim.

† Il leur tarde de dormir, parcequ'ils sont fatigués.

To be uncomfortable.

} ^A Etre à son aise.

^A Etre mal à son aise.

I am very much at my ease upon this chair.

You are uncomfortable upon your chair.

What can that be?

We are uncomfortable in that boarding-house.

That man is well off, for he has plenty of money.

That man is badly off, for he is poor.

To make one's self comfortable.

Make yourself comfortable.

To be uncomfortable.

Je suis bien à mon aise sur cette chaise.

Vous êtes mal à votre aise sur votre chaise.

† Qu'est-ce que cela peut être?

Nous sommes mal à notre aise dans cette pension.

Cet homme est à son aise, car il a beaucoup d'argent.

Cet homme est mal à son aise, parcequ'il est pauvre.

Se mettre à son aise.

Mettez-vous à votre aise.

Etre gêné.

To inconvenience one's self.

To put one's self out of the way.

Do not put yourself out of the way.

That man never inconveniences himself; he never does it for any body.

Can you, without putting yourself to inconvenience, lend me your gun?

} Se gêner 1.

Ne vous gênez pas.

Cet homme ne se gêne jamais; il ne se gêne jamais pour personne.

Pouvez-vous sans vous gêner me prêter votre fusil.

To make entreaties.

To beg with entreaty.

I employed every kind of intreaty to engage him to it.

To solicit, to press, to sue, to entreat.

Faire des instances.

Prier avec instances.

Je l'en ai sollicité avec toutes les instances possibles.

Solliciter 1.

Here and there.

Now and then.

From time to time.

Indifferently (as good as bad).

I have made my composition tolerably well.

Par-ci, par-là.

De loin en loin.

De temps en temps.

Tant bien que mal.

J'ai fait ma composition tant bien que mal.

To postpone, to put off.

Let us put that off until to-morrow.

Let us put off that lesson until another time.

Remettre * à.

Remettons cela à demain.

Remettons cette leçon à une autre fois.

To impart something to somebody.

Have you imparted that to your father?

I have imparted it to him.

Faire part de quelque chose à quelqu'un.

Avez-vous fait part de cela à votre père?

Je lui en ai fait part.

In vain.

In vain I looked all around, I saw neither man nor house : not the least sign of settlement.

A dwelling, habitation, settlement.

In vain I speak, for you do not listen to me.

In vain I do my best, I cannot do any thing to his liking.

You may say what you please, nobody will believe you.

† Avoir beau.

J'avais beau regarder tout autour de moi, je ne voyais ni homme, ni maison : pas la moindre apparence d'habitation.

Une habitation.

J'ai beau parler, vous ne m'écoutez pas.

J'ai beau faire de mon mieux, je ne peux rien faire à son gré.

Vous avez beau dire, personne ne vous croira.

It is in vain that they earn money, they will never be rich.

We search in vain, for what we have lost we cannot find.

Ils ont beau gagner de l'argent, ils n'en seront jamais riches.

Nous avons beau chercher, nous ne pourrions pas trouver ce que nous avons perdu.

The loss of time.

Enjoy all the pleasures that virtue permits.

Le présent.

Le passé.

L'avenir, le futur.

La perte du temps.

Jouissez de tous les plaisirs que la vertu permet.

EXERCISES.

228.

Have you made your French composition?—I have made it.—
Was your tutor pleased with it?—He was not. In vain I do my best; I cannot do any thing to his liking.—You may say what you please, nobody will believe you.—Can you, without putting yourself to inconvenience, lend me five hundred francs?—As you have always used me well I will use you in the same manner. I will lend you the money you want, but on condition that you will return it to me next week.—You may depend upon it (pouvoir y compter).—How has my son behaved towards you?—He has behaved well towards me, for he behaves well towards every body. His father told him often:—The behaviour of others is but an echo of our own. If we behave well towards them, they will also behave well towards us; but if we use them ill, we must not expect better from them.—May I see your brothers?—You will see them to-morrow. As they have just arrived from a long journey (le voyage) they long for sleep, for they are very tired.—What has my sister said?—She said that she longed for dinner, because she was very hungry.—Are you comfortable at your boarding-house?—I am very comfortable there.—Have you imparted to your brother what I told you?—As he was very tired, he longed for sleep; so that I have put off imparting it to him till to-morrow.

229.

I have the honour to wish you a good morning. How do you do?—Very well at your service (à vous rendre mes devoirs).—And how are all at home (comment se porte-t-on chez vous)?—Tolerably well, thank God (Dieu merci)! My sister was a little indisposed (indisposée), but she is better (rétablie); she told (charger) me to give you her best compliments.—I am glad (charmé) to hear that she is well. As for you, you are health itself (la santé même); you cannot look better (vous avez la meilleure mine du monde).—I have no time to be ill: my business (mes affaires) would not permit me. Please (donnez-vous la peine) to sit down; here is a chair.—I will not detain (distraindre) you from your business (les occupations); I know that a merchant's time is precious (que le temps est précieux à un négociant).—I have nothing pressing (pressé) to do now, my courier is already dispatched (mon courrier est déjà expédié).—I shall not stay any longer. I only wished in passing by (en passant par ici) to inquire about your health.—You do me much honour.—It is very fine weather to day. If you will allow me I shall have the pleasure of seeing you again (*revoir) this afternoon (cette après-dinée), and if you have time we will take a little turn together.—With the greatest pleasure. In that case I shall wait for you.—I will come for you (venir prendre) about (vers) seven o'clock.—Adieu, then, till I see you again.—I have the honour to bid you adieu.

230.

The loss of time is an irreparable (irréparable) loss. A single minute (une seule —) cannot be recovered (recouvrer) for all the gold in the (du) world. It is then of the greatest importance (de la dernière importance) to employ well the time which consists (consister) only of (en) minutes of which we must make good use (dont il faut tirer parti). We have but the present; the past is no longer any thing (n'est plus rien), and the future is uncertain (incertain).—A great many people (une infinité d'hommes) ruin themselves (se ruiner) because they wish to indulge themselves too much (à force de vouloir se faire du bien). If most men (la plupart des hommes) knew how to content themselves (se contenter) with what they have, they would be happy; but their greediness (leur avidité) very often makes (rendre) them unhappy.—In order to be happy we must forget the past, not trouble ourselves about (ne pas s'inquiéter de) the future, and enjoy the present.—I was very much dejected (triste) when my cousin came to me. "What is the matter with you?" he asked me. "Oh (ah)! my dear cousin," replied I, "in losing that money I have lost every thing." "Do not fret," said he to me, "for I have found your money." La couleur, le teint.

Le lis.

La violette.

La germandrée.

La rose.

Un emblème.

La verdure fraîche fait du bien à nos yeux.

EXERCISES.

231.

Why have you played a trick upon that man?—Because he always finds fault with every thing he sees.—What does that mean, Sir?—That means that I do not like to deal with you, because you are too particular.—I wonder why your brother has not done his task.—It was too difficult. He has sat up all night, and has not been able to do it, because it was out of his reach.—As soon as Mr. Flausen sees me he begins to speak English, in order to practise, and overwhelms me with politeness (d'honnêteté), so that I often do not know what to answer. His brothers do the same (en font autant). However they are very good people (ils ne laissent pas d'être de fort bonnes gens); they are not only (non seulement) rich and amiable, but they are also generous and charitable. They love me sincerely, therefore I love them also, and consequently (par conséquent) shall never say any thing to their disadvantage. I should love them still more, if they did not make so much ceremony (tant de cérémonies); but every one has his faults (le défaut), and mine is to speak too much of their ceremonies.

232.

Have the enemies surrendered?—They have not surrendered, for they did not prefer life (la vie) to death (la mort). They had neither bread, nor meat, nor water, nor arms (une arme), nor money; notwithstanding they determined to die rather (ils ont mieux aimé mourir) than surrender.—Why are you so sad?—You do not know what makes me uneasy, my dear friend (fem).—Tell me, for I assure you that I share (partager) your sufferings (la peine) as well as your pleasures.—I am sure that you feel for me (prendre * part à mes peines), but I cannot tell you now (en ce moment) what makes me uneasy. I will however tell you when an opportunity offers (à l'occasion). Let us speak of something else now. What do you think of the man who spoke to us yesterday at the concert?—He is a man of much understanding (de beaucoup d'esprit), and not at all wrapt up in his own merits (et il n'est pas du tout infatué de son mérite).—But why do you ask me that?—To speak of something.—It is said: contentment (contentement) surpasses (passer) riches; let us then always be content. Let us share (partager) (with each other) what we have, and remain (demeurer) our lifetime (toute notre vie) inseparable (inséparable) friends. You will always be welcome at my house, and I hope to be equally so (aussi) at yours. If I saw you happy I should be equally so, and we should be more contented than the greatest princes, who are not always so. We shall be happy when we are perfectly (parfaitement) contented with what we have; and if we do our duty as we ought (bien) God (le bon Dieu) will take care of the rest. The past being no longer any thing, let us not be uneasy about the future, and enjoy the present.

233.

Behold, ladies (Mesdames), those beautiful flowers, with their colours so fresh and bright; they drink nothing but water. The white lily has the colour of innocence (l'innocence); the violet indicates gentleness (marque la douceur); you may see it in Louisa's eyes (dans les yeux de Louise). The forget-me-not has the colour of heaven, our future dwelling, and the rose, the queen of flowers, is the emblem of beauty and of joy. You see all that personified (personnifié) in seeing the beautiful Amelia (Amélie).

How beautiful is the fresh verdure! It is salutary to our eyes, and has the colour of hope (de l'espérance), our most faithful (fidèle) friend (fem.), who never deserts (quitter) us, not even in death (à la mort).—One word more, my dear friend.—What is your pleasure?—I forgot to tell you to present my compliments to your mother. Tell her, if you please, that I regret (regretter) not having been at home when lately she honoured me with her visit.—I thank you for her (de sa part), I shall not fail.—Farewell then. (See end of Lesson XXIV.)

A sleeping or bed-room.	Une chambre à coucher.
A repeater.	Une montre à répétition.
An oil-bottle.	Une bouteille à l'huile.
A mustard-pot.	Un pot à moutarde.
A pitcher.	Un pot à l'eau.
A fowling-piece.	Un fusil de chasse.
A fishing line.	Une ligne à pêcher.

To exact, to want of.	Exiger 1.
What do you want of me?	} Qu'exigez-vous de moi?
What do you exact of me?
I exact nothing of you.	Je n'exige rien de vous.
A milk-pot.	Un pot au lait.

Obs. B. When the second noun is used to determine the first more precisely, it is preceded by au or à la for the singular, and aux for the plural. Ex.

The rabbit-man.	L'homme aux lapins.
The oyster-woman.	La femme aux huîtres.

OBSERVATIONS ON THE PROPER NAMES OF PERSONS TAKEN FROM THE LATIN AND GREEK¹.

Obs. C. Proper names of men ending in English in a are the same in both languages; but those of women and goddesses having that ending become French by changing the final a into e mute. Ex.

¹ All those which deviate from these rules are separately noted.

Caligula.	Caligula.
Dolabella.	Dolabella.
Cleopatra.	Cléopatre.
Diana.	Diane.
Julia.	Julie.

Obs. D. Most proper names ending in English in as or es become French by changing these finals into e mute. Ex.

Eneas.	Énée.
Pythagoras.	Pythagore.
Ulysses.	Ulysse.
Socrates.	Socrate.

Obs. E. Proper names ending in o change it in French into on. Ex.

Cicero.	Cicéron.
Dido.	Didon.

Obs. F. Most proper names ending in us are the same in both languages when they have but two syllables; but when they are composed of three or more syllables they become French by changing it into e mute. Ex.

Cyrus.	Cyrus.
Venus.	Vénus.
Camillus.	Camille.
Orpheus.	Orphée.

Obs. G. Most of those ending in al or is are the same in both languages. Ex.

Juvenal.	Juvénal.
Sesostris.	Sésostрис.

Obs. H. Those ending in English in ander change it in French into andre. Ex.

Alexander.	Alexandre.
Lysander.	Lysandre.

REMARK.—As for the proper names of kingdoms, provinces, and towns, ending in English in a, they become French by changing the ending a into e mute, and those of towns ending in burg, change it into *bourg*². Ex.

² Such proper names as deviate from this rule are either separately noted, or are the same in both languages.

Arabia.	L'Arabie.
Asia.	L'Asie.
Friburg.	Fribourg.
Hamburg.	Hambourg.

Dainties.	Les bons morceaux.
He is fond of dainties.	Il aime les bons morceaux.
At broad daylight.	En plein jour.
To sit down to dinner.	Se mettre à table.

EXERCISES.

234.

Has your sister been out to-day?—She has b  en out to buy several things.—What has she bought?—She has bought (s'est achet  ) a silk gown, a velvet bonnet, and a lace veil (un voile de dentelle).—What have you done with (de) my silver tankard?—It is on the kitchen-table together with (avec) the oil-bottle, the milk-pot, the pitcher, the mustard-pot, and the coffee-mill.—Do you ask for a wine-bottle?—No, I ask for a bottle of wine, and not for a wine-bottle.—If you will have the goodness to give me the key of the wine-cellar (la cave au vin) I shall go for one.—What does that man want of me?—He exacts nothing; but he will accept what you will give him, for he is in want of every thing.—I will tell you that I am not fond of him, for his behaviour raises suspicion in my mind. He exaggerates all that he says and does.—You are wrong in having such a bad opinion (une opinion) of him, for he has been a father to you.—I know what I say. He has cheated me on a small and a large scale, and whenever he calls he asks me for something. In this manner he has alternately asked me for all I had: my fowling-piece, my fishing-line, my repeater, and my golden candlesticks.—Do not give yourself up so much to grief, else (sinon) you will make me melt in tears.

Democritus and Heraclitus were two philosophers of a very different character (d'un caract  re bien diff  rent): the first laughed at the follies (la folie) of men, and the other wept at them.—They were both right, for the follies of men deserve to be laughed and wept at.

235.

Have you seen your niece?—Yes ; she is a very good girl, who writes well, and speaks French still better : therefore she is loved and honoured by every body.—And her brother, what is he doing ?—Do not speak to me of him ; he is a naughty boy, who writes always badly, and speaks French still worse ; he is therefore (aussi n'est-il) loved by nobody. He is very fond of dainties, but he does not like books. Sometimes he goes to bed at broad daylight, and pretends to be ill ; but when we sit down to dinner he is generally better again (rétabli). He is to study physic (la médecine), but he has not the slightest inclination for it (aucune envie).—He is almost always talking of his dogs, which he loves passionately (passionnément). His father is extremely sorry for it. The young simpleton (un imbécile) said lately to his sister, “ I shall enlist as soon as a peace (la paix) is proclaimed (publier). ”

My dear father and my dear mother dined yesterday with some friends at the King of Spain (l'Espagne).—Why do you always speak English and never French ?—Because I am too bashful (timide). You are joking : is an Englishman ever bashful ?—I have a keen appetite (grand appétit) : give me something good to eat.—Have you any money ?—No, Sir.—Then I have nothing to eat for you.—Will you not let me have some (ne me donnez-vous pas) on credit ? I pledge (engager) my honour.—That is too little.—What (comment), Sir !

SEVENTY-EIGHTH LESSON.

Soixante-dix-huitième Leçon.

PRESENT OF THE SUBJUNCTIVE.

THE formation of the subjunctive in French presents no difficulty whatsoever, as all verbs of this mood end alike. The present, with a few exceptions, which we shall presently give, is formed from the present participle, by changing ant into e mute for the first and third persons singular, into es for the second person singular, and into ent for the third person plural. As for the first and second persons plural they are exactly like the imperfect. Ex.

SPEAKING—That I may speak, that thou mayest speak, that he or she may speak.

That we may speak, that you may speak, that they may speak.

FINISHING—That I may finish, that thou mayest finish, that he or she may finish.

That we may finish, that you may finish, that they may finish.

KNOWING—That I may know, that thou mayest know, that he or she may know.

That we may know, that you may know, that they may know.

RENDERING—That I may render, that thou mayest render, that he or she may render.

That we may render, that you may render, that they may render.

PARLANT—Que je parle, que tu parles, qu'il ou qu'elle parle.

Que nous parlions, que vous par-liez, qu'ils ou qu'elles parlent.

FINISSANT—Que je finisse, que tu finisses, qu'il ou qu'elle finisse.

Que nous finissions, que vous finissiez, qu'ils ou qu'elles finissent.

SACHANT—Que je sache, que tu saches, qu'il ou qu'elle sache.

Que nous sachions, que vous sa-chiez, qu'ils ou qu'elles sachent.

RENDANT—Que je rende, que tu rendes, qu'il ou qu'elle rende.

Que nous rendions, que vous rendiez, qu'ils ou qu'elles rendent.

Obs. A. The third person singular of the imperative, and the third person singular of the present of the subjunctive, are always alike. (See Obs. A. Lesson LXX.)

EXCEPTIONS.

ALLANT, going—que j'aille, que tu ailles, qu'il aille, que nous allions, que vous alliez, qu'ils aillent.

TENANT, holding—que je tienne, que tu tiennes, qu'il tienne, que nous tenions, que vous teniez, qu'ils tiennent.

And all compounds of tenir *, such as: obtenir *, to obtain; contenir *, to contain, &c.

VENANT, coming—que je *vienn*e, que tu viennes, qu'il *vienn*e, que nous venions, que vous veniez, qu'ils viennent.

And all compounds of venir *, such as: revenir *, to come back; devenir *, to become, &c.

ACQUÉRANT, acquiring—que j'acquière, que tu acquières, qu'il acquière, que nous acquérions, que vous acquériez, qu'ils acquièrent.

MOURANT, dying—que je meure, que tu meures, qu'il meure, que nous mourions, que vous mouriez, qu'ils meurent.

RECEVANT, receiving—que je reçoive, que tu reçoives, qu'il reçoive, que nous recevions, que vous receviez, qu'ils reçoivent.

And all those ending in voir, such as: apercevoir, to perceive; concevoir, to conceive; devoir, to owe, &c.

POUVANT, being able—que je puisse, que tu puisses, qu'il puisse, que nous puissions, que vous puissiez, qu'ils puissent.

VALANT, being worth—que je vaille, que tu vailles, qu'il vaille, que nous valions, que vous valiez, qu'ils *vailent*¹.

MOUVANT, moving—que je meuve, que tu meuves, qu'il meuve, que nous mouvions, que vous mouviez, qu'ils meuvent.

AYANT, having—que j'aie, que tu aies, qu'il ait, que nous ayons, que vous ayez, qu'ils aient.

VOULANT, wishing—que je veuille, que tu veuilles, qu'il veuille, que nous voulions, que vous vouliez, qu'ils veuillent.

ÉTANT, being—que je sois, que tu sois, qu'il soit, que nous soyons, que vous soyez, qu'ils soient.

¹ Prévaloir, to prevail, is regular in the present of the subjunctive; thus: que je prévale, que tu prévales, qu'il prévale, que nous prévalions, que vous prévaliez, qu'ils prévalent.

BUVANT, drinking—que je boive, que tu boives, qu'il boive, que nous buvions, que vous buviez, qu'ils boivent.

FAISANT, doing—que je fasse, que tu fasses, qu'il fasse, que nous fassions, que vous fassiez, qu'ils fassent.

PRENANT, taking—que je prenne, que tu prennes, qu'il prenne, que nous prenions, que vous preniez, qu'ils prennent.

And all compounds of prendre *, such as: apprendre *, to learn; comprendre *, to understand; entreprendre *, to undertake; se méprendre *, to mistake; reprendre *, to retake, &c.

Obs. B. In the above list of exceptions it will be perceived that all those persons which really deviate from our rule on the present of the subjunctive are printed in italics: as the verbs, aller, tenir, venir, acquiescir, mourir, recevoir, valoir, mouvoir, vouloir, boire, and prendre, do not deviate from it in the first and second persons plural, and avoir does not deviate from it in the first and second persons singular.

REMARKS ON THE USE OF THE SUBJUNCTIVE IN FRENCH.

A. The subjunctive in French has scarcely any thing in common with the subjunctive in English, and when it has, it is because preceding words require it. It is required after the following impersonals when the verb that follows is preceded by the conjunction que.

It is necessary that.	{ Il faut que.
It is extraordinary that.	{ Il est nécessaire que.
It is sad that.	Il est extraordinaire que.
It is right that.	Il est fâcheux que.
It is wrong that.	Il est juste que.
It is proper that.	Il est injuste que.
It is surprising that.	Il est à propos que.
It is becoming that.	Il est surprenant que.
It is time that.	Il convient que.
It is important, or it matters that.	Il est temps que.
It is sufficient that.	Il importe or il est important que.
	Il suffit que.
It is to be wished that.	{ Il est à désirer que.
	{ Il est à souhaiter que.
It seems that.	Il semble que ² .
It is possible that.	Il est possible que.
It is better that.	Il vaut mieux que.

² Il semble, it seems, is also construed with the indicative, particularly when it has an indirect object, as: il me semble, it seems to me; il te semble, it seems to thee; il lui semble, it seems to him or her, &c.

EXAMPLES.

You must have the goodness to do that.	Il faut que vous ayez la bonté de faire cela.
It is necessary that you should be here at an early hour.	Il faut que vous soyez ici de bonne heure.
You must do that.	Il faut que vous fassiez cela.
It is necessary that one should have money.	Il est nécessaire qu'on ait de l'argent.
I must go to market.	Il faut que j' aille au marché.
I must go away.	Il faut que je m'en aille .
It is right that you should be punished.	Il est juste que vous soyez puni.
It is sufficient for you to know that.	Il suffit que vous sachiez cela.
It is time for you to speak.	Il est temps que vous parliez .
We must sell our goods immediately.	Il faut que nous vendions nos marchandises tout de suite.
What must I say?	Que faut-il que je dise ?
It is important that that should be done.	Il importe que cela se fasse .
It is proper that we should set out.	Il est à propos que nous partions .
It is to be wished that you should go to the country.	Il est à souhaiter que tu ailles à la campagne.
It is to be desired that you should return soon.	Il est à désirer que tu reviennes promptement.
It seems you are angry.	Il semble que vous soyez fâché.
It is necessary I should finish to-day.	Il est nécessaire que je finisse aujourd'hui.
It might be possible that you would not set out before to-morrow.	Il serait possible que tu ne partisses que demain.
It is sufficient that you are satisfied.	Il suffit que vous soyez content.
It is better that we should have arrived this morning.	Il vaut mieux que nous soyons arrivés ce matin.

Obs. C. When the impersonal il est is accompanied by an adjective denoting evidence, certainty, or probability, such as clair, clear; certain, certain; vrai, true; probable, probable, &c., it governs the next verb in the indicative, when it is affirmatively, and in the subjunctive when interrogatively, negatively, or conditionally used. Ex.

It is certain that you are in the wrong.

It is not certain that you are in the right.

It is probable that he will do it.

Is it probable that he will do it?

It is true that he is capable of it.

If it were true that he was capable of it.

Ind. Il est certain que vous avez tort.

Subj. Il n'est pas certain que vous ayez raison.

Ind. Il est probable qu'il le fera.

Subj. Est-il probable qu'il le fasse?

Ind. Il est vrai qu'il en est capable.

Subj. S'il était vrai qu'il en fût capable.

REMARK B. The subjunctive with que is further used in French after verbs expressing doubt, wish, command, order, fear, ignorance, despair, complaint, or any affection of the mind, such as :

Aimer,	to like.
Aimer mieux,	to like better.
Approuver,	to approve.
Appréhender,	to apprehend.
Attendre,	to expect.
Avoir peur,	to be afraid.
Commander,	to command.
Consentir *,	to consent.
Craindre *,	to fear.
Défendre,	to forbid.
Désapprouver,	to disapprove.
Désirer,	to desire.
Douter,	to doubt.
Empêcher,	to hinder.
Être au désespoir,	to despair.
Exiger,	to exact.
Mériter,	to deserve.

Nier,	to deny.
Ordonner,	to order.
Permettre *,	to permit.
Préférer,	to prefer.
Prendre garde,	to take care.
Prier,	to pray.
Regretter,	to regret.
S'étonner,	to wonder.
Se plaindre *,	to complain.
Se réjouir,	to rejoice.
Souffrir *,	to suffer.
Souhaiter,	to wish.
Supposer,	to suppose.
Trembler,	to tremble.
Trouver bon,	to approve.
Trouver mauvais,	to disapprove.
Vouloir *,	to be willing.

EXAMPLES.

I wish you may succeed.
 I doubt that he is arrived.
 I wish to be obeyed.
 I wish him to be told so.
 He wishes me to have patience.
 I doubt his being at home.
 I fear we shall have a storm.
 He denies having done it.

Je désire que vous réussissiez.
 Je doute qu'il soit arrivé.
 Je veux qu'on m'obéisse.
 Je souhaite qu'on le lui dise.
 Il veut que j'aie patience.
 Je doute qu'il soit à la maison.
 Je crains que nous n'ayons un orage.
 Il nie qu'il l'ait fait.

He complains of your having ill-treated him.

I am very sorry for your having done it.

I regret that you should have been obliged to wait.

You will approve of my not going thither.

He disapproved of your having said it.

What do you wish these men to buy ?

What do you wish him to answer ?

Do you expect him to give you his goods for nothing ?

What do you want me to drink ?

Il se plaint que vous l'ayez mal-traité.

Je suis au désespoir que vous l'ayez fait.

Je regrette que vous ayez été obligé d'attendre.

Vous trouverez bon que je n'y aille pas.

Il a trouvé mauvais que vous l'ayez dit.

Que voulez-vous que ces hommes achètent ?

Que voulez-vous qu'il réponde ?

Vous attendez-vous à ce qu'il vous donne ses marchandises pour rien ?

Que voulez-vous que je boive ?

Obs. D. All verbs expressing the intellectual faculties of the mind govern the indicative when they are used affirmatively, and the subjunctive when negatively or interrogatively, or when they are preceded by the conjunction si. Such verbs are :

Affirmer,	to affirm.
Assurer,	to assure.
Apercevoir,	to perceive.
Avouer,	to confess.
Conclure *,	to conclude.
Convenir *,	to agree.
Croire *,	to believe.
Déclarer,	to declare.
Dire *,	to say.
Espérer,	to hope.
Juger,	to judge.
Jurer,	to swear.

Maintenir *,	to maintain.
Oublier,	to forget.
Penser,	to think.
Prédire *,	to foretell.
Prévoir *,	to foresee.
Promettre *,	to promise.
Publier,	to publish.
Savoir *,	to know.
Songer,	to think.
Soutenir *,	to maintain.
Supposer,	to suppose.
Voir *,	to see.

EXAMPLES.

I believe he is in the right.

Do you believe that horse is worth a hundred crowns ?

I do not believe that it is worth a hundred crowns.

I hope he will come.

Ind. Je crois qu'il a raison.

Subj. Croyez-vous que ce cheval vaille cent écus ?

Subj. Je ne crois pas qu'il vaille cent écus.

Ind. J'espère qu'il viendra.

Do you hope he will come ?
 I think he has done it.
 Do you think he has done it ?
 If you think it will be fine weather let us set out for the country.

Subj. Espérez-vous qu'il *vienn*e ?
Ind. Je pense qu'il l'a fait.
Subj. Pensez-vous qu'il l'ait fait ?
 Si vous pensez qu'il fasse beau temps, partons pour la campagne.

Obs. E. Verbs expressing fear, such as: craindre, to fear; avoir peur, to be afraid, govern the subjunctive with ne before it, when they are not negatively used³. Ex.

I fear that they will come.
 I am afraid you will speak of me.

Je crains qu'ils ne viennent.
 J'ai peur que vous ne parliez de moi.

Does he not fear that you might speak of it ?

Ne craint-il pas que vous n'en parliez ?

Obs. F. But when such verbs are used negatively they govern the subjunctive without ne. Ex.

I am not afraid that the man will come.

Je n'ai pas peur que l'homme *vienn*e.

Obs. G. The verbs douter, to doubt, and nier, to deny, require the subjunctive with ne before it when they are negatively used. Ex.

Do not doubt my being always your friend.

Ne doutez pas que je ne sois toujours votre ami.

He does not deny your having done it.

Il ne nie pas que vous ne l'ayez fait.

REMARK C. The subjunctive is further governed by an adjective or participle preceded by one of the verbs, être *, to be; paraître *, to appear; sembler, to seem. Some of such adjectives or participles are :

Affligé, afflicted
 Bien aise, glad.
 Charmé, charmed.
 Content, satisfied.

Enchanté, enchanted.
 Étonné, astonished.
 Fâché, sorry.
 Surpris, surprised, &c.

³ Except, however, when the phrase is interrogative, or when it is preceded by si. Ex. Craignez-vous de l'offenser ? Do you fear to offend him ? Si je craignais que vous le fissiez. If I were afraid that you would do it.

EXAMPLES.

I am sorry that she is ill.	Je suis fâché qu'elle soit malade.
I am charmed that you are here.	Je suis charmé que vous soyez ici.
I am glad that he has received his money.	Je suis bien aise qu'il ait eu son argent.
She is angry that you are my friend.	Elle est fâchée que vous soyez mon ami.
I am surprised that you are not more attentive.	Je suis étonné que vous ne soyez pas plus attentif.
I am extremely glad that your sister has recovered.	Je suis enchanté que votre sœur soit rétablie.
Your father is afflicted that you miss your lessons.	Votre père est affligé que vous manquiez vos leçons.
I am surprised that you have not done your task.	Je suis surpris que vous n'ayez pas fait votre devoir.

Obs. H. In all these instances the genitive de ce may be used, but then the indicative must follow. Ex.

I am charmed at your being here.	Je suis charmé de ce que vous êtes ici.
He is glad that you have received your money.	Il est bien aise de ce que vous avez eu votre argent.

EXERCISES.

236.

Will you relate (raconter) something to me?—What do you wish me to relate to you?—A little anecdote, if you like.—A little boy one day at table (à table) asked for some meat; his father said that it was not polite to ask for any, and that he should wait until some was given to him (qu'on lui en donnât, imperf. subjunctive; see the following Lesson).—The poor boy, seeing every one eat, and that nothing was given to him, said to his father: "My dear father, give me a little salt, if you please." "What will you do with it?" asked the father. "I wish to eat it with the meat which you will give me," replied (répliquer) the child. Every body admired (admirer) the little boy's wit; and his father, perceiving that he had nothing, gave him meat without his asking for it.—Who was that little boy that asked for meat at table?—He was the son of one of my friends.—Why did he ask for some meat?—He asked for some because he had a good appetite.—Why did his father not give him some immediately?—Because he had forgotten it.—Was the little boy wrong in asking for some?—He was wrong, for he ought to have waited.—Why did he ask his father for some salt?—He asked for some salt, that his father might perceive (pour que son père s'aperçût, imperf. subjunctive; see next Lesson) that he had no meat, and that he might give him some (et qu'il lui en donnât, imperf. subjunctive; see next Lesson).

Do you wish me to relate to you another anecdote?—You will greatly (beaucoup) oblige me.—Some one purchasing some goods of a shopkeeper (un marchand), said to him, “You ask too much; you should not sell so dear to me as to another, because I am a friend (puisque je suis des amis de la maison).” The merchant replied, “Sir, we must gain something by (avec) our friends, for our enemies will never come to the shop.”

237.

A young prince, seven years old, was admired by every body for his wit (à cause de son esprit); being once in the society of an old officer, the latter observed, in speaking of the young prince, that when children discovered so much genius (avoir tant d'esprit) in their early years, they generally grew very stupid (en ont ordinairement fort peu) when they came to maturity (quand ils sont avancés en âge). “If that is the case,” said the young prince, who had heard it, “then you must have been very remarkable for your genius (avoir infiniment d'esprit) when you were a child (dans votre enfance).”

An Englishman, on first visiting France, met with a very young child in the streets of Calais, who spoke the French language with fluency and elegance (couramment et avec élégance).—“Good Heaven (Mon Dieu)! is it possible,” exclaimed he, “that even children here speak the French language with purity (la pureté)?”

Let us seek (rechercher) the friendship of the good, and avoid (éviter) the society of the wicked (le méchant); for bad company corrupts (les mauvaises sociétés corrompent) good manners (les bonnes mœurs).—What sort of weather is it to-day?—It snows continually (toujours), as it snowed yesterday, and, according to all appearances, will also snow to-morrow.—Let it snow; I should like it to snow (qu'il neigedt, imperf. subjunctive; see next Lesson) still more, for I am always very well when it is very cold.—And I am (et moi, je me porte) always very well when it is neither cold nor warm.—It is too windy to-day, and we should do better if we stayed at home.—Whatever weather it may be I must go out; for I promised to be with my sister at a quarter past eleven, and I must keep my word (*tenir * parole*). (See end of Lesson XXIV.)

SEVENTY-NINTH LESSON.

Soixante-dix-neuvième Leçon.

IMPERFECT OF THE SUBJUNCTIVE.

THE imperfect of the subjunctive is formed from the preterite definite (Lesson LXVIII.) by changing the final ai into asse for the verbs of the first conjugation, and by adding se to all those of the other three conjugations. This rule has not a single exception throughout the French language.

I spoke—that I might speak.

Je parlai—que je parlasse, que tu parlasses, qu'il parlât, que nous parlussions, que vous parlassiez, qu'ils parlassent.

I finished—that I might finish.

Je finis—que je finisse, que tu finisses, qu'il finît, que nous finissions, que vous finissiez, qu'ils finissent.

I received—that I might receive.

Je reçus—que je reçusse, que tu reçusses, qu'il reçût, que nous reçussions, que vous reçussiez, qu'ils reçussent.

I sold—that I might sell.

Je vendis—que je vendisse, que tu vendisses, qu'il vendît, que nous vendissions, que vous vendissiez, qu'ils vendissent.

Obs. A. As to the formation of the preterite, or preterperfect and pluperfect of the subjunctive, it is exactly the same as in the indicative, the former being compounded of the present subjunctive of the auxiliary, and the past participle of another verb, the latter of the imperfect subjunctive of the auxiliary and the past participle of another verb. Ex.

That I may have loved.

Que j'aie aimé.

That I may have come.

Que je sois venu.

That I might have loved.

Que j'eusse aimé.

That I might have come.

Que je fusse venu.

Obs. B. The past tenses of the subjunctive are used whenever those terms which govern it are in the past tense or in the conditional.

REMARK D. ON THE USE OF THE SUBJUNCTIVE.—After the following conjunctions the verb is always put in the subjunctive mood :

Afin que,	that, in order that, to the end that.	Nonobstant	for all that, not- withstanding that.
'A moins que,	unless.	Posé que,	suppose that.
Au cas que,	if.	Pour que,	that, in order that.
Avant que,	before.	Pour peu que,	if ever so little, how little soever.
Bien que,	though.	Pourvu que,	provided, save that.
De crainte que,	for fear, lest.	Quoique,	though.
De peur que,	lest.	Sans que,	without.
En cas que,	in case, if.	Si peu que,	however little.
Encore que,	though.	Soit que,	whether.
Jusqu'à ce que,	till, until.	Supposé que,	suppose that ¹ .
Loin que,	far from.
Non que,	} not that.
Non pas que,

EXAMPLES.

Will you stay here until I can go out with you ?	Voulez-vous rester ici jusqu'à ce que je puisse sortir avec vous ?
I will go out before he comes back.	Je sortirai avant qu'il ne revienne.
If you had what you have not, you would be rich.	En cas que vous eussiez ce que vous n'avez pas, vous seriez riche.
I send you my book, that you may read it.	Je vous envoie mon livre, afin que vous le lisiez.
Unless you accompany her, she will not go out.	'A moins que vous ne l'accompagniez, elle ne sortira pas.
Though your children are idle yet they improve.	Bien que vos enfants soient paresseux, ils font des progrès.

¹ Malgré que may be added to these conjunctions ; but as such it is used only with en avoir in the following expressions : Malgré que j'en aie, que tu en aies, qu'il en ait, &c. ; malgré que j'en eusse, que tu en eusses, &c. &c. ; in spite of me, of thee, of him, &c. Ex. Il l'a fait malgré que j'en eusse, he has done it in spite of me ; il me faudra partir, malgré que j'en aie, I shall be obliged to set out in spite of me.

If a man had ever so little acquaintance with another, he was bound to take a part in the dispute, and venture his person as much as if he had himself been angry.

Be it as it may.

Though she is little and bad-looking, she is nevertheless amiable.

I would not have her for a wife, though she is rich, and has a great deal of wit, because she is not good-hearted.

Provided you are my friend I am satisfied.

Whether you are in the right or in the wrong.

I name distinctly the persons I wish to name, always with the intention to praise their virtue and their merit: I write their names in large letters, that they may be seen at a distance, and that the reader may not run the risk of missing them.

Philoctetes naturally spoke less: but he was quick; and however little his vivacity was excited, he was made to say what he had resolved to keep secret.

Pour peu qu'un homme fût connu d'un autre, il fallait qu'il entrât dans la dispute, et qu'il payât de sa personne, comme s'il avait été lui-même en colère.

Quoiqu'il en soit.

Quoiqu'elle soit petite et qu'elle ait mauvaise mine, elle ne laisse pas d'être aimable.

Je ne la voudrais pas pour femme, quoiqu'elle soit riche, et qu'elle ait beaucoup d'esprit, parce qu'elle n'a pas bon cœur.

Pourvu que vous soyez de mes amis je suis content.

Soit que vous ayez raison ou tort.

Je nomme nettement les personnes que je veux nommer, toujours dans la vue de louer leur vertu ou leur mérite; j'écris leurs noms en lettres capitales, afin qu'on les voie de loin, et que le lecteur ne coure pas risque de les manquer. (La Bruyère.)

Philoctète naturellement parlait moins: mais il était prompt; et si peu qu'on excitât sa vivacité, on lui faisait dire ce qu'il avait résolu de taire. (Fénélon.)

Obs. C. Some conjunctions govern the indicative when the sentence affirms positively that the thing in question is or will be, and the subjunctive when it is not certain or only wished for. They are the following:

De façon que.

De manière que.

De sorte que.

En sorte que.

Tellement que.

Sinon que.

} So that, insomuch that.

| Except that.

You behave in such a manner that you are loved by every body.

Ind. Vous vous conduisez de façon que vous êtes aimé de tout le monde.

Behave in such a manner that you may be loved.

Subj. Conduisez-vous de façon que vous soyez aimé.

Obs. D. The conjunction que employed in the second member of a sentence to avoid repetition of a conjunction occurring in the first, governs the same mood as the word it stands for. Ex.

Since you know him, and are responsible for him.

Ind. Dès que vous le connaissez et que vous répondez de lui.

Unless you are attentive, and do your task regularly, you will not learn.

Subj. 'A moins que vous ne soyez attentif et que vous ne fassiez régulièrement votre devoir, vous n'apprendrez pas.

Obs. E. The word que used to avoid the repetition of si governs the subjunctive. Ex.

If your friend were here, and would call upon me.

Si votre ami était ici et qu'il vou-lût venir me voir.

If he loved me, and sincerely wished my welfare.

S'il m'aimait et qu'il désirât sincèrement mon bonheur.

If any body come, and I should not be at home, send for me.

Si quelqu'un venait et que je ne fusse pas à la maison, envoyez-moi chercher.

If your brother writes to you, and you are satisfied with his letter,
I beg of you to let me know it.

Si votre frère vous écrit et que vous soyez content de sa lettre, je vous prie de m'en faire part.

Obs. F. The subjunctive is used after the conjunction que when it is substituted for various conjunctions, such as: afin que, soit que, sans que, avant que, à moins que, jusqu'à ce que. Ex.

Be industrious, that your parents may be satisfied.

Appliquez-vous, que vos parents soient contents (que stands for afin que).

Whether I read or write it is always found fault with.

Que je lise ou que j'écrive on y trouve toujours à redire (que stands here instead of soit que).

I can say nothing without your knowing it.

Je ne puis rien dire que tu ne le saches (que stands here for sans que).

Do not begin before I give you notice.

He is never punished unless he has deserved it.

Wait till your father returns.

Ne commencez pas que je ne vous avertisse (que stands here for avant que).

Jamais on ne le punit, qu'il ne l'ait mérité (que stands for à moins que).

Attendez que votre père revienne (que stands for jusqu'à ce que).

EXERCISES.

M. de Turenne would never buy any thing on credit of tradesmen (le marchand), for fear, he said, they should lose a great part of it, if he happened to be killed. All the workmen (un ouvrier) who were employed about his house had orders (avait ordre) to bring in their bills (un mémoire), before he set out for the campaign (se mettre en campagne*), and they were regularly paid.

You will never be respected (respecter) unless you forsake (abandonner) the bad company you keep.—You cannot finish your work to-night, unless I help you.—I will explain to you (expliquer) every difficulty, that you may not be disheartened (décourager) in your undertaking (une entreprise).—Suppose you should lose your friends, what would become of you?—In case you want my assistance, call me; I shall help you.—A wise and prudent man (un homme sage et prudent) lives with economy when young, in order that he may enjoy the fruit of his labour when he is old.—Carry this money to Mr. N. in order that he may be able to pay his debts (une dette).—Will you lend me that money?—I will not lend it you unless you promise to return (rendre) it to me as soon as you can.—Did the general arrive?—He arrived yesterday morning at the camp (le camp), weary (las), and tired, (harassé), but very seasonably (très à propos); he immediately gave his orders to begin the action, though he had not yet all his troops.—Are your sisters happy?—They are not, though they are rich, because they are not contented. Although they have a good memory, that is not enough to learn any language whatever (quelque langue que ce soit); they must make use of their judgment (le jugement).—Behold how amiable that lady is; for all that she (quoiqu'elle) has no fortune, I do not love her the less.—Will you lend me your violin?—I will lend it you, provided you return it to me to-night.—Will your mother call upon me?—She will, provided you will promise to take her to the concert.—I shall not cease to importune (importuner) her, till she has forgiven me.—Give me that penknife (le canif).—I will give it you, provided you will not make a bad use of it.—Shall you go to London?—I will go, provided you accompany (accompagner) me; and I will write again (récrire *) to your brother, lest he should not have received my letter.

239.

Where were you during the engagement?—I was in bed, to have my wounds (une blessure) dressed (panser). Would to God (Plût à Dieu) I had been there! I would have conquered (vaincre) or perished (périr).—We avoided an engagement for fear we should be taken, their force being superior (supérieure) to ours.—God forbid (à Dieu ne plaise, with the subjunctive,) I should blame your conduct, but your business will never be done properly unless you do it yourself.—Will you set out soon?—I shall not set out till I have dined.—Why did you tell me that my father was arrived, though you knew the contrary?—You are so hasty (prompt), that however little you are contradicted (contrarié) you fly into a passion (s'emporter) in an instant. If your father does not arrive to-day, and if you want money, I will lend you some.—I am much obliged to you.—Have you done your task?—Not quite; if I had had time, and if I had not been so uneasy about (de) the arrival (l'arrivée) of my father, I should have done it.—If you study, and are attentive, I assure you that you will learn the French language in a very short time.—He who wishes to teach an art, must know it thoroughly (à fond); he must give none but clear (précise) and well-digested (digérer) notions (la notion) of it; he must instil (faire entrer) them one by one into the minds (dans l'esprit) of his pupils, and, above all (surtout), he must not overburden (surcharger) their memory with useless or unimportant (insignifiant) rules.

My dear friend, lend me a louis.—Here are (en voici) two instead of one.—How much obliged I am to you (que d'obligations je vous ai)!—I am always glad when I see you, and I find my happiness in yours.—Is this house to be sold?—Do you wish to buy it?—Why not?—Why does your sister not speak?—She would speak if she were not always so absent (distrain).—I like pretty anecdotes; they season (assaisonner) conversation (la conversation), and amuse every body. Pray relate me some.—Look, if you please, at page 148 of the book which I lent you, and you will find some. (See end of Lesson XXIV.)

EIGHTIETH LESSON.

Quatre-vingtième Leçon.

THE SUBJUNCTIVE (CONTINUED).

However, howsoever. | Quelque (indeclinable).

Obs. A. Quelque, before an adjective is indeclinable, and governs the subjunctive.

However good you may be.		Quelque bon que vous soyez.
How rich soever they may be.		Quelque riches qu'ils soient.
Whatever, whatsoever.		Quelque (declinable).

Obs. B. Quelque, followed by a substantive, and any other verb than être, to be, is invariable before a noun singular, and takes an s only before a noun plural without regard to its gender. It always governs the subjunctive.

Whatsoever courage you may have, he has more than you.		Quelque courage que vous ayez, il en a plus que vous.
Whatsoever patience we may have, we will never have enough.		Quelque patience que nous ayons, nous n'en aurons jamais assez.
Whatsoever riches he may have, he will soon see the end of them.		Quelques richesses qu'il ait, il en verra bientôt la fin.
Whatsoever kindness I have for him, I never shall have as much as he merits.		Quelque bonté que j'aie pour lui, je n'en aurai jamais autant qu'il le mérite.
Whatsoever faults you may make, I will take care to correct them.		Quelques fautes que vous fassiez, j'aurai soin de les corriger.
Whatever, whatsoever.		Mas. Quel que ; plur. quels que. Fem. Quelle que ; plur. quelles que (declinable).

Obs. C. Quel que, quelle que, in two words, followed by a substantive, and the verb être, to be, agrees with the substantive in gender and number, and governs the subjunctive.

Whatever may be the happiness which you enjoy, I am happier than you.

Whatsoever may be the fortune which you enjoy, you may lose it in an instant.

Whatsoever may be the efforts which you make, you never can succeed.

Whatsoever may be the pains which you take, no one will be under obligations to you for them.

None or not any.

Whatever, whatsoever (meaning all things soever).

Quel que soit le bonheur que vous ayez, je suis plus heureux que vous.

Quelle que soit la fortune dont vous jouissiez, vous pouvez la perdre en un instant.

Quels que soient les efforts que vous fassiez, vous ne pouvez jamais réussir.

Quelles que soient les peines que vous preniez, on ne vous en aura aucune obligation.

Aucun ; fem. aucune.

Quelque chose que, or quoi que ce soit.

Obs. D. Whatever or whatsoever (meaning all things soever), are generally expressed by quelque chose que or quoi que, when at the beginning of a sentence, and by quoi que ce soit, when after a verb, and govern the next verb in the subjunctive.

Whatsoever you may do for my father, he will reward you for it.

I complain of nothing whatsoever.

Whoever, whosoever.

Quelque chose que (or quoi que) vous fassiez pour mon père, il vous récompensera.

Je ne me plains de quoi que ce soit.

Qui que ce soit.

Obs. E. The indeterminate pronouns: qui que ce soit, whoever; quelque, whatever; personne, nobody; pas un, not one; aucun, none or not any; rien, nothing; require the next verb in the subjunctive.

Of whomsoever you may speak, avoid slander.

I know nobody who is so good as you are.

I have seen nothing that could be blamed in his conduct.

De qui que ce soit que vous parliez, évitez la médisance.

Je ne connais personne qui soit aussi bon que vous.

Je n'ai rien vu qu'on puisse blâmer dans sa conduite.

REMARK E. ON THE USE OF THE SUBJUNCTIVE.

1. The superlative followed by qui or que requires the next verb in the subjunctive. Ex.

You are the most amiable lady I know.	Vous êtes la dame la plus aimable que je connaisse.
He is the most extraordinary man that I have ever seen.	C'est l'homme le plus extraordinaire que j'aie jamais vu.
You are the most studious of the pupils I have ever had.	Vous êtes les élèves les plus studieux que j'aie jamais eus.
The best guard a king can have is the heart of his subjects.	La meilleure garde qu'un roi puisse avoir, c'est le cœur de ses sujets.

2. An ordinal number followed by qui or que. Ex.

He is the first man who has dared to tell me so.	C'est le premier homme qui ait osé me le dire.
You are the second amiable lady that I have met with in this town.	Vous êtes la deuxième dame aimable que j'aie rencontrée dans cette ville.

3. The words le seul, l'unique, the only one, followed by qui or que. Ex.

You are the only one upon whom I can rely.	Vous êtes le seul sur qui je puisse compter.
--	--

Obs. F. Qui or que preceded by a genitive does not always govern the subjunctive. Ex.

She is the handsomest woman of those that were at the opera.	C'est la plus belle des femmes qui étaient à l'opéra.
I do not know any of the persons who called on you this morning.	Je ne connais aucune des personnes qui sont venues chez vous ce matin.
I hope you will say nothing of what I have entrusted you with.	J'espère que vous ne direz rien de ce que je vous ai confié.
I have read the second volume of the work which you have lent me.	J'ai lu le second volume de l'ouvrage que vous m'avez prêté.

Obs. G. The subjunctive is employed at the beginning of a sentence to express surprise, a desire, or an imprecation. Ex.

May heaven ever preserve you from such a misfortune.	Fasse le Ciel que pareil malheur ne vous arrive jamais.
Would to God.	Plût à Dieu.
	Plût au Ciel.
Would to God it were so !	Plût à Dieu qu'il en fût ainsi !
Would to God he had done it !	Plût à Dieu qu'il l'eût fait !
Would to God that all great lords loved peace !	Plût à Dieu que tous les grands seigneurs aimassent la paix !
Would to God we may never be more unhappy !	Plût au Ciel que nous ne fussions jamais plus malheureux !
May you be happy !	Puissiez-vous être heureux !

Obs. H. The subjunctive is also sometimes employed at the head of a sentence in lieu of quand même, though, and a conditional. Ex.

Though it cost me all I have, I shall know how to preserve myself from such a misfortune.	Dût-il m'en coûter tout ce que je possède, je saurai me préserver d'un semblable malheur¹.
Though they were a hundred leagues from hence, I would go for them.	Fussent-ils à cent lieues d'ici, j'irais les chercher².

Obs. I. It is essential for foreigners to observe, that it is in the genius of the French language to prefer the construction with the infinitive to that with the subjunctive, whenever the former may be employed without ambiguity, and when the construction of the sentence permits it. Say, therefore :

I come (in order) to see you.	Je viens pour vous voir ; and not
	Je viens pour que je vous voie.
I do not think I shall be able to go out to-morrow.	Je ne crois pas pouvoir sortir demain ; and not
	Je ne crois pas que je puisse sortir demain.

REMARK F. ON THE USE OF THE SUBJUNCTIVE MOOD.

Let us finally remark on the use of the subjunctive that, whenever the subordinate proposition, or the second member of a sentence, is united to the principal proposition, or the first member of the sentence, by one of the relative pronouns, such as : qui, que, dont, où, &c. it is put in the indicative when it expresses any thing certain or positive, and in the subjunctive when it relates to any thing uncertain or doubtful. Ex.

I shall marry a woman who will please me.

I shall marry a woman who must please me ; or, the woman I shall marry must please me.

Here is a book for you which you may consult occasionally.

Give me a book that I may be able to consult occasionally.

Lend me that book which you do not want.

Lend me a book which you may not be in want of.

Do not leave a place where you are comfortable, and whence you hear well.

Choose a place where you may be comfortable, and whence you may hear well.

Ind. J'épouserai une femme qui me plaira.

Subj. J'épouserai une femme qui me plaise.

Ind. Voilà un livre que vous pourrez consulter au besoin.

Subj. Donnez-moi un livre que je puisse consulter au besoin.

Ind. Prêtez-moi ce livre, dont vous n'avez pas besoin.

Subj. Prêtez-moi un livre dont vous n'ayez pas besoin.

Ind. Ne quittez pas une place où vous êtes commodément, et d'où vous entendez bien.

Subj. Choisissez une place où vous soyez commodément, et d'où vous entendiez bien.

SOME ADDITIONAL EXAMPLES ON THE SUBJUNCTIVE, TAKEN FROM THE BEST FRENCH AUTHORS.

Like to be advised, and not to be praised.

I had rather he should signify his name,

And say, I am Orestes or Agamemnon,

Than for him, by a heap of confused wonders,

To stun one's ears without saying any thing to the mind.

We must venture at any rate the happy passage of the Rhine :

A real duty commands us to venture it.

Aimez qu'on vous conseille et non pas qu'on vous loue. Boileau.

J'aimerais mieux encor qu'il déclînât son nom,

Et dit, Je suis Oreste, ou bien Agamemnon,

Que d'aller, par un tas de confuses merveilles,

Sans rien dire à l'esprit étourdir les oreilles. The same.

Il faut au moins du Rhin tenter l'heureux passage :

Un trop juste devoir veut que nous l'essayions. The same.

On whom, in his misfortune, would you have him lean ?

Let me then here, beneath their fresh foliage,
Wait until September shall have brought Autumn round,
And until cheerful Ceres shall have made room for Pomona.

Allow the trembling Hippolytus for ever
To disappear from the spot inhabited by your consort.

I am willing that my eyes shall for ever remain deceived.

I am willing, to conclude my folly,
That all wines should become vins de Brie for me,
That there should be no game in Paris during winter,
And that in the month of August
we should hardly eat green peas.

Such as he is, all the Greeks request that he may die.

My father himself, alas ! since I must tell it thee,
My father, in saving me, commands that I should die.

Command yourself to be loved,
and you will be loved.

My lord, fear lest cruel destiny
Should hate you enough to grant your prayers.

Sur qui, dans son malheur, voulez-vous qu'il s'appuie ? Racine.

Laissez-moi donc ici, sous leurs ombrages frais,
Attendre que septembre ait ramené
l'automne,
Et que Cérès contente ait fait place à Pomone. Boileau.

Souffrez que pour jamais le trem-blant Hippolyte
Disparaisse des lieux que votre épouse habite. Racine.

Je consens que mes yeux soient toujours abusés. The same.

Je consens de bon cœur, pour finir
ma folie,
Que tous les vins pour moi deviennent vins de Brie,
Qu'à Paris le gibier manque tous
les hivers,
Et qu'à peine au mois d'août l'on mange des pois verts.

Boileau.

Tel qu'il est, tous les Grecs demandent qu'il périsse. Racine.

Mon père même, hélas ! puisqu'il faut te le dire,
Mon père, en me sauvant, ordonne que j'expire. The same.

Commandez qu'on vous aime, et vous serez aimé. The same.

Craignez, seigneur, craignez que le ciel rigoureux
Ne vous hâisse assez pour exaucer vos vœux. The same.

I feared that heaven, by a cruel help,
Might have offered you that death which you always sought.

I am fearful, to conceal nothing from you, that Athaliah,
Having you torn from the altar,

Should wreak at last on you her fearful vengeance,
And should cast off the remains of a forced respect.

I fear lest your just ire

Should soon pursue in him a hateful mother.

Be careful lest the sun that shines on us
Should see thee set thy rash foot in this palace.

Take care lest a vowel too hasty in its course
Should stumble on another vowel in its road.

It was little, that his hand guided by hell,
Should have shaped the saltpetre, should have sharpened the iron.

*Je craignais que le ciel, par un cruel secours,
Ne vous offrit la mort que vous cherchiez toujours. Racine.*

*Je tremble qu'Athalie, à ne vous rien cacher,
Vous-même de l'autel vous faisant
arracher,
N'achève enfin sur vous ses vengeances funestes,
Et d'un respect forcé ne dépouille les restes. The same.*

*Je tremble que sur lui votre juste colère
Ne poursuive bientôt une odieuse mère. The same.*

*Prends garde que jamais l'astre qui nous éclaire,
Ne te voie en ces lieux mettre un pied téméraire. The same.*

*Gardez qu'une voyelle à courir trop hâtée
Ne soit d'une voyelle en son chemin heurtée. Boileau.*

*C'était peu que sa main, conduite par l'enfer,
Eût pétri le salpêtre, eût aiguisé le fer. The same.*

EXERCISES.

240.

You must have patience, though you have no desire to have it; for I must also wait till I receive my money. Should I (en cas que) receive it to-day I will pay you all that I owe you. Do not believe that I have forgotten it; for I think of it every day. Or do you believe, perhaps, that I have already received it?—I do not believe that you have already received it; but I fear that your other creditors (le créancier) may already have received it.—You wish you had more time to study, and your brothers wish they did not need to learn.—Would to God you had what I wish you, and that I had what I wish!—Though we have not had what we wish, yet we have almost always been contented; and Messieurs B. have almost always been discontented, though they have had every thing a reasonable man (un homme raisonnable) can be contented with.—Do not believe, Madam, that I have had your fan (un éventail).—Who tells you that I believe it?—My brother-in-law wishes he had not had what he has had.—Wherefore?—He has always had many creditors, and no money.—I wish you would always speak French to me; and you must obey if you wish to learn, and if you do not wish to lose your time uselessly (inutilement). I wish you were more industrious (assidu) and more attentive when I speak to you. If I were not your friend, and if you were not mine, I should not speak thus to you.—Do not trust (méfiez-vous de) Mr. N., for he flatters you. Do you think a flatterer (un flatteur) can be a friend?—You do not know him as well as I, though you see him every day.—Do not think that I am angry with him, because his father has offended me.—Oh! here he is coming (le voilà qui vient); you may tell him all yourself.

What do you think of our king?—I say he is a great man, but I add, that though kings be ever so powerful (puissant) they die as well as the meanest (vil) of their subjects.—Have you been pleased with my sisters?—I have; for however plain (laide) they may be, they are still very amiable; and however learned (savant) our neighbours' daughters may be, they are still sometimes mistaken.—Is not their father rich?—However rich he may be he may lose all in an instant.—Whoever the enemy may be whose malice (la malice) you dread (appréhender), you ought to rely (se reposer) upon your innocence; but the laws (la loi) condemn (condamner) all criminals (un criminel) whatever they may be.—Whatever your intentions (une intention) may be, you should have acted differently (différemment).—Whatever the reasons (la raison) be which you may allege (alléguer), they will not excuse your action, blamable in itself.—Whatever may happen to you in this world, never murmur (murmurer) against Divine Providence (la divine providence); for whatever we may suffer we deserve it.—Whatever I may do, you are never satisfied.—Whatever you may say, your sisters shall be punished if they deserve it, and if they do not endeavour to mend (s'amender).—Who has taken my gold watch?—I do not know. Do not believe that I have had it, or that Miss C. has had your silver snuff-box (la tabatière), for I saw both in the hands of your sister when we were playing at forfeits (au gage touché).—To-morrow I shall set out for Dover; but in a fortnight I shall be back again (revenir *), and then I shall come and see you and your family.—Where is your sister at present?—She is at Paris, and my brother is at Berlin.—That little woman is said (on dit) to be going to marry General (le général) K., your friend; is it true?—I have not heard of it.—What news is there of our great army?—It is said to be lying (être) between the Weser (le Vésér) and the Rhine (le Rhin).—All that the courier told me seeming (paraître *) very probable (vraisemblable), I went home immediately, wrote some letters, and departed for London.

EIGHTY-FIRST LESSON.

Quatre-vingt-unième Leçon.Just a little, ever so little.

Will you do me the favour of giving me a piece of bread?

Do you wish a great deal?

No, just a little.

Tant soit peu.

Voulez-vous me faire le plaisir de me donner un morceau de pain?

En voulez-vous beaucoup?

Non, tant soit peu.

To turn to account.To make the best of.} † Faire valoir.

That man does not know how to make the most of his talents.

† Cet homme ne sait pas faire valoir ses talents.

That man turns his money to account in trade.

† Cet homme fait valoir son argent dans le commerce.

How do you employ your money?

† Comment faites-vous valoir votre argent?

I employ it in the stocks.

I turn it to account in the stocks.

} † Je le fais valoir dans les fonds publics.

To boast, to brag.† Se faire valoir.

I do not like that man, because he boasts too much.

† Je n'aime pas cet homme, parcequ'il se fait trop valoir.

Notwithstanding that.For all that, although.} Ne laisser pas de.

That man is a little bit of a rogue, but notwithstanding he passes for an honest man.

Cet homme est tant soit peu fripon, mais il ne laisse pas de passer pour honnête homme.

Although that man is not very well, he notwithstanding works a great deal.

Quoique cet homme ne soit pas bien portant, il ne laisse pas de travailler beaucoup.

Although that woman is not very pretty, still she is very amiable.

Although that man has not the least talent, yet for all that he boasts a great deal.

Although that tavern-keeper's wife is rather swarthy, yet for all that she turns the business to good account.

Quoique cette femme ne soit pas bien jolie, elle ne laisse pas d'être fort aimable.

Quoique cet homme n'ait aucun talent, il ne laisse pas de se faire beaucoup valoir.

Quoique la femme de cet aubergiste soit tant soit peu basanée, elle ne laisse pas de faire valoir le bouchon.

Virtue is amiable.	La vertu est aimable.
Vice is odious.	Le vice est odieux.

Obs. A. The definite article is used in French before substantives taken in a general sense, and in the whole extent of their signification. In such instances no article is made use of in English. Ex.

Men are mortal.	Les hommes sont mortels.
Gold is precious.	L'or est précieux.
Corn is sold at a crown a bushel.	Le blé se vend un écu le boisseau.
Beef costs four pence a pound.	Le bœuf coûte quatre sous la livre.
The horror of vice, and the love of virtue, are the delights of the wise man.	L'horreur du vice et l'amour de la vertu sont les délices du sage.

England is a fine country. | L'Angleterre est un beau pays.

Obs. B. The definite article is used also before the names of kingdoms, countries, and provinces¹. Ex.

Italy is the garden of Europe.	L'Italie est le jardin de l'Europe.
The dog is the friend and companion of man.	Le chien est l'ami et le compagnon de l'homme.

Obs. C. The articles are repeated in French before every substantive, and agree with it in gender and number. Ex.

Thessaly produces wine, oranges, lemons, olives, and all sorts of fruit.	La Thessalie produit du vin, des oranges, des citrons, des olives et toutes sortes de fruits.
He ate the bread, meat, apples, and cakes; he drank the wine, beer, and cider.	Il a mangé le pain, la viande, les pommes et les gâteaux; il a bu le vin, la bière et le cidre.

¹ Except when preceded by en or de. Ex. J'irai en Allemagne à mon retour de France, I shall go to Germany on my return from France.

Beauty, gracefulness, and wit are valuable endowments when heightened by modesty.		La beauté, les grâces et l'esprit sont des avantages bien pré- cieux, quand ils sont relevés par la modestie.

The starling.

If I were to question you as I used to do at the beginning of our lessons, what would you answer?

We found these questions at first rather ridiculous, but full of confidence in your method, we answered as well as the small quantity of words and rules we then possessed allowed us.

We were not long in finding out that those questions were calculated to ground us in the rules, Le sansonnet.

Si je vous posais maintenant des questions comme je vous en ai posé au commencement de nos leçons (comme j'avais d'abord l'habitude de le faire), que répondriez-vous?

Nous avons d'abord trouvé ces questions tant soit peu ridicules; mais pleins de confiance en votre méthode, nous y avons répondu aussi bien que la petite provision de mots et de principes que nous avions alors pouvait nous le permettre.

Nous n'avons pas tardé à nous apercevoir que ces questions étaient calculées pour nous inand to exercise us in conversation, by the contradictory answers we were obliged to make.

We can now almost keep up a conversation in French.

This phrase does not seem to us logically correct.

We should be ungrateful if we allowed such an opportunity to escape without expressing our liveliest gratitude to you.

In all cases, at all events.

The native.

The insurmountable difficulty.

culquer les principes et nous exercer à la conversation par les réponses contradictoires que nous étions forcés d'y faire.

Maintenant nous savons presque soutenir une conversation en français.

Cette phrase ne nous paraît pas logiquement correcte.

Nous serions des ingrats si nous laissions échapper une si belle occasion, sans vous témoigner la reconnaissance la plus vive.

En tout cas.

L'homme né dans le pays.

La difficulté insurmontable.

A T A B L E

OF FORMATION OF ALL THE TENSES IN THE FRENCH VERBS.

Preliminary Obs. This table holds good for the formation of the tenses of regular verbs; but in order to hold good also throughout all the irregular verbs, it is only necessary to know the three persons singular of the present tense of the indicative (Lesson XXIV.), and the present and past participles of the verb (Lessons XXXI. and LVII.). The knowledge of the three persons singular of the indicative may be facilitated by the following rules:

1. If the first person singular ends in e mute, the third has the same ending, and the second ends in es mute.

2. If the first person singular ends in s or x, the second is the same, and the third changes s or x into t; but if the final s of the first and second persons is preceded by c, d, or t, the third person singular is formed by dropping the letter s. Ex. Je vaincs, tu vaincs, il vainc; Je prends, tu prends, il prend; Je mets, tu mets, il met.

3. In all French verbs the imperfect indicative, the present and imperfect subjunctive, and the conditional, have their first and second persons plural terminated in ions and iez (Nous parlions, vous parliez; que nous parlussions, que vous parlassiez; nous parlerions, vous parleriez); whilst all other simple tenses (except the perfect definite, which has a particular form, Lesson LXVIII.), have these persons terminated in ons and ez, except the following: Dire—vous dites¹; être—nous sommes, vous êtes; faire—vous faites.

As to the formation of the present participle, we have, in Lesson LVII., when the pupils have become familiar with the terminations of the present tenses of almost all the irregular verbs, traced it to the first person plural, and mentioned the five exceptions. There remains, therefore, only the past participle to be known, which we have mentioned whenever it presented any irregularity.

¹ The compounds interdire and prédire follow the rule, as: Vous interdisez, vous prédisiez.

Present of the Indicative. (Lesson XXIV.)	A primitive tense.	The first, second, and third persons plural are formed from the present participle by changing ant into ons, ez, ent. Examples. Parlant, Nous parlons. Vous parlez. Ils parlent. Finissant, Nous finissons. Vous finissez. Ils finissent. Recevant, Nous recevons. Vous recevez. Ils reçoivent. Vendant, Nous vendons. Vous vendez. Ils vendent.
Imperfect of the Indicative. (Lesson LIX.)	A derivative tense.	Is formed from the present participle by changing ant, into 1 2 3 1 2 3 ais, ais, ait, ions, iez, aient. Ex. Je parlais. Tu parlais. Il parlait. Nous parlions. Vous parliez. Ils parlaient. Je finissais. Tu finissais. Il finissait. Nous finissions. Vous finissiez, &c. &c.
Preterite Definite. (Lesson LXVIII.)	A primitive tense.	Is formed from the past participle by changing, for the first conjugation, 1 2 3 1 2 3 é into ai, as, a, âmes, âtes, èrent. For the second and fourth conjugations, i and u into is, is, it, îmes, îtes, irent. And for the third conjugation, u into us, us, ut, ûmes, ûtes, urent. Examples. Parlé Je parlai. Tu parlas. Il parla. Nous parlâmes. Vous parlâtes. Ils parlèrent. Fini Je finis. Tu finis. Il finit. Nous finîmes. Vous finîtes. Ils finirent. Vendu Je vendis. Tu vendis. Il vendit. 243.

Will you drink a cup of coffee?—I thank you, I do not like coffee.—Then you will drink a glass of wine?—I have just drunk some.—Let us take a walk.—Willingly (je le veux bien); but where shall we go to?—Come with me into my aunt's garden; we shall there find very agreeable society.—I believe it (je le crois bien); but the question is (c'est à savoir) whether this agreeable society will admit me (voudra de moi).—You are welcome every where.—What ails you (qu'avez-vous), my friend?—How do you like that wine?—I like it very well (excellent); but I have drunk enough of it (suffisamment).—Drink once more (encore un coup).—No, too much is unwholesome (malsain); I know my constitution (le tempérament).—Do not fall. What is the matter with you?—I do not know; but my head is giddy (la tête me tourne); I think I am fainting (tomber en défaillance).—I think so also, for you look almost like a dead person (un mort).—What countryman are you?—I am an Englishman.—You speak French so well that I took you for a Frenchman by birth (Français de nation).—You are jesting.—Pardon me; I do not jest at all. How long have you been in France?—A few days.—In earnest (sérieusement)?—You doubt it, perhaps, because I speak French; I knew it before I came to France.—How did you learn it so well?—I did like the prudent starling.

Tell me, why are you always on bad terms (être toujours en discorde) with your wife? and why do you engage in unprofitable trades (s'occuper de métiers inutiles)? It costs so much trouble (avoir bien de la peine) to get (*obtenir) a situation (un emploi); and you have a good one and neglect it. Do you not think of (songer à) the future?—Now allow me to speak also (à mon tour). All you have just said seems reasonable; but it is not my fault, if I have lost my reputation (la réputation); it is that of my wife: she has sold my finest clothes, my rings (une bague), and my gold watch. I am full of (être chargé de) debts, and I do not know what to do.—I will not excuse (justifier) your wife; but I know that you have also contributed (contribuer) to your ruin (la perte). Women are generally good when they are left so (repeat the adjective).

DIALOGUE.

The Master.—If I were now to ask you such questions as I did in the beginning of our lessons, viz. (telles que): Have you the hat which my brother has? am I hungry? has he the tree of my brother's garden? &c. What would you answer?

The Pupils.—We are obliged (être forcé) to confess that we found these questions at first rather ridiculous; but full of confidence in your method, we answered as well as the small quantity of words and rules we then possessed allowed us. We were, in fact, not long in finding out that these questions were calculated to ground us in the rules, and to exercise us in conversation, by the contradictory answers we were obliged to make. But now that we can almost keep up a conversation in the beautiful language which you teach us, we should answer: It is impossible that we should have the same hat which your brother has, for two persons cannot have one and the same thing. To the second question we should answer, that it is impossible for us to know whether you are hungry or not. As to the last, we should say: that there is more than one tree in a garden; and in asking us whether he has the tree of the garden, the phrase does not seem to us logically correct. At all events we should be ungrateful (ingrat) if we allowed such an opportunity to escape, without expressing (témoigner) our liveliest gratitude to you for the trouble you have taken. In arranging those wise combinations (la combinaison), you have succeeded in grounding us almost imperceptibly (imperceptiblement) in the rules, and exercising us in the conversation, of a language which, taught in any other way, presents to foreigners, and even to natives, almost insurmountable difficulties. (See end of Lesson XXIV.)

EIGHTY-THIRD LESSON.

Quatre-vingt-troisième Leçon.

It lacks (wants) a quarter.

It wants (lacks) a half.

How much does it want?

It does not want much.

It wants but a trifle.

It lacks but an inch of my being as tall as you.

It lacked a great deal of my being as rich as you.

The half.

The third part.

The fourth part.

You think you have returned me all; a great deal is wanting.

† Il s'en faut d'un quart.

† Il s'en faut de la moitié.

Combien s'en faut-il?

Il ne s'en faut pas beaucoup.

Il s'en faut de peu de chose.

Il s'en faut d'un pouce que je sois aussi grand que vous.

Il s'en fallait de beaucoup que je fusse aussi riche que vous.

La moitié.

EXERCISES.

245.

Will you be my guest (manger avec quelqu'un)?—I thank you; a friend of mine has invited me to dinner: he has ordered (faire préparer) my favourite dish (un mets favori).—What is it?—It is a dish of milk (du laitage).—As for me, I do not like milk-meat: there is nothing like (il n'y a rien tel qu') a good piece of roast beef or veal.—What has become of your younger brother?—He has suffered shipwreck (faire naufrage) in going to America.—You must give me an account of that (raconter quelque chose).—Very willingly (volontiers).—Being on the open sea, a great storm arose. The lightning struck the ship and set it on fire. The crew jumped into the sea to save themselves by swimming. My brother knew not what to do, having never learnt to swim. He reflected in vain; he found no means to save his life. He was struck with fright when he saw that the fire was gaining on all sides. He hesitated no longer, and jumped into the sea.—Well (eh bien), what has become of him?—I do not know, having not heard of him yet.—But who told you all that?—My nephew, who was there, and who saved himself.—As you are talking of your nephew (à propos de—) where is he at present?—He is in Italy.—Is it long since you heard of him?—I have received a letter from him to-day.—What does he write to you?—He writes to me that he is going to marry a young woman who brings him (qui lui apporte) a hundred thousand crowns.—Is she handsome?—Handsome as an angel; she is a master-piece of nature. Her physiognomy is mild and full of expression; her eyes are the finest in the (du) world, and her mouth is charming (et sa bouche est mignonne). She is neither too tall nor too short; her shape is slender; all her actions are full of grace, and her manners are engaging.—Her look inspires respect and admiration. She has also a great deal of wit; she speaks several languages, dances uncommonly well, and sings delightfully.—My nephew finds in her (lui trouve) but one defect (un défaut).—And what is that defect?—She is affected (avoir des prétentions).—There is nothing perfect in the world.—How happy you are! you are rich, you have a good wife, pretty children, a fine house, and all you wish.—Not all, my friend.—What do you desire more?—Contentment; for you know that he only is happy who is contented.

EXERCISES.

246.

The Emperor Charles the Fifth (Charles-Quint) being one day out a hunting lost his way in the forest, and having come to a house entered it to refresh himself. There were in it four men, who pretended to sleep. One of them rose, and approaching the Emperor, told him he had dreamt he should take his watch, and took it. Then another rose and said he had dreamt that his surtout fitted him wonderfully, and took it. The third took his purse. At last the fourth came up, and said he hoped he would not take it ill if he searched him, and in doing it perceived around the emperor's neck a small gold chain to which a whistle was attached which he wished to rob him of. But the Emperor said: "My good friend, before depriving me (priver quelqu'un de quel- que chose) of this trinket (le bijou), I must teach you its virtue." Saying this he whistled. His attendants (ses gens), who were seeking him, hastened to the house, and were thunderstruck (frappé d'étonnement) to behold his majesty in such a state. But the emperor seeing himself out of danger (hors de danger), said : "These men (voici des hommes qui) have dreamt all that they liked. I wish in my turn also to dream." And after having mused a few seconds, he said : "I have dreamt that you all four deserve to be hanged:" which was no sooner spoken than executed before the house.

A certain king making one day his entrance into a town at two o'clock in the afternoon (après-midi), the senate sent some deputies (un député) to compliment him. The one who was to speak (porter la parole) began thus : "Alexander the Great, the great Alexander," and stopped short (demeurer court).—The king, who was very hungry (avoir grand' faim) said : "Ah ! my friend, Alexander the Great had dined, and I am (et moi je suis) still fasting." Having said this, he proceeded to (continuer son chemin vers) the hôtel de ville, where a magnificent dinner had been prepared for him.

A good old man, being very ill, sent for his wife, who was still very young, and said to her : "My dear, you see that my last hour is approaching, and that I am compelled to leave you. If, therefore, you wish me to die in peace you must do me a favour (une grâce). You are still young, and will, without doubt, marry again (se remarier): knowing this, I request of you not to wed (*prendre ) M. Louis ; for I confess that I have always been very jealous of him, and am so still. I should, therefore, die in despair (désespéré) if you did not promise me that." The wife answered : "My dear husband (mon cœur), I intreat you, let not this hinder you from dying peaceably ; for I assure you that, if even I wished to wed him I could not do so, being already promised to another."

It was customary with Frederick the Great, whenever a new soldier appeared in his guards, to ask him three questions ; viz.

"How old are you? How long have you been in my service? Are you satisfied with your pay and treatment?" It happened that a young soldier, born in France, who had served in his own country, desired to enlist in the Prussian service. His figure caused him to be immediately accepted; but he was totally ignorant of the German dialect; and his captain giving him notice that the king would question him in that tongue the first time he should see him, cautioned him at the same time to learn by heart the three answers that he was to make to the king. Accordingly he learnt them by the next day; and as soon as he appeared in the ranks Frederick came up to interrogate him: but he happened to begin upon him by the second question, and asked him, "How long have you been in my service?" "Twenty-one years," answered the soldier. The king, struck with his youth, which plainly indicated that he had not borne a musket so long as that, said to him, much astonished, "How old are you?" "One year, an't please your majesty (n'en déplaît à Votre Majesté)." Frederick, more astonished still, cried, "You or I must certainly be bereft of our senses." The soldier, who took this for the third question, replied firmly (avec aplomb), "Both, an't please your majesty."

All is not lost that is delayed.	Ce qui est différé n'est pas perdu.
Charity begins at home.	Charité bien ordonnée commence par soi-même.
Barking dogs seldom bite.	Chien qui aboie ne mord pas.
To kill two birds with one stone.	Faire d'une pierre deux coups.
Strike the iron while it is hot.	Il faut battre le fer quand il est chaud.

Good stomach is the best sauce.
Smooth water runs deep.
It is better to be envied than pitied.

Better late than never.

All's well that ends well.

Ill gotten goods never prosper.

A word to the wise is enough.
Short reckonings make long friends.

Opportunity makes the thief.

No pleasure without pain.

Where nothing is to be had the king loses his right.

Rome was not built in a day.

No money, no pater-noster.

It is one thing to promise, and another to perform.

Do well, and have well.

Nothing venture, nothing have.

Who makes himself a sheep, him the wolf eateth.

All is not gold that glitters

Truth is not to be spoken at all times.

Cat after kind.

An honest man is as good as his word.

One misfortune comes on the neck of another.

A bird in the hand is worth two in the bush.

Il n'est sauce que d'appétit.

Il n'est pire eau que l'eau qui dort.

Il vaut mieux faire envie que pitié.

Mieux vaut tard que jamais.

{ Le fin couronne l'œuvre.

{ Qui veut la fin veut les moyens.

Bien mal acquis ne profite jamais.

Le sage entend à demi-mot.

Les bons comptes font les bons amis.

L'occasion fait le larron.

Nul bien sans peine.

Où il n'y a rien, le roi perd ses droits.

Paris n'a pas été fait dans un jour.

Point d'argent, point de Suisse.

Promettre et tenir sont deux.

Qui fera bien, bien trouvera.

Qui ne hasarde rien n'a rien.

Qui se fait brebis, le loup le mange.

Tout ce qui brille n'est pas or.

parole.

Un malheur ne vient jamais seul.

Un tiens vaut mieux que deux tu l'auras.

It is the finest country in Europe.

C'est le plus beau pays *de l'*Europe.

Obs. B. When a relative superlative is to be expressed, the English preposition in is rendered into French by the genitive case. Ex.

Candia is one of the most agreeable islands in the Mediterranean.

Candie est une des îles les plus agréables de la Méditerranée.

He lives in his retreat like a real philosopher.		Il vit dans sa retraite en vrai philosophe.
---	--	--

Obs. C. Like is rendered by en when it means equal to. Ex.

You live like a king.		Vous vivez en roi.
He acts like a madman.		Il agit en furieux.
To behave like a blunderbuss.		Se conduire en étourdi.
Who knocks as if he were master where I am ?		Qui frappe en maître où je suis ?

EXERCISES.

248.

A man had two sons, one of whom liked to sleep very late in the morning (la grasse matinée) and the other was very industrious, and always rose very early. The latter (celui-ci) having one day gone out very early found a purse well filled with money. He ran to his brother to inform him (faire part de quelque chose à quelqu'un) of his good luck (la bonne fortune), and said to him : " See, Louis, what is got (gagner) by (à) rising early ?"—" Faith (ma foi) !" answered his brother, " if the person to whom it belongs had not risen earlier than I, he would not have lost it."

A lazy young fellow being asked, what made him lie (rester) in bed so long?—" I am busied (être occupé)," says he, " in hearing counsel every morning. Industry (le travail) advises me to get up ; sloth (la paresse) to lie still ; and so they give me twenty reasons pro and con (pour et contre). It is my part (c'est à moi) to hear what is said on both sides ; and by the time the cause (la cause) is over (entendue) dinner is ready."

It was a beautiful turn given by a great lady, who, being (on raconte un beau trait d'—) asked where her husband was, when he lay concealed (être caché) for having been deeply concerned in a conspiracy (pour avoir trempé dans une conspiration), resolutely (courageusement) answered, she had hid him. This confession (un aveu) drew her before the king, who told her, nothing but her discovering where her lord was concealed could save her from the torture (qu'elle ne pouvait échapper à la torture qu'en découvrant la retraite de son époux). "And will that do (suffire *)?" said the lady. "Yes," says the king, "I give you my word for it." "Then," says she, "I have hid him in my heart, where you will find him." Which surprising answer (cette réponse admirable) charmed her enemies.

249.

Cornelia, the illustrious (illustre) mother of the Gracchi (des Gracques), after the death of her husband, who left her with twelve children, applied herself to (se vouer à) the care of her family, with a wisdom (la sagesse) and prudence that acquired for (acquérir *) her universal esteem (l'estime universelle). Only three out of (d'entre) the twelve lived to years of maturity (l'âge mûr); one daughter, Sempronia, whom she married to the second Scipio Africanus; and two sons, Tiberius and Caius, whom she brought up (élever) with so much care, that, though they were generally acknowledged (savoir généralement) to have been born with the most happy dispositions (la disposition), it was judged that they were still more indebted (être redevable) to education than nature. The answer she gave (faire *) a Campanian lady (une dame de Campanie) concerning them (à leur sujet) is very famous (fameux—se), and includes in it (renfermer) great instruction for ladies and mothers.

That lady, who was very rich, and fond of pomp and show (être passionné pour le faste et l'éclat) having displayed (étaler) her diamonds (le diamant), pearls (la perle), and richest jewels, earnestly desired Cornelia to let her see her jewels also. Cornelia dexterously (adroitement) turned the conversation to another subject to wait the return of her sons, who were gone to the public schools. When they returned and entered their mother's apartment, she said to the Campanian lady, pointing to them (montrer): "These are my jewels, and the only ornaments (la parure) I prize (priser)."

And such ornaments, which are the strength (la force) and support (le soutien) of society, add a brighter lustre (un plus grand lustre) to the fair (la beauté) than all the jewels of the East (de l'Orient).

EIGHTY-SIXTH LESSON.

Quatre-vingt-sixième Leçon.

 RECAPITULATION OF THE RULES OF SYNTAX OR CONSTRUCTION.

1st. The adjectives, beau, fine; vilain, ugly; bon, good; mauvais, bad; méchant, wicked; grand, great; gros, big; petit, little; jeune, young; vieux, old; meilleur, better; moindre, less; and saint, holy; precede the substantive¹; others, particularly those expressing the name of nations, and those denoting colour or shape, follow it. Also when two or more adjectives refer to the same noun, they are usually placed after it². Ex. Un bon enfant, a good child; un méchant garçon, a naughty boy; la langue française, the French language; un chapeau blanc, a white hat; un bas noir, a black stocking; une table ronde, a round table; un roi bon et généreux, a good and generous king; une femme jeune, riche et vertueuse, a young, rich and virtuous woman. (See Obs. C. Less. XXVI.; Obs. B. Less. XXXVIII., and Note 1, Less. XXVI.; and many other examples in the foregoing lessons and exercises).

2nd. The adverb usually stands after the simple tense, and after the auxiliary in a compound tense of the verb. Ex. Je sors plus tard que vous, I go out later than you (Lesson XXX.). Allez-vous quelquefois au bal? Do you sometimes go to the ball? J'y vais quelquefois, I do go thither sometimes. (Lesson XXXII.) Votre sœur parle bien, your sister speaks well. Elle a bien parlé, she has spoken well. Votre frère a-t-il bien écrit son thème? Did your brother write his exercise well? Il l'a bien écrit, he did write it well. (Lesson XXXV.) Je n'ai jamais fait de mal à personne, I have never done harm to any body. (Lesson XLIV.) And numerous other examples in the preceding lessons.

¹ The adjective, cher, dear, also stands before the noun, except when it denotes the price of a thing. Ex. Mon cher ami, my dear friend; ma chère sœur, my dear sister; but un fusil cher, a dear gun; une table chère, a dear table.

² The following particularities with respect to the place of the adjective, must be remarked: Un grand homme means a great man, and un homme grand, a tall man; une grosse femme, a fat woman, and une femme grosse, a woman with child; une sage-femme, a midwife; and une femme sage, a wise or modest woman; un galant homme, a man of honour, and un homme galant, a courtier.

Obs. A. In French the adverb is never put between the nominative and the verb, as it is in English. Ex. Je le vois souvent, I often see him. Je lui parle souvent, I often speak to him or her. Il n'a jamais eu tort ni raison, he never has been either right or wrong. And numerous other examples in the preceding lessons and exercises.

3rd. The prepositions always stand before the word which they govern, and never after, as is sometimes the case in English. Ex. De quoi avez-vous besoin? What are you in want of? (Lesson XXIII.) 'A qui écrivez-vous? Whom are you writing to? (Lesson XXIX.) De qui parlez-vous? Whom do you speak of? De quoi parlent-ils? What are they speaking of? (Lesson XLI.) De qui avons-nous été blâmés? Whom have we been blamed by? (Lesson XLIX.) And numerous other examples in the foregoing lessons and exercises.

4th. A sentence is (a) either affirmative, (b) or interrogative, (c) or negative, (d) or it is both interrogative and negative.

(a) In an affirmative sentence the nominative precedes the verb. Ex. L'homme a le crayon, the man has the pencil. (Lesson VII.) Il a le coffre, he has the trunk. (Lesson VII.) Ces enfants sont aimés parcequ'ils sont studieux et sages, these children are loved because they are studious and good. (Lesson XLII.) Nos enfants ont été loués et récompensés parcequ'ils ont été sages et assidus, our children have been praised and rewarded because they have been good and studious. (Lesson XLIX.) And numerous other examples in the preceding lessons and exercises.

(b) In an interrogative sentence two things are to be considered, viz.
 1. If the nominative is a personal pronoun, or the indefinite pronoun on, it follows the simple tense, and stands after the auxiliary in a compound tense of the verb. Ex. Savez-vous écrire? Do you know how to write? Sait-il lire? Does he know how to read? (Lesson XXVII.) Entendez-vous le bruit du vent? Do you hear the roaring of the wind? (Lesson XXXV.) A-t-on apporté mes souliers? Have they brought my shoes? A-t-on pu trouver les livres? Have they been able to find the books? Peut-on les trouver à présent? Can they find them now? (Lesson XXXVII.) Est-il enfin arrivé? Has he arrived at last?

(Lesson XLII.) Vient-il enfin? Does he come at last? (Lesson XLII.) Veut-il se chauffer? Does he wish to warm himself? (Lesson XLIII.) And numerous other examples in what precedes.

2. But if the nominative is a substantive, or any other than the just-mentioned pronouns, it precedes the verb, and the personal pronoun (il, elle, ils, elles) follows the verb or its auxiliary. Ex. L'homme a-t-il mes beaux pistolets? Has the man my fine pistols? Le garçon les a-t-il? Has the boy them? Les hommes les ont-ils? Have the men them? (Lesson XI.) Votre père aime-t-il son fils? Does your father love his son? (Lesson XXIV.) Votre père est-il parti? Has your father set out? Vos amis sont-ils partis? Have your friends set out? (Lesson XXXIV.) Le domestique revient-il de bonne heure du magasin? Does the servant return early from the warehouse? (Lesson XXXVI.) Votre sœur est-elle arrivée? Has your sister arrived? Votre mère est-elle venue? Has your mother come? Les femmes sont-elles venues? Have the women come? Quelqu'un est-il venu en mon absence? Has any body called during my absence? Mon chapeau est sur la table; le vôtre est-il sur le banc et celui de ma sœur est-il sur la chaise? My hat is upon the table; is yours upon the bench, and is your sister's upon the chair? (Lesson LVII.) And a great many other examples in the preceding lessons and exercises.

Obs. B. If the personal pronoun be in any other case than the nominative, it precedes the verb in an interrogative sentence the same as in the affirmative sentence. See Rules 6 and 7 hereafter. Ex. L'aimez-vous? Do you love him? Le vendez-vous? Do you sell it? Vous envoie-t-il le billet? Does he send you the note? (Lesson XXIV.) M'écoutez-vous? Do you listen to me? (Lesson XXVI.) Me faites-vous voir votre fusil? Do you show your gun to me? (Lesson XXVII.) M'avez-vous dit le mot? Have you told me the word? Vous a-t-il dit cela? Has he told you that? Lui avez-vous dit cela? Have you told him that? M'appellez-vous? Do you call me? Les avez-vous jetés? Have you thrown them away? (Lesson XXXIII.) Me promettez-vous de venir? Do you promise me to come? (Lesson XXXV.) Vous rend-il votre livre? Does he return you your book? (Lesson XXXIX.) Vous paie-t-il le couteau? Does he pay you for the knife? (Lesson XL.) Vous ai-je fait du mal? Have I hurt you? And a great many other examples in what precedes.

Obs C. When there is an interrogative pronoun in the interrogative sentence it also stands at the head whatever may be its case. Ex. Qui est là? Who is there? Qu'avez-vous fait? What have you done? Quel garçon a acheté ces livres, et à qui en a-t-il fait présent? Which boy has bought those books, and to whom has he given them? 'A qui voulez-vous répondre? To whom do you wish to answer? (Lesson XXI.) 'A qui est ce chapeau? Whose hat is that? (Lesson XXIX.) 'A qui écrivez-vous? To whom do you write? (Lesson XXIX.) De quoi votre oncle se réjouit-il? What does your uncle rejoice at? 'A quelle heure vous êtes-vous couché? At what o'clock did you go to bed? 'A quelle heure s'est-il couché hier? At what o'clock did he go to bed yesterday? (Lesson XLIV.) And numerous other examples in the preceding lessons and exercises.

(c) In a negative sentence ne follows immediately the nominative of the verb; and the other negative words, such as, pas, point, jamais, &c. follow the verb in a simple tense, and its auxiliary in a compound one. Ex. Je ne l'ai pas, I have it not. Vous n'avez rien de bon, you have nothing good. (Lesson VI.) Il ne veut pas y rester, he will not stay there. Il ne va pas, he does not go. Il n'en a pas besoin, he is not in want of it. (Lesson XXIII.) Vous n'y avez jamais été, you have never been there. (Lesson XXXI.) Je n'ai jamais fait de mal à personne, I have never done harm to any one. (Lesson XLIV.) Il ne peut pas vous donner de pain, car il n'en a pas, he cannot give you any bread, for he has none. (Lesson XLIV.) Je ne les ai pas connus, I have not been acquainted with them. (Lesson XXXIII.) Je ne le crois pas, I do not believe him. (Lesson XLIV.) Je n'ai rien jeté, I have thrown away nothing. (Lesson XLIX.) Il n'a rien laissé tomber, he has not dropt any thing. Je ne me les suis pas rappelés, I have not recollected them. Je ne me suis pas sauvé, I did not run away. (Lesson LI.) And numerous other examples in the foregoing lessons and exercises.

Obs. D. If the verb is in the infinitive both negations precede it. Ex. Il m'aime trop pour ne pas le faire, he is too fond of me not to do it. Il faut être peu sensé pour ne pas voir cela, one must be a fool not to perceive that. (Lesson LXXII.) And numerous other examples in the foregoing lessons and exercises.

(d) If the sentence is both interrogative and negative its construction is exactly the same as when it is interrogative, only the negative ne stands at the head of the sentence, and the other negative words follow the verb in a simple tense, and its auxiliary in a compound one. Ex. Ne savez-vous pas écrire? Do you not know how to write? Ne sait-il pas lire? Does he not know how to read? N'entendez-vous pas le bruit du vent? Do you not hear the roaring of the wind? &c. &c. Ne pourriez-vous pas me dire quel est le chemin le plus court pour arriver à la porte de la ville? Could you not tell me which is the nearest way to the city-gate? (Lesson LXXII.) And numerous other examples in this work.

5th. The personal pronouns stand immediately after the verb by which they are governed when it is in the imperative without a negation¹. Ex. Donnez-le-moi, give it me. Envoyez-le-lui, send it to him. Empruntez-le-lui, borrow it of (or from) him. (Lesson LXX.)

6th. But when the verb is not in the imperative, or when it is in the negative imperative, or any other mood or tense, the pronouns which are governed by it are put immediately before it in a simple tense, and immediately before the auxiliary in a compound one. Ex. Je vous l'ai dit, I have told it you. Il me l'a dit, he has told it me. Je le lui ai dit, I have told it him. Vous le lui avez dit, you have told it him. Il le lui a dit, he has told it him. (Lesson XXIV. A, Lesson XXXII., and Lesson XXXIII.) Je vous le promets, I do promise you. (Lesson XXXV.) Je les lui paie, I pay him for them. Je vous le demande, I ask you for it. (Lesson XL.) Ne le lui dites pas, do not tell him. Ne le leur rendez pas, do not return it to them. (Lesson LXX.) Il se le rappelle, he does recollect it. Je me les rappelle, I do recollect them. Il se les est rappelés, he has recollected them. Nous nous les sommes rappelés, we have recollected them. Il se les sont rappelés, they have recollected them. (Lesson LI.) Il vous l'enverra, s'il l'a fini, he will send it you, if he has done with it. Je le lui porte, I carry it to him. (Lesson LVIII.) And numerous other examples in the foregoing lessons and exercises.

7th. According to Rule 6, when two or more pronouns are governed by the verb, they stand before it in the order presented (Lesson XX., which see). As to the words y and en, they always precede the verb, but the personal pronouns stand before them, and y always stands before en, as may be seen in Lesson XIX. Obs. Ex. Je le leur ai dit, I have told it them. (Lesson XXXIII.) Je veux le lui envoyer, I will send it to him. Je veux vous en donner, I am willing to give you some.

¹ As to the third person of the imperative, it cannot be considered as an exception to this rule, as it is in fact nothing but the present of the subjunctive with a verb, such as : je veux, je souhaite, je consens, il faut, understood, the conjunction que at the head of a sentence generally marking order, wish, or consent. Therefore, when we say (Lesson LXXXII.), qu'il me l'envoie, let him send it me ; qu'il le croie, he may believe it ; qu'elle le dise, let her say so ; qu'il le prenne, let him take it, it is as much as if we said : je veux, je souhaite, il faut, je consens, qu'il me l'envoie, qu'il le croie, qu'elle le dise, &c.

Je veux lui en prêter, I will lend some to him. (Lesson XX.) Je veux l'y envoyer, I will send him to him, or thither. (Lesson XIX.) Je les y ai conduits, I have conducted them thither. (Lesson XXXIV.) Je vous le remettrai demain, I will give it you to-morrow. Ne lui en épargnez pas la peine, do not save him the trouble. Il vous les enverra, he will send them you. Il y en enverra, he will send some thither. (Lesson XLVI.) And a good many other examples in the foregoing lessons and exercises.

EXERCISES.

250.

POLITENESS.

When the Earl of Stair was at the court of Louis XIV., his manners, address, and conversation, gained much on the esteem and friendship of that monarch. One day, in a circle of his courtiers, talking of the advantage of good breeding and easy manners, the king offered to lay a wager he would name an English nobleman that should excel in those particulars any Frenchman of his court. The wager was jocularly accepted, and his majesty was to choose his own time and place for the experiment.

To avoid suspicion, the king let the subject drop for some months, till the courtiers thought he had forgotten it; he then chose the following stratagem: he appointed Lord Stair, and two of the most polished noblemen of his court to take an airing with him after the breaking up of the levee; the king accordingly came down the great staircase at Versailles, attended by those three lords, and coming up to the side of the coach, instead of going in first, as usual, he pointed to the French lords to enter; they, unaccustomed to the ceremony, shrunk back, and submissively declined the honour; he then pointed to Lord Stair, who made his bow, and instantly sprang into the coach: the king and the French lords followed.

When they were seated, the king exclaimed, "Well, gentlemen, I believe you will acknowledge I have won my wager." "How so, sire?" "Why," continued the king, "when I desired you both to go into the coach, you declined it: but this polite foreigner (pointing to Lord Stair) no sooner received the commands of a king, though not his sovereign, than he instantly obeyed." The courtiers hung down their heads in confusion, and acknowledged the justice of his majesty's claim.

251.

MILDNESS.

The mildness of Sir Isaac Newton's temper through the course of his life commanded admiration from all who knew him ; but in no one instance perhaps more than the following. Sir Isaac had a favourite little dog, which he called Diamond ; and being one day called out of his study into the next room, Diamond was left behind. When Sir Isaac returned, having been absent but a few minutes, he had the mortification to find that Diamond, having thrown down a lighted candle among some papers, the nearly finished labour of many years was in flames, and almost consumed to ashes. This loss, as Sir Isaac Newton was then very far advanced in years, was irretrievable ; yet, without once striking the dog, he only rebuked him with this exclamation : " O ! Diamond ! Diamond ! thou little knowest the mischief thou hast done."

Zeuxis entered into a contest of art with Parrhasius. The former painted grapes so truly, that birds came and pecked at them. The latter delineated a curtain so exactly, that Zeuxis coming in, said, " Take away the curtain that we may see this piece." And finding his error, said, " Parrhasius, thou hast conquered : I only deceived birds, thou an artist."

Zeuxis painted a boy carrying grapes ; the birds came again and pecked. Some applauding, Zeuxis flew to the picture in a passion, saying, " My boy must be very ill painted !"

The inhabitants of a great town offered to Marshal de Turenne one hundred thousand crowns upon condition he should take another road, and not march his troops their way. He answered them, " As your town is not on the road I intend to march, I cannot accept the money you offer me."

A corporal of the life-guards of Frederick the Great, who had a great deal of vanity, but at the same time was a brave fellow, wore a watch-chain, to which he affixed a musket-bullet instead of a watch, which he was unable to buy. The king, being inclined one day to rally him, said, "Apropos, corporal, you must have been very frugal to buy a watch : it is six o'clock by mine ; tell me what it is by yours ?" The soldier, who guessed the king's intention, instantly drew out the bullet from his fob, and said, "My watch neither marks five nor six o'clock ; but it tells me every moment, that it is my duty to die for your majesty." "Here, my friend," said the king, quite affected, "take this watch, that you may be able to tell the hour also." And he gave him his watch, which was adorned with brilliants.

THE HISTORY OF JOHN AND MARY (Jean et Marie).

There was a merchant who went to India with his wife. He made there a large fortune, and at the end of a few years he re-embarked for France, which was his native country. He had a son and a daughter. The former aged four was called John, and the latter, who was only three, was called Mary. When they had proceeded about half way, a violent storm came on, and the pilot said they were in great danger, because the wind drove (pousser) towards some islands, against which the wreck was unavoidable. The poor merchant having heard this, took a large plank, and firmly fastened on it his wife and both his children ; he was going to fasten himself to it, but had not time ; for the vessel having struck against a rock (toucher contre un rocher), split (s'ouvrit), and all the crew (et tous ceux qui étaient dedans) fell into the sea. The plank, on which were the woman and the children, was carried by the water like a small boat (se soutint sur la mer comme un petit bateau), and the wind sent it towards an island. The woman then undid (détacher) the cords, and advanced in the island with her children.

On finding herself in a place of safety her first act (la première chose qu'elle fit) was to throw herself on her knees, and thank God for her preservation (de l'avoir sauvée). She was sadly grieved to have lost her husband. She also thought that she and her children would die of hunger on this island, or be devoured by wild beasts. She proceeded for some time full of these melancholy thoughts, and perceived some trees loaded with fruit; she took a stick, and knocked down (faire tomber) some of it, which she gave to her children, and ate some herself. She went on further to see if she could not discover some cottage, but she was sadly disappointed when she discovered (*reconnaître) that she was on a desert island. She found on her way a large hollow tree (un grand arbre qui était creux), and resolved to pass the night in it. She slept (coucher) in it with her children, and proceeded the next day into the island as far as they could walk. She found also on her way some birds' nests (des nids d'oiseaux), from which she took the eggs. Seeing that she found neither man nor beast, she resolved to submit to the will of God, and to do all in her power (faire son possible) to bring her children up well. She had in her pocket a New Testament (un évangile) and a prayer-book (un livre de prière). She used them to teach her children to read, and to know God (et pour leur enseigner à connaître le bon Dieu). One day the little boy said to her: "Mother, where is my father?" "My poor child," answered this poor woman with tears (en pleurant), "your father is gone to heaven; but you have another father who is God (le bon Dieu). He is here, though you do not see him. It is he who sends us fruit and eggs; and he will take care of us so long as (tant que) we love him with all our heart, and serve him." When these little children were able to read, they read with great pleasure what was contained in their books, and talked about it all day. Besides, they were very good and obedient to their mother.

At the end (au bout) of two years this poor woman fell ill, and she felt her death was near (approcher): she was very uneasy about (pour) her poor children; but at last she thought that God, who is so good, would take care of them. She was lying in the hollow of the tree, and having called her children, she said to them: "My dear children, I am going to die, and you will soon be motherless (n'avoir plus de mère). Remember, however, that you will not be alone, and that God sees all you do. Never, miss (manquer) praying to him night and morning. My dear John, take great care of your sister ; do not scold her ; never beat her : you are bigger and stronger than she ; you will go and seek fruit and eggs for her." She also wished to say a few words (quelque chose) to Mary, but she had not time, and died.

These poor children did not understand what their mother meant (vouloir dire), for they did not know what death was (ce que c'était que de mourir). When she was dead, they thought that she was asleep, and they feared to make a noise, lest they should wake her. John went to fetch some fruit, and having supped, they lay down by the side of the tree, and both fell asleep (*s'endormir). They were much astonished the next morning to find that their mother was yet asleep, and went to pull her by the arm to wake her. As they perceived that she did not answer, they thought they had offended her, and began to cry (se mettre à pleurer), begging her pardon, and promised to be very good. It was in vain (ils eurent beau faire) ; the poor woman could answer no more. They remained there several days until the body began to be corrupted (se décomposer). Mary exclaimed one morning to John (Marie se mit à jeter de grands cris, et dit à Jean) : " Ah, my brother, the worms are eating our poor mamma ; we must get them away (arracher) ; come and help me." John approached, but the body smelt so bad, that they could not remain there, and they were obliged (être contraint) to seek another tree to sleep in.

These two children never missed praying to God ; they read their books so often that they knew them by heart. When they had read they would walk, or else (ou bien) they sat down on the grass and talked (et causaient entr'eux). One day John said to his sister : " I remember, when I was very little, to have been in a place where there were many houses and many men ; my father had many servants ; we had also many nice frocks (de beaux habits). All at once papa put us in a house that went on the water, and then, on a sudden, he fastened us on to a plank (attacher à une planche), and has gone to the bottom (le fond) of the sea, whence he has not returned ; and our dear mother says he is now in heaven." " It is very strange (singulier)," answered Mary ; " but since it has happened, it is because it was the will of God ; for you know, brother (mon frère), that he is almighty (tout-puissant)."

John and Mary remained eleven years on this island. One day that they were sitting on the shore (au bord de la mer), they saw a boat with several black men come up to them. Mary was at first frightened, and wanted to run away ; but John said to her, " Let us remain, sister (ma sœur), do you not know that God our father (que notre père le bon Dieu) is here, and that he will prevent these men from hurting us ?" These blacks having landed (descendre à terre), were surprised to see these children, who were of a different colour to them (d'une autre couleur qu'eux). They surrounded them, and spoke to them : it was in vain, for these children did not understand their language. John took these savages to the place where his mother's bones were, and told them how she had died ; but they did not understand him either. The blacks at last showed them their little boat, and made signs to them to enter. " I dare not," said Mary, " these people frighten me." Her brother comforted (rassurer) her.

They therefore entered the boat, which led them to an island that was not far from thence, and whose inhabitants were savages. All these savages received them very well : their king could not take his eyes off (ne pouvait se laisser de regarder) Mary ; and he often put his hand to his heart, to show that he loved her. Mary and John soon learnt the language of these savages, and became acquainted with all that they were doing. John soon found that they made war on people who lived in the neighbouring islands, that they ate their prisoners, and that they worshipped (adorer) a great ugly monkey (le singe), that had several savages to attend on him (pour le servir), so that the two children were sorry to have come to live with these wicked people. However, the king was determined on marrying (voulait absolument épouser) Mary, who said to her brother : " I would rather die than be the wife of that man." " Is it because he is so ugly that you would not marry him ?" said John. " No, brother," said she, " it is because he is wicked : do you not perceive that he is unacquainted with God our Father ; and that, instead of praying to him, he kneels (se mettre à genoux) before that horrid monkey ? Besides, our book tells us that we must forgive our enemies, and do good to them ; and you see that, instead of that, this wicked man has his prisoners put to death (faire mourir) and eats them."

"A thought has struck me (il me vient une pensée)," said John ; "if we were to kill that horrid monkey, they would soon perceive that it is no God. Let us poison it." Mary agreed to it, and the monkey died. The savages who took care of it, and who were as its priests, told the king that Mary and her brother were the cause of the misfortune that had occurred, and that he could not be happy until these two whites were killed. It was immediately decided that a sacrifice should be made to the new monkey that had just been substituted for the last, that the two whites should be present, and that they should afterwards be burned alive (brûler quelqu'un tout vif). John having heard this resolution, said to them : "If your monkey had been a God, I could never have killed him ; have I not been stronger than he ? We must worship the great God, the Creator of heaven and earth, and not such an ugly beast." This speech irritated all the savages ; they fastened John and his sister to two trees, and were prepared to burn them, when intelligence came (lorsqu'on leur apprit) that a great number of their enemies had just landed (aborder) on the island. They ran to meet them (pour les combattre), and were defeated (être vaincu). The savages who remained the conquerors took off the chains of the two whites, and conveyed (emmener) them to their own island, where they became the slaves of the king.

These new savages, however, were often at war like their neighbours, and ate their prisoners. They one day took a great number ; for they were very powerful. Amongst the captives was a white man ; and as he was very thin (fort maigre), the savages determined on fattening him up (de l'engraisser) before they ate him. They chained him up in a hut, and commissioned Mary to take him his food (de lui porter à manger). As she knew that he was soon to be eaten she felt great compassion for him (elle en avait grand' pitié), and said, as she sadly gazed on him : "Oh God ! take pity on him !" This white man, who had felt great astonishment on seeing a girl of the same colour as himself, wondered still more (le fut bien davantage) when he heard her speak his own language. "Who taught you to speak French ?" inquired he (lui dit-il). "I do not know the name of the language I speak," answered she ; "it is my mother's language, and she it was who taught it me. We have also two books in which we read every day." "My God!" exclaimed this man, as he raised his hands to heaven, "and can it be possible (serait-il possible)? But, my child, could you show me the books of which you speak?" "I have them not," said she, "but I will fetch my brother, who keeps them, and he will show them you." She went out, as she said this, and soon returned with John, who brought the two books. The white man opened them with emotion, and having read on the first leaf: "This is John Morris' book," he cried, "Ah, my dear children! and do I indeed see you? Come and embrace your father; oh, would to God! you could give me news of your mother!" At these words John and Mary threw themselves into the arms of the white man, and shed tears of joy. At last John said, "My heart tells me you are my father; and yet I know not how that can be, for my mother told me you had fallen into the sea." "I did in truth (effectivement) fall into the sea, when our vessel struck (s'entr'ouvrit)," answered this man; "but having seated myself on a plank, I landed on an island, and I thought you lost." John then told him all he remembered. The white man wept when he heard of the death of his wife. Mary also wept, but it was on another account (pour un autre sujet). "Alas!" cried she, "of what use is it (à quoi sert-il) that we should have found our father, since he is to be killed and eaten in a few days." "We must cut his chains," said John, "and then we will all three escape to the forest." "And what should we do there, my poor children?" said John Morris; "the savages will soon catch (*reprendre) us, or else we shall die of hunger." "Let me alone (laissez-moi faire)," said Mary, "I know an infallible method (le moyen) of saving you."

As she ended these words she went to the king. When she had entered his hut, she threw herself at his feet, and said: "My lord (seigneur), I have a great favour to beg of you; will you promise me to grant it?" "I swear it you," said the king, "for I am satisfied with you." "Well," continued Mary, "you must know that the white man, of whom you have desired me to take care is John's and my father: you have resolved to eat him, and I am come to represent to you, that he is old and thin, and that I am young and fat; so I hope you will be so kind as to eat me instead ; I only ask a week, that I may have the pleasure of seeing him before I die." " Truly," said the king, " you are so good a girl, that I would on no account (que je ne voudrais pas pour toutes choses) put you to death ; you shall live, and your father also. I will even tell you that every year a ship with white men comes here, and we sell them the prisoners we do not eat. This ship will soon arrive, and then I will give you leave (la permission) to go."

Mary thanked the king, and in her heart returned thanks to God, who had inspired him with compassion towards her. She ran to carry these joyful tidings to her father ; and a few days after the vessel of which the black king had spoken, having arrived, she embarked on board with her father and brother. They landed on a large island inhabited by Spaniards. The governor of this island, having heard Mary's history, said to himself: " This girl has not a penny (n'a pas le sou), and is sadly sunburnt (brulée du soleil) ; but she is so good and virtuous that her husband will be a happier man (qu'elle pourra rendre son mari plus heureux) than if she were rich and handsome." He therefore requested Mary's father to give her to him for wife (en mariage) ; and John Morris having consented, the governor married her, and gave one of his relations to John. They lived very happy in this island, admiring the wisdom of Providence, that had only allowed Mary to be a slave, that she might thereby be the means of (que pour lui donner occasion de) saving her father's life.

2. ADAPTED TO THE GERMAN. Written expressly for the English Student. By H. G. OLLENDORFF, Ph. D. In Two Parts. The Parts sold separately.

Part I. contains 105 Progressive Lessons, and 249 Exercises, together with Tables and Index, teaching the Practice of the Language. Price 16s. Cloth lettered.

Part II. contains Lessons and Exercises on the Principles of the Language, and Exercises from the best German Authors, for translation and re-translation, progressively arranged, thus perfecting the Student in the Theory as well as the Practice of the Language. Second Edition. Price 12s.

3. KEYS to both FRENCH and GERMAN SYSTEMS, prepared by the Author. Price 7s. each. Cloth lettered.

4. ADAPTED TO THE ITALIAN. This work has been long in preparation by DR. OLLENDORFF, and is now just ready. 8vo.

5. KEY to ditto, by the Author. 8vo.

It is necessary, for those who desire to avail themselves of the present method, to notice, that these are the only English Editions sanctioned by Mr. Ollendorff, and he deems any other totally inadequate for the purposes of English instruction, and for the elucidation of the method, so strongly recommended by Captain Basil Hall, and other eminent writers.

"After six months' close application, I can venture to pronounce, that by M. Ollendorff's Method alone, so far as I have been able to understand the subject, can this very difficult, but very charming language, be taught without confusion. By it the scholar advances step by step, understands clearly and thoroughly every thing he reads, and as he goes on, he becomes sensible that all he learns he retains, and all that he retains is useful and practically applicable. At the same time, he scarcely knows how he has got hold of it, so slightly marked are the shades of daily progression; and so gentle is the rise, that he feels no unpleasant fatigue on the journey. Of course, the student is called upon to exert no small degree of patient application, and he must consent to devote a considerable portion of his time to this pursuit; but he will have the encouraging conviction, that every particle of effort is well bestowed."—Captain Basil Hall in "Schloss Hainfeld."

FLÜGEL'S COMPLETE DICTIONARY OF THE GERMAN AND ENGLISH LANGUAGES.

ENGLISH-GERMAN, AND GERMAN-ENGLISH.

With great Additions and Improvements, particularly adapting it to the English Student, by C. A. FEILING, German Master at the Royal Military Academy, Woolwich, and the City of London School; A. HEIMANN, Ph. D. University, Berlin, and Professor of German at Winchester College; and an ENGLISH SCHOLAR of eminence.

In Two thick Volumes. Large 8vo. Price 36s. Cloth lettered.

THIRD EDITION.

The following improvements have been made in this the only English Edition:—

Some thousands of New German words, with many phrases, have been added; and more accurate English significations substituted. Numerous indelicate expressions, utterly useless, have been eradicated. The genitive case singular is given; and the idea of rendering the Dictionary of grammatical utility, has also been pursued with the German Verbs. Their regimen is given, and the preposition which should follow them, when it does not exactly correspond with the English idiom. The auxiliaries with which neuter verbs should be used are also pointed out. The arrangement of the several significations, and their distribution into classes, have also been carefully revised and improved, and many other improvements introduced, which will be evident to those hitherto accustomed only to the foreign work.

"The present Dictionary is adapted to English students, and contains many additions to and improvements on the original work. The volumes are very elegantly printed, and, as far as our leisure has enabled us to examine, remarkable for their extreme accuracy."
—Times.

"This is one of the most acceptable benefits that could have been conferred on modern English literature. Even in the present rage for German literature, there was not any dictionary in the languages that could satisfy the want of the student; and although the foreign editions were very copiously introduced, being compiled by foreigners, they were found to be but ill adapted for our use, the choice and meaning of the words being very injudiciously made and imperfectly expressed. The present work, compiled as it is by two Germans long resident in England, and a very elegant English scholar, will greatly facilitate the study of German."—Monthly Magazine.

AN ABRIDGEMENT

OF

FLÜGEL'S COMPLETE DICTIONARY OF THE GERMAN AND ENGLISH LANGUAGES,

For the Use of Schools and Travellers; English-German and German-English. Abridged especially for the English Student, by C. A. FEILING, and JOHN OXENFORD.

12mo. Price 9s. Bound and lettered.

The great success which has attended the publication of the English Edition of Flügel's Dictionary, has induced the Proprietors to undertake the present abridgement of it, which they trust will be found adapted to the wants of the large number of persons who study German chiefly that they may be enabled to travel on the Continent without inconvenience, as well as of younger students, for whom the larger work may be found too expensive.

Though the original Dictionary has been, of course, much abridged to reduce it to the required compass, all words of immediate practical utility have been retained. The plan also of giving the genitive case as well as the plural of all simple German substantives, which is such an advantageous feature in the English "Flügel," has been adopted in this abridgement.

"This is a very neat little volume, compiled from the English Edition of this well-known German and English Dictionary. While a great number of the phrases that appear in the larger work are omitted, all the significations in ordinary use have been retained. It has, with the larger 'Flügel,' the great advantage of giving the genitive case singular of all the simple nouns, as well as the plural."—Times.
